THE GROWING POPULARITY OF THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

In view of the great success of the Farmers' Institute as a means of Education in Ontario, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has endeavored to co-operate with the various local Departments in establishing and improving similar systems in their respective provinces. Trained speakers have been sent to assist in the work in other provinces, and the best available men in these provinces have been pressed into service, not only in their own province, but in others as well. By sending able and observant men from one Province to another in this way we hope to get together a thoroughly capable corps of Institute workers, familiar with the agricultural situation and requirements in all parts of Canada.

Prof. E. J. McMillan of Charlottetown, P. E. I., Supt. of Farmers' Institutes &c., has prepared a sketch of the work already accomplished in Prince Edward Island, which may be of interest and benefit to those interested in agricultural education in other provinces. According to Prof. McMillan:

"The organization of Farmers' Institutes in Prince Edward Island was first undertaken in June 1901. At that time the Hon. Benjamin Rogers, Commissioner of Agriculture, assisted by the writer and two experienced Institute workers supplied by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, held meetings of farmers in the different sections of the province, for the purpose of discussing the advantages of the Institute system. As a result of these meetings the organization of twenty Institutes was completed before the end of the year.

The Farmers' Institute system of Prince Edward Island is twofold in its aims. It seeks to combine the educational features of the Ontario system with the facilities for dealing in live stock afforded by the old Agricultural Societies plan. Each organization is a Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Society combined. A Government grant of $50 is paid annually to each Society, which has at least 50 members enrolled, and collects $40 per year in membership fees. A sum amounting to $1,000 was expended in this way last year. The total membership up to December 31st, 1901, was 1624, and the amount subscribed in fees was $911.50. The receipts of the Institutes from all sources amounted to nearly $2,000. This money was expended in the purchase of pure bred stock and in defraying the expenses of lecturers. Thirty-three meetings, chiefly for purposes of organization were held during the first year. At the beginning of the present year a regular series of Institute meetings was arranged and carried out successfully. Several speakers were employed and various agricultural topics were brought up for discussion, chief among which were, Dairying, Hog raising and Chicken-fattening. As all of these are live industries at present, the interest manifested in the meetings was great. The attendance throughout was good, fully 2,000 people being brought in contact with the lecturers, who were not slow to take advantage of every opportunity to impart lessons of practical value. Already the influence of this public discussion of agricultural questions is shown in an increased interest in everything which makes for the advancement of the calling. The demand for pure bred stock for breeding purposes, which has more than doubled during the past year, may be cited as one instance of a benefit already derived from the Institutes. It may also be shown that an advancement has taken place along other lines. The people realize this and are anxious that more educational meetings should be held."

During the month of July a series of midsummer lectures were given before the Institutes by Prof. H. H. Dean and Mr. D. Drummond, representing the Dominion Department of Agriculture, besides several local speakers. With one or two exceptions where the advertising failed, they were a grand success. The farmers turned out well and manifested a deep interest in the meetings. Twenty-seven Institutes were visited, and an afternoon and evening meeting held at each. The average attendance at the afternoon meetings was between 50 and 60, while in some instances there were over 100 people present. The illustrated lectures on dairy cattle which formed the chief feature of these meetings, were entirely new to our farmers and were very well received. The average attendance at the evening meetings was fully 100. In these too, a marked interest was taken, and free discussion indulged in, until in many instances it was 11 o'clock before the meeting could be brought to a close. Prof. Dean, as was expected, has done excellent work. It seems to me that we were very fortunate in securing his services just at this time, as the dairying business has not been growing much of late, and I feel sure that we may have a revival of the industry wherever he has gone. Mr. Drummond, too, has given excellent satisfaction. The people were very favorably impressed with his work in live stock, and in other lines. We should like to have both gentlemen again. The impressions created by these meetings has been very favorable and I am confident that the Institutes here have been much strengthened as a result. That the close of the present year will witness a considerable growth in the Institute system is already assured. Six new organizations have been completed thus far this year, and it is probable that more will be added before it closes. With an increasing membership and a lively interest manifested in the work by its members, the Farmers' Institute system should soon become a factor in the progress of Agriculture in this province."

ADOPTED A WHOLE ORPHAN ASYLUM.

MICHIGAN FARMER ACQUIRES 22 YOUNGSTERS OF ALL AGES AND SEXES.

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. John Shandrow, of South Haven, have adopted a whole orphan asylum, twenty-two children in all.

The twenty-two children are not all infants. Some of them are bright, rosy-cheeked youngsters already old enough to go to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Shandrow have made more than a competence on their 100-acre fruit farm, and it has been their lifelong regret that children have never been born to them.

To please his wife Shandrow wrote to the Smith Foundling Hospital in Minneapolis, asking them to send him several children for a summer's outing, with the privilege of choosing from them in case they should want to adopt a boy. The Minneapolis institution is a small one and the management promptly forwarded the entire visible supply of children over three years of age, no less than twenty-two boys and girls. They have just decided to adopt all of them, of whom they are excessively fond.

GREAT SALMON RUN.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 6.—Salmon are running on the Fraser River at a rate almost unprecedented in the history of the canneries. The boats are mostly lying at canneries waiting to unload. One fisherman took in 876 yesterday morning, and other boats 600 and 700. The men claim they could have got a thousand if their craft could have been navigated with that weight. The canneries are experiencing trouble in keeping Chinese workmen from going to Puget Sound.

OUTLAW TRACY.

The Story of His Last Fight and its Tragic Sequel.

SPokane, Wash., Aug. 6.—Harry Tracy the notorious outlaw, lies dead at Davenport. Sheriff's posse and others are disputing the ownership of his body.

For two days Tracy has terrorized the occupants of the Eddy ranch in the Lake Creek country. Then five determined citizens of Creston went after him. The posse found over behind a large rock and for a while it looked like a siege. Then Tracy broke for a large boulder on the edge of a small wheat field, and this dash was his undoing, for just as he came to the rock he fell forward, a rifle bullet having broken one leg. He plunged into the wheat and his bloody trail there shows the savage determination of the man, for after receiving the wound he crawled 75 yards on his hands and knees in order to reach a spot where he could pour a merciless fire upon them. But once only was he able to fire from this vantage point. Then, weakened by loss of blood, he tried to staunch his wound, failed, and with his revolver sent a bullet through his brain.

None of the posse was wounded, though all of them had narrow escapes. When they were firing from the cover of their rock they had to lift their heads above the cover, and every time this was done Tracy's rifle rang out and a bullet chipped the rock.

SPokane, Wash., Aug. 6.—After baffling the officers of two states, after a wonderful fight of nearly 400 miles across Oregon and Washington, Tracy was hunted down by four citizens of the little farming town of Creston and a lone deputy sheriff. Sheriff Gardner and posse arrived in time to guard the wheat field through the night, but the work had already been done. The posse that will share the reward was made up as follows: C. A. Straub, deputy sheriff; Dr. E. C. Lanter, Maurice Smith, attorney; J. J. Morrison, railway section foreman, and Frank Eitzenberg.

Those men, armed to the teeth, set out from Creston yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. They were working on the information of a Goldfinch youth who had been forcibly made the companion of the Oregon convict for over 24 hours at the ranch of T. E. Eddy, on Lake Creek, about three miles south from Fellowes station on the Washington Central Railway. The party made all possible haste in getting to the ranch. When within a few hundred yards of the farm they encountered farmer Eddy mowing in one of his fields. While engaging him in conversation they saw a man issuing from the barn door.

"Is that Tracy?" asked one of the party.

"It surely is," replied Eddy.

The party separated Lanter and Smith accompanying Eddy in the direction of the barn, while the other two men swung around to the other side. Two of the hunters stepped behind the barn on a slight eminence, from which they could watch everything that went on, and Eddy continued on up to the door. Tracy came from the barn and began helping his host unhitch the horses. He carried no rifle, although he had his revolvers in place.

The fugitive finally saw the men carrying rifles, and turned sharply to Eddy and said:

"Who are those men?"

"I don't see any men," said Eddy.

Tracy pointed out the two men on the hill. Eddy informed his companion who the men were, and the outlaw made a leap for the barn door. The pursuers stepping a bit closer commanded "Hold up your hands."

The outlaw jumped behind Eddy and first placed the farmer and his horse between himself and his pursuers. He commanded the farmer to lead his horse to the barn and remain under cover, moving toward shelter. When near the stable he broke and dashed inside. He quickly reappeared, rifle in hand, and started on a dead run.

Turning on the two men nearest him the desperado fired two shots, but without his usual luck, neither bullet taking effect. Without waiting for further fighting Tracy made a dash down the valley leading south from the barn and headed for the brush.

In an instant the man hunters were off in pursuit, firing as they ran. Coming to a rock Tracy dodged behind it and resting his gun on the rock began a fusillade. Eight shots in all were fired by the outlaw, not one hitting its mark. Seeing

TOWN TREASURER.

Quebec Municipal Officer Gives Important Evidence

Without Fear, Favor, or Affection. He Speaks Plainly His Honest Sentiments. Adding Some Words of Advice.

WOLFSTOWN, Que., Aug. 11, (Special).—Mr. R. Boulanger, Secretary and Treasurer of this town, is numbered among the most prominent and highly respected citizens of the country.

Time and again he has been honored by appointments to offices of public trust and there is no man in our community who commands the universal respect and esteem of all classes of citizens more than Mr. Boulanger.

Those who know him well are aware that for some time he was very ill and they also know that he was restored to good health, but many of them may not be aware of the means used by Mr. Boulanger in accomplishing the wonderful recovery which he has been fortunate enough to bring about.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him and he has made this fact public in a grateful letter which reads as follows:—

"I desire to say that I was completely cured of Kidney Disease and Urinary Trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was so bad that I was obliged to urinate often, with much pain. They have relieved me of the pain and the results in every way are satisfactory.

"I think it is prudent for every family to keep them and use them."

When a man of Mr. Boulanger's standing puts himself on record so frankly and positively, there can be no doubt but that he has experienced all and more than he states in his letter.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have now permanently established themselves as an infallible remedy for all urinary trouble and the closing words of Mr. Boulanger's letter are an advice which every household should observe.

TRACY'S NERVE.

DAVENPORT, Wash., Aug. 7.—The curious are flocking to Davenport from all directions to view the body of Harry Tracy, the dead outlaw.

The inquest will not be concluded till to-morrow. The body probably will be taken to Spokane, or for burial at the penitentiary.

Tracy's guns may be distributed among the Creston posse. Other relics have already been given away.

A new story of Tracy's wonderful daring has come to light.

Mr. McGregor, the keeper of a livery stable at Wilbur, on viewing Tracy's body positively identified him as a man who came to his stable last Friday night.

He says Tracy had two horses, which he put up for the night. He also left his rifle and a bundle, asking the unsuspecting liveryman to take care of them until morning.

Where he spent the night is not known though it is said he ate at least one meal in a restaurant in the town.

THE MOOSE KILLED OFF THE HORSES.

While the peculiar pacing gait of a moose will not carry him over the ground as rapidly as the deer or caribou, his endurance far surpasses that of either of these animals. For a short spurt or in very deep snow the caribou can easily dismount the moose, and for an all-day's jaunt, where the course is fairly open, the moose has no rival. Many years ago, when Sir Edmund Head was Governor of the Province of New Brunswick, he owned a famed moose that performed remarkable feats of speed and endurance. On one occasion the Governor wagered $2,500 that his moose could travel from Fredericton to St. John over the ice, a distance of eighty-four miles, in faster time than any team of horses in the stud of Lord Hill, of the Fifty-Second Regiment. A sledge was attached to the moose and another to the horses. The river ice was covered with about eight inches of snow. The start was made opposite Government House at 8 o'clock in the morning. In several hours the moose and his driver were in Market Square, St. John. Lord Hill's team was distanced, one of the horses expiring at Gagetown and the other reaching St. John three hours behind the moose.

that he was not succeeding, he bolted for a wheat field close by. At the edge of the field he stumbled, falling on his face and crawled into the grain on his hands and knees.

It was growing dark, and the pursuer not daring to move in closer, decided to surround the place and wait for daylight.

In the meantime Sheriff Gardner with Policemen Stauffer and Gemmerin of Spokane, Jask O'Farrell of Davenport and other reinforcements had arrived on the scene, and they went into camp around the field during the night.

Shortly after Tracy disappeared a shot was heard from the direction of the wheat field. No investigation was made, however, until this morning. As soon as dawn came an entrance was made into the wheat field.

Tracy's dead body was found lying amid the grain with his face turned toward the sky. His left hand thrown over his head held a revolver, which had inflicted the death wound. The thumb of his hand was on the trigger of the pistol. His right hand, thrown across the lower part of his body, firmly grasped the barrel of the famous rifle. Death was inflicted by a revolver held close to his forehead. The top of his head was badly shattered.

Two bullet wounds on the left leg showed the cause of the man's despondency. One shot had broken the leg between the ankle and the knee. The other cut the tibial artery, which of itself was sufficient to cause death.

It is believed that both of these wounds were received after the convict left the shelter of the rock and made his break for the wheat field. The fugitive had taken a strap and buckled it tight around his leg in an attempt to stop the bleeding. Despite the tightly fastened strap, the bleeding continued until he probably realized his hopeless condition and ended the struggle.

He was dressed in blue overalls, a white shirt, and wore no coat or vest. He wore a bicycle cap and a pair of rough shoes. He had one rifle and two revolvers.

SPokane, Wn., Aug. 7.—When the sheriff with the body of Tracy drove through Davenport hundreds of persons crowded about the wagon. By the time the wagon reached Stone's morgue the streets were crowded and from every corner could be heard "Three shouts for Lincoln County." The town was wild. The morgue doors had to be closed and the crowd was asked to stand back. Several persons were allowed to see the body and then trouble began. Every one wanted a relic, and in a short time nothing was left but the body. Some one even picked up the blood-stained handkerchief which had been used by Tracy to keep from bleeding to death. Many locks of the desperado's hair were carried away, and in some places his head had been made bald. His trousers were cut into strips, and before they were divided they were cut into smaller pieces.

Where he spent the night is not known though it is said he ate at least one meal in a restaurant in the town.

NEVER IS TIME more precious than when some member of the family is attacked by colic, dysentery or any bowel trouble. The doctor is distant but if Perry Davis' Painkiller is near all danger is soon ended.

Only a Mask.

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they should be. Now, notwithstanding much outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat nor sleep well. What they need is what tones the nerves, perfects digestion, creates appetite, and makes sleep refreshing, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best served by this great medicine which, as we know, "builds up the whole system."
