A Great Sufferer Cured.

Mr. Benjamin Dillon, of Leeds, Ont., was cured of Muscular Rheumatism by Polson's Nerviline, and says: "I feel my duty is to proclaim Polson's Nerviline as an infallible cure for Rheumatism; it cured me after 30 years suffering, and nothing I know of can equal its penetrating power. Nerviline simply has no equal in quickly relieving and curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica and Lumbago. A trial will convince anyone. Price 25c. Sold by R. O'Leary."

Pain-Killer

(FERRY DAVIS')

From Capt. F. Loye, Police Station No. 5, Montreal: "We frequently use FERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER for pains in the stomach, rheumatism, stiffness, frost bites, chilblains, cramps, and all afflictions which befall men in our position. I have no hesitation in saying that FERRY DAVIS' is the best remedy to have near at hand."

BURIED BY BROWN.

ECCENTRICITIES OF NEW YORK'S MOST NOTED SEXTON.

For Many Years He Ministered to the Aristocracy of the City at Grace Church, and His Name Adorns a Tablet on Its Walls.

It used to be said that a stranger who was visiting New York for the first time and asked his hotel clerk for advice as to what he should do on Sunday morning would find his doubts quickly reduced to the alternative, "Go over to Brooklyn and hear Beecher" or "Go to Grace church and see Brown." No prelate of the Episcopal church was so widely known either in or beyond his New York diocese as this valiant guardian of old Grace, whose income, it was estimated, was greater than that of any man in the cloth and whose power in society was even more feared than that of any bishop.

He received his appointment as sexton from the Rev. Dr. Thomas House Taylor, and, while Dr. Taylor has been long forgotten, Sexton Brown is still almost as much remembered in the great city as Jim Fisk, A. T. Stewart or Charles Delmonico.

Brown would cultivate the acquaintance of head waiters and cooks, securing the latest information as to the social plans of their masters and mistresses, and whenever he learned that a party or a ball was under consideration he would offer his services to deliver the invitations or look after the comfort of the guests or superintend their arrival and departure in their carriages. Beginning in this humble way, it was not long before he gained the good will of distinguished patrons.

His authoritative manner, too, was admirable for such occasions. Indeed the host himself could hardly issue a command to his menials with the suave peremptory emphasis which Brown employed. Such was his deportment and such his trustworthiness that it was said that no one in Grace church could be properly feasted or buried or could even say his prayers without the assistance of Brown, and eventually it became something like a dictum in a large portion of society that nobody could be married in New York in truly first class style unless Brown's presence blessed the bridal party.

Nor did any detail that might be wanting for the personal comfort of the congregation escape his vigilant eye. It was a habit of old Peter Stuyvesant, for example, to keep in his pew a thermometer. As soon as he had taken his seat he would consult it. One winter morning when the temperature was extremely low the furnaces of the church got out of order, and Brown's assistants were able to force through them only enough heat to lessen the chill a little. It occurred to Brown that the condition of the atmosphere would not be conducive to either the piety or the comfort of the aged Stuyvesant. When the old gentleman arrived within the porch of the church, he was shivering with the cold, but without attracting his attention Brown, who knew that the first thing he would do would be to step into his pew and examine the thermometer, slipped in ahead, pressed one of his fat fingers to the little glass bulb and chuckled as he saw the mercury ascend to 72. When Stuyvesant reached the pew, he consulted the thermometer as usual, looked around wonderingly, but evidently concluded that the church must be warm enough and that therefore it must be himself who was cold.

Brown's funeral was marked by much of the pomp and circumstance which he himself had so often provided for the rich and the great. The wits said that it was the first in forty years that had been a perfectly correct performance without his individual guidance. He had died in the little town of Bradford one August night in 1880. There he had been in the habit of taking his summer rest. He had been overcome by the heat while attending a wedding at Bradford, and that summer he complained, probably for the first time in his life, of ill health. One of his orders was that his body should be placed in a casket of polished Spanish cedar.

A more ponderous casket had never been carried up the aisle of Grace church. It was so heavy—its interior being large enough for two ordinary corpses—that the eight Knights Templars who bore it into the church almost staggered with their burden. Upon it lay their cocked hats with waving ostrich plumes. Within the chancel stood four of the clergy, in the pews were the representatives of some of the proudest families of the city, and a long line of men and women filed into the church showing all the signs of sorrow for an old friend and neighbor.

On the left hand side of Grace church as one turns after entering the porch under the bell tower and near where Brown was wont for more than a generation to take his station every Sunday is a shining brass tablet. It was there placed by members of the congregation in token of him who is described upon it as "The Faithful Sexton" and whom they "gladly recall for his fidelity, his generosity and his stainless integrity." It is next to the bas-relief which commemorates the virtues of the illustrious Cadwallader D. Colden, once mayor of New York—what greater posthumous glory would Brown have craved?—and is not less conspicuous than the old tablet on the opposite side which was erected to the memory of Henry Brevoort, whose family was derived in "unbroken descent from the colonists of New Netherlands."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Porto Rico's Mountains.

There are mountains all over Porto Rico, ranging in height from 1,000 to upward of 2,000 feet. They rise in points for the most part, having no flat surface at their tops. They are not covered with forests and are often cultivated to their very tops.

The Apostles' Creed.

The Apostles' Creed is not the creation of any single person. It grew. It is found in practically its present form in writings of the fifth century. The Nicene Creed was formulated A. D. 325.

The Khamsin.

The wind known as the khamsin blows for fifty days in Egypt, beginning with April 29 or 30. The word khamsin is from the Arabic and means fifty.

Length of a French Horn.

If the orchestra French horns were straightened out, they would be seventeen feet long. The convolutions of the horn and the many turns of the trumpet are all the fruit of necessity. They could not be manipulated to produce the tones asked of them if they were not bent and curved.

Austrian Postmen.

In Austria the government gives to the postmen every year one tunic, one pair of cloth trousers, one pair of linen trousers, one waistcoat and a cap, while every second year a coat and blouse are given. Previous military service is considered as postal service, and each year for war counts double.

The Seal's Cry.

The cries of none of the quadrupeds approach more closely that of the human voice than those of seals when lamenting the loss or capture of their young.

Bees and Honey.

It takes 5,000 unloaded bees to make a pound—that is, when the bee leaves its hive in search of honey it weighs only the five-thousandth part of a pound. When it returns, however, from the fields and flowers, freighted with honey, it is three times that heavy.

A Big Soldier.

During our war with Mexico General Taylor's command boasted a soldier of 7 feet 1 1/2 inches in height and one of seventy-four years of age.

Japan.

Japan has been credited with being a warlike nation, but she has been engaged in but three wars in the past thousand years—once when the army of Kublai Khan was repelled, some 700 years ago; then with Korea, 300 years ago, and third and last with China.

Licorice.

The black licorice stick in the drug stores comes mostly from Spain and is made of pure juice mixed with a little starch, which prevents it from melting in warm weather. The word licorice means "sweet root" and is of Greek origin.

The Drumsnail.

The drumsnail is a natural curiosity of the most curious kind. Especially does this strike home when we consider the maxim of the older naturalists, "All fishes are mute."

To Remove a Mole.

To rid oneself of a mole try to remove it by tying around it white silk thread. It is claimed that the mole will drop off in a few days.

Boa Oxus.

Boa Oxus, a city on the Ganges, is said to have been so named because a gigantic serpent 120 cubits long and having a double head was killed at the present site of the town about the year 361 A. D.

Blue Gum Timber.

Some of the "sticks" of blue gum timber brought to Dover, England, from Australia for the national harbor works weigh ten tons each. They range between 100 and 200 feet in length and will not float.

With Constipation

Come a Host of Ills.

To Get Well and Keep Well Regulate the Bowels by Using Dr.

Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

You cannot avoid disease if you neglect to regulate the bowels and allow the liver and kidneys to become torpid, sluggish and inactive. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most valuable family medicine that one can conceive of because they invigorate and regulate the excretory and filtering organs as no other preparation was ever known to do.

Mr. Geo. Benner, Warton, Ont. writes:—"I don't like to have my name put in public print, but I feel it a duty to my fellow-men to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For about four years I was troubled with chronic constipation and weakness of the kidneys. My condition was serious when I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I verily believe that they have saved my life. I am now well and feel like a new man."

More people use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills than any other Canadian medicine. They are popular because they cure when other remedies fail. Ask your neighbor about them. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmansons Bates & Co., Toronto.

Cape Colony will erect a huge statue of Rhodes on a hill adjacent to Cape Town, and the arm of the statue will significantly point north.

Paris consumed 1,750,000 pounds of snails last winter. The best came from Burgundy vineyards, and were sold for from 8 to 9 francs a thousand.

LOSS OF FLESH.

If you find yourself falling below normal weight there is danger. The use of fish oils can temporarily add fat, but will never build up healthy tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food acts through the blood and nervous system and carries new life and energy to every nook and corner of the body. It regulates the various organs of the body, and makes the appetite good, adds healthy flesh, and replaces the tissues wasted by disease. Naturally and gradually this food cure restores color to the cheeks, increases the weight of the body and thoroughly overcomes disease.

The side-wheel steamer City of Pittsburgh, from Cincinnati to Memphis, was burned to the water's edge early on Sunday at Odgen's Landing, near Cairo, Ill. The early reports stated that sixty-five lives were lost and that many were badly burned and otherwise injured, but the list casualties is not definitely determined.
