The Small-pox Scare.

Dr. T. J. Bourque, Chairman of the Board of Health of Kent County, met Dr. E. B. Fisher, Chairman of the Provincial Board of Health, at Notre Dame last Friday to take measures to quarantine the district and prevent the further spread of the disease. They were accompanied by Drs. Landry and LeBlanc. It appears that some time ago Hartley Johnston, son of James Johnston, came home from New York, and in a few days became ill. It was pronounced a case of inflammation of the lungs, from which he soon recovered. The patient was covered with a rash, but nothing was thought of it. Blanch Grady, a young girl, who was at Johnston's for a few days, was taken ill about a week later, and as the same rash appeared her family became alarmed and sent for Dr. King, of Buctouche. In the meantime a boy named Robinson, who is living at Johnston's, contracted the same disease. Dr. Bourque, of Moncton, was again consulted with the result that he notified the Board of Health of three cases of smallpox at Notre Dame. Dr. Landry, of Buctouche, was sent to investigate and declared it to be small pox, and the houses were quarantined.

During the illness of the Johnstons many of the neighbors visited the infected premises. People from St. Anthony and St. Paul were also there and it was found necessary to quarantine a large section of the district. The quarantine district covers about three miles on each side of the river at Notre Dame, about one mile along the road in St. Anthony and two houses in St. Paul and two in Cocagne. It has been deemed safer by the members of the Board to quarantine every person who has had access to the infected premises. The Buctouche and Moncton Railway trains do not now stop at Notre Dame and the cars have been thoroughly fumigated. All mail matter from this district will be thoroughly disinfected before being sent out. It is to be hoped that the people in these districts will aid the members of the Board in their endeavors to stamp out the disease. Dr. D. V. Landry, of Buctouche, has been engaged to attend the patients now down with the disease. It is understood that the disease is of a mild type. Hartley Johnston, who first contracted the disease, is now well. There are five other cases.
