ing to understand that the Backaches, Headaches, Tired. Feelings and weak Spells from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys. DOAM'S

Kidney Pills are the most reliable remedy for any form of kidney complaint. They drive away pains and aches, make women healthy and happy-able to enjoy life to the fullest. Mrs. C. H. Gillespie, 204 Britain Street,

St. John, N.B., says: "I had severe kidney trouble for which I doctored with a number of the best physicians in St. John, but received little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use. Before taking them I could not stoop to tie my shoes, and at times suffered such torture that I could not turn over in bed without assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills have rescued me from this terrible condition, and removed every pain

The investigation of charges made in connection with the Danish West Indies purchase was begun before the special committee at Washington on Tuesday. Mr. Gron explained how the Danish parties opposing a sale of the islands had persuaded him to go to Washington and place the Christmas report before Congress and the public, so that the facts would be known. Mr Gron told in detail of bringing the papers before Gen. Grosvenor, who it was at first seemed quite indignant. Mr. Gron said he spoke of laying the matter before the proper authorities in order that suitable action might be taken. Later Gen, Grosvenor concluded that it would be proper to lay the matter before the secretary of state. This was done, and Mr. Gron said he learned that the State department held that it could take no action and that the authorities in Washington had in no way committed themselves to Christmas

High Pressure Days.

Men and women alike have to work incessantly with brain and hand to hold their own nowadays. Never were the demands of business, the wants of the family, the requirements of society, more numerous. The first effect of the praiseworthy effort to keep up with all these things is commonly seen in a weakned or debilitated condition of the nervous system, which results in dyspersia, defective nutrition of both body and brain, and in extreme cases in complete nervous prostration. It is clearly seen that what is needed is what will sustain the system, give vigor and tone to the nerves, and keep the digestive and assimilative functions healthy and active. From personal knowledge, we can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It acts on all the vital organs, builds up the whole system, and fits men and women for these high-pressure days.

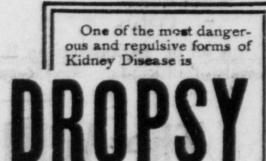

In a cablegram received at the colonial bureau in Berlin, Herr Schlechter, the botanist, declares he has discovered an abundance of rubber and gutta perchatrees in German New Guinea.

The German preserved meat dealers, the strenuous allies of the American packers in opposing the prohibition against introducing meats prepared with borax into Germany, are organizing, in their efforts to influence the German government not to enforce the proposed regulations against such meats, and declare they would work them a great injury.

ORIGINAL JUDGE LYNCH. He Was a Brave and Useful Member of Our Early Society. Tradition sometimes plays strange pranks with dead men's reputations. It would make an interesting half hour for the eavesdropper beyond the Styx

if he could hear the exchange of amenities between Duns Scotus and Judge Lynch, the one a shrewd, clear reasoner, whose name now signifies a fool; the other a simple Quaker gentleman, whose name has come to stand for organized savagery.

Charles Lynch was a man whose services to his country as a brave pioneer and righteous judge, as a soldier and a statesman, are by no means deserving of oblivion, still less of oblojuy. It seems indeed one of the iniquities of fate that his name should now be universally applied to proceedings that no one would condemn more heartily than he. The records of the court of Bedford county, in Virginia, and those of various Quaker meetings, the journals of the Virginia house of burgesses and of the first constitutional convention, taken together with family documents and traditions, show him to have been an upright and useful member of society and a wise and energetic leader at the most important crisis of American history.

Volunteers In South America.

There is a gentleman in Boston whe spent a number of years among the various little South American republics and who gives an interesting account of the methods of one of these small states when it comes to a question of making war. The "navy" of the particular power referred to consists of a single old fashioned side wheel steamer, armed with one gun. In time of peace she is engaged in hauling freight up and down the river which runs close to the capital. At the outbreak of one of the periodical wars not so very long ago the president of the republic took charge of the steamer and started up stream on a recruiting expedition, leaving his senior general in charge of the military preparations at the capital. A couple of days later the steamer returned and some seventy miserable looking natives, each firmly bound with a strong rope, were marched off and turned over to the general, with a note from the president which read:

Dear General-I send you herewith seventy volunteers. Please return the ropes -Boston Herald.

Ber Debelf tell of a fear boat Don't Believe All You Hear. A man in a railway carriage was snoring so loudly that his fellow passengers decided to awake him. One particularly sensitive old gentleman shook up the sleeper with a start.

A PATHETIC APPEAL

The Moving Plea of a Divorced Mn Who Wanted to Wed Again.

The following plea for judicial mersent to us by a correspondent, says Law Notes, will be found brimful of pathos. Ex parte Samuel Rice. To the Hon. H A. Sharpe, Judge of the City Court of Birmingham, in Equity:

Your petitioner, Samuel Rice of Mo bile, Ala., would deferentially represent that on Jan. 10, in the year of grace 1891, your honor dissolved the connubial ties theretofore existing between petitioner and his consort, Annie Rice, granting her a divorce a vinculo et matrimonii, with the beatific privilege thereunto annexed of marrying again, a privilege, it goes without saying, she availed herself of with an alacrity of spirit and fastidious levity disdaining pursuit. but on this vital point your honor extended to petitioner only the charity of Petitioner has found in his own expe rience a truthful exemplification of Holy Scripture, "that it is not well for man to be alone," and, seeing an inviting opportunity to superbly ameliorate his forlorn andition by a second nuptial venture, he finds himself circumvallated by an Ossa Pelion obstacle, which your honor alone has power to remove.

His days rapidly verging on the sere and yellow leaf, the fruits and flowers of love all going, the worm, the canker and the grief in sight, with no one to love and none to caress him, petitioner feels an indescribable yearning, longing and heaving to plunge his adventurous prow once more into the vexed waters of the sea of Connubiality. Wherefore other refuge having none and wholly trusting to the tender benignity and sovereign discretion of your honor, petitioner humbly prays that in view of the accompanying fiats of a great cloud of reputable citizens, giving him a phenomenally good name and fair fame, you will have compassion on him and relieve him of the hymeneal disability under which his existence has become a burden by awarding him the like privilege of marrying again, thus granting him a happy issue out of the Red sea of troubles into which pitiless fate has whelmed him. For. comforting as the velvety touch of an angel's palm to the fever racked brow. and soothing as the strains of an æolian harp when swept by the fingers of the night wind, and dear as those ruddy drops that visit these sad hearts of ours, and sweet as sacramental wine to dying hips, it is when life's fitful fever is ebbing to its close to pillow one's aching head on some fond wifely bosom and breathe his life out gently there.

bility of compassing such a measureless benediction, petitioner will pray without ceasing, in accents as loud and earnest as ever issued from celibatarian lips.

SAMUEL RICE, Petitioner.

STRENGTH OF PAPER. The Great Weight Borne by a Cushion of Rice Paper. A party of brokers were talking in the bourse of the tensile strength of paper. A mucilage bottle had been overturned on a sheet of ordinary writing paper and a heavy paperweight had become fastened to the sheet. One of the men picked the paper up and dangled the weight from it. Then, in a spirit of curiosity, he piled other weights on the edge of the one fastened to the sheet to see how much the paper would hold. Forty-two pounds were hung on the slender sheet before it

The experiments attracted the attention of a half dozen or so of men. In the group was an importer of Japanese articles, and he said he had an article made of tissue paper that would bear the weight of any two men who could junip on it, and he wagered lunches for the crowd that they would not break it.

The wager was taken up, and then he drew from his coat potket what seemed to be a bundle of brown paper. It was easily concealed in the palm of his hand, But he placed his lips to a brass nipple and soon the bundle assumed the shape of a large doughnut. Fastening the stopper, Mr. Van Dusen threw the thing on the floor and told his companions to go ahead and jump.

First one man stood on the cushion, for that is what it was, then two men. Next the two men iumped on it, and then three men. The men tried to break the bag with their heels. The importer watched the endeavor to make his cushion collapse for awhile, then said he guessed he had won the bet. This was agreed to, and a new test of the strength of the inflated bag was made. A board was procured and placed over the cushion on a bench. Five men sat on the board, and the bag collapsed with a report that sounded through the building like an explosion. An examination of the broken bag showed it to be made of rice paper coated with a paint that resembled roofing fluid. The paper tears easily, and the brokers marveled at Its strength. The weight of the cushion was less than an ounce, and when deflated could be tucked away in a vest

The Owl In History. The owl was in former times generally regarded as an omen of misfortune er death; but as the Egyptians represented Minerva under the form of an owl the Athenians, who were under the care of this goddess, looked upon the appearance of the owl as a favorable omen. It therefore formed upon the ancient coins referred to the symbol of Athens and her foreign possessions. The Chinese and the Tartars have also held the owl in high esteem. The first named used to wear owl's feathers in their caps, and some Tartar tribes still worship idols made like owls.

Quill Pens.

Quill pens are said by some authorities to have been used in the year 553 and by others not until 635. Quills had a long reign, for the steel pen does not seem to have been introduced until 1803. Improvements on the steel pen were made "Exactly. I had boarded a train and by Mr. Gillott of Birmingham, England, in 1822. The gold pen came next.

A CHIEF DISPATCHER.

One Railroad Official Who Has All Work and No Play.

The chief train dispatcher "handles the power," distributes the cars to the various stations, decides what freight trains shall be run and is in immediate charge of the countless details that arise in the operation of trains. The duties of the superintendent and the trainmaster keep them away from the office about half the time, traveling up and down the line, stopping overnight at important stations and terminals. The chief dispatcher is always at headquarters and is the man of | you are simply trifling with life and wastdetails. He is assisted by a "trick dispatcher" for each dispatching district. Like the sentinels at Gibraltar, the three trick dispatchers never leave their post unguarded. It may happen for a few minutes some Sunday night that there is not a train running, "not a wheel a-turnin on the division," as the men say, but there sits the dispatcher, the ever ready representative of the official staff, the incarnation of alert administration. Where business is heavy and the management is progressive there is a night chief also, who thus renders the position of chief dispatcher uninterrupted.

nervous tension is less than that of a the needs of the rich and those in high trick dispatcher, who is "glued to the train wire" his entire tour. In the absence of a night chief the details are looked after by the trick dispatcher, whose work becomes much more responsible. The chief in such a case usually comes down after supper and maps out the night work and sometimes breaks in later with instructions on the train wire, which is "cut in" at his room.

The railroad man is seldom entirely out of touch with his work. The telegraph, Celery Compound, it would soon dispel wakes him in the morning. So trained is his ear that if wanted at night the dispatcher has to "sound" the private call on the wire only a few times to elicit a response from the sleeping chief. On Sundays the chief is on hand most of the day in obedience to the unwritten railroad commandment, "Six days shalt thou labor, and the seventh come down to the office and catch up." In most occupaa dull boy," but in railroading it makes him a bright boy, so stimulating and fascinating is the excitement of the work.

Rise of the Mustache.

The custom of wearing mustaches did not prevail in France until the reign of | DR. RODDICK'S BILL ENDORSED AT OTTA-Louis Philippe, when it became obligatory in the whole French army. In England the mustache was worn by hussars after the peace of 1815, and it was not until the close of the Crimean war that English civilians as well as English soldiers in general wore hair on the lip.

For a long time the mustache was the subject of raillery, even after it was becoming common, and the famous caricaturist, Leech, printed in Punch a picture of two old fashioned women who, when they were spoken to by bearded railway guards, fell on their knees and cried out: "Take all we have, gentlemen, but

His employer engaged a new boy, and as soon as the boy came to the establishment he was instructed in his duties by our friend, who sistant bookkeeper and given a small office by himself. Stone in the Bladder, Incentinence and Pains in the Back-Another Remarkable Cure Effected by Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Wm. Boyne of 19 McGee street, Toronto, says:—"I was attlicted severe-ly with kidney disease, stone in the bladder, incontinence, deposits in the urine, severe pains in the back, and strains over the loins. I was so bad that I had to get up two or three times in the night and could then only make water with great pain. "Though long a sufferer and unable to work, I was confined to my bed for three weeks, and during that time thought I could not possibly endure greater misery. It was then that I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It is with gratitude that I say that they have freed me of all these symptoms, and made me a well man. I would not think of being without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house, and can also recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpen-

They are no experi-ment, but a kidney medicine that has stood the test. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
