20 YEARS OF ITCHING PILES

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. finement. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trou- and attacked their teacher with sticks, ble considers his cure permanent and re- but weae finally quelled. markable on account of the length of time he suffered.

RELICS OF EARLY DAYS.

Rail Fences and Dugout Canoes Survive Civilization's March.

One of the remarkable features of country life in America is the singular persistence of the rail fence and the dugout canoe. No matter how thickly settled a section may become or how long it may have been settled, these two survivors of early settlement linger on as stubbornly as ever. Today in the thickest settled parts of New England and New York the rail fence is met with, while the shad fishermen of the Potomac and James rivers and Chesapeake bay, on the banks of which the first English settlements in America were established, still manufacture and employ the old dugout canoe in making the rounds of their shad nets.

The dugout canoe is the simplest and most primitive water craft known and was used by prehistoric man, both in this country, Europe and Asia. It is made out of a log of wood by trimming the outside down to the proper proportions of a boat and by "digging out" the inside with an adz and by the aid of fire. The Potomac river dugout is today pretty much the same as it was in the days of Powhatan and differs from the general run of dugout canoes in the absence of a curved bow and stern and in having rather high sides, which rise to a summit from either end of the boat, being highest in the middle. where the seat is placed Canny In Second Engagement. For years a young man and young woman had been engaged, and each had economized with a view of having the more to spend when they should marry. Six months ago, however, the engagement was broken, and shortly afterward the young woman became the fiancee of another man. This man she encourages to spend his money lavishly-on her. He has bought her beautiful silver for her toilet table, the latest design and engraved with her initials; a handsome leather traveling bag completely fitted out, rugs, books and other articles to make home comfortable.

"No more economizing for me," says the girl. "If he invests so much in me, we won't be so likely to quarrel, and certainly he will not have the money to spend on another girl," which is the wisdom that rules sentiment in these modern days.

Those Dull Ducks.

I recall Mr. Lowell telling, jocosely, in an after dinner speech in Cambridge how he met an acquaintance (of dubious standing) whose cheerful face and happy demeanor led him to ask the cause of such exuberant felicity.

"Why," said the genial smiler, "I've discovered a way to make my fortune. We all know that the reason for the fine flavor of the wild duck is the wild celery on which it feeds. Now, I propose to feed it to the domestic duck and supply the market."

Some weeks later, on meeting his acquaintance again, Mr. Lowell found him quite depressed and inconsolable. "Why are you looking so unhappy? I thought the last time I saw you that you were on the point of making your fortune with ducks. Wouldn't it work?"

"No," was the reply; "the things won't eat it."

Tartly Answered.

The principal of a certain high school tells a joke on himself with much enjoyment. One day during an examination, when he was visiting the various rooms, he stopped to ask a very bright boy a sum in algebra, and, although the problem was comparatively easy, he could not answer it. The principal remarked with some show of se-

"My boy, you ought to be able to do that. At your age George Washington was a surveyor."

The boy looked him straight in the eye and answered:

"Yes, sir, and at your age he was president of the United States." The conversation dropped at that point.

Men and Apes.

Were it not, as Huxley says, that "the ignorance of the so called educated classes is colossal," there might be need for apology in restatement of the fact that man is not descended from the ape. The relationship between them is lateral, not lineal, both being offshoots of the same stock, but each remaining, of course in very different degrees of development, isolated groups of mammals.-Edward Clodd's "Thomas Henry Huxley."

Punctuate It. Take this sentence, printed nakedly: "It was and I said not of." As it stands it is enough to give the reader vertigo before he grasps its import. Properly stopped and buoyed with commas, it is a perfectly simple and natural sentence, as you will see when you have got the grip of your senses. -London Chronicle.

Winning a Kiss.

Aunt Hannah-I saw that young man kiss you, Jane. How did it come about?

Jane-In the most natural way in the world, auntie. He asked me if I would be offended if he kissed me, and I told him it was impossible for me to say until I knew what it was like.

A Pair of Them.

He-The great trouble with Gabley is that he talks too much. She-That's strange! When he has been with me, he scarcely said a word. He-Oh, he is too much of a gentleman to interrupt.

Each decision you make, however trifling it may be, will influence every decision you will have to make, however important it may be.

A sufferer From Backache

Mr. W. Gilroy, general merchant, Blenheim, Ont., states :- " I am rather enthusiastic in the praise of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and believe I have good reason to be. For several years I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, and had pains in my back almost constantly. I tried a great many remedies, but did not succeed in obtaining more than slight temporary relief.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I did so, with great satisfaction. I had not taken half a box before I began to feel better, and now realize that I have entirely recovered. I often wonder now why people go after new-fangled remedies when this tried and proven medicine is so easily obtained, and so certain to cure." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have an enormous sale because they radically cure serious and chronic disease, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

> WINNIPEG, Man., July 19 .- Crop correspondents report that wheat is heading out in the Morden district, the Mennonite reserve, and in several other parts of southern Manitoba.

Circulars have been issued by the general passenger department of the C. P. R to every station agent in the wheat districts asking for particulars as to the condition of the crops. The agents are also asked to state the number of available laborers in their respective districts and the number it is expected will be required to assist with the harvest. In the harvest season of 1901 the number of harvesters brought from the east was seventeen thousand, but it is expected that fully twenty thousand will be required to assist with this year's crop,

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly on the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of FERROZONE arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healtny and beautiful, ants of the Hibernian patriots banished | ready for work, because you have the trength to do it. No tonic for the brain, lood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Sold by R. O'. who gather around the docks.-London
