RICHIBUCTO, N. B., JULY 10, 1902

THE KING AND CORONA-TION.

Inquiries are being made as to the effect of the Coronation on the king's title and whether in the event of his death before coronation his name would be placed on the list of British sovereigns.
According to the theory of the English constitution the sovereign never dies. Immediately upon the death of the late queen, Edward the seventh became king without any proclamation, coronation or formality whatsoever.
The summoning of the Council and the taking of the required oaths before that body were only steps taken in recognition of the title and in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Settlement requiring from the sovereign certain promises and assurances and a public avowal of his adherence to the Protestant religion.
The coronation is however not in any way necessary to perfect the constitutional title of the king, and had his Majesty succumbed to the attack from which he is now recovering, his name would appear on the list of British kings and the next Edward would be the eighth. It has never been questioned that the official acts of the king since his accession are absolutely valid and need no coronation ceremony to render them legal. Another misapprehension concerning the coronation proceedings is that the much discussed oath against transubstantia-tion must be taken at the coronation. The Bill of Rights provides that this oath may be taken either on the first day of the first parla-ment of a sovereign or at his coronation. The king has already taken this oath and will not require to again take it in the coronation ceremonies.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S
PEACE PROCLAMATION.

A proclamation has been issued by the President of the United States declaring that peace prevails in the Philippines and extending a general amnesty to all native rebels. The proclamation also relieves the general in command from his duties as military governor and makes provision for a civil government for the Islands.
It is not to be inferred from this that the natives are to be given a voice in the government of the country. When Spain ceded Florida to the United States in 1819 a stipulation was inserted in the treaty that the inhabitants should be admitted to the enjoyment of all the privileges, rights and immunities of the citizens of the Republic. In the Treaty of Paris between these two countries in 1898 no such provision was inserted, but on the contrary it was provided that the civil rights and political status of the native inhabitants of the territories ceded by Spain should be determined by Congress. The United States Senate in ratifying the treaty, passed the following resolution:

"That by the ratification of the treaty of peace with Spain it is not intended to incorporate the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands into citizenship of the United States, nor is it intended to permanently annex said islands as an integral part of the territory of the United States, but it is the intention of the United States to establish on said islands a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants of said islands to prepare them for local self-government, and in due time to make such disposition of said islands as will best promote the interests of the citizens of the United States and the inhabitants of said islands."

The civil government bestowed on the islands is very similar to that of the British Crown Colonies. It has been found unsafe to allow the colored race too great a degree of self-government. The experiment was tried in Jamaica and other West Indian Islands some years ago and limited constitutional and representative rights were bestowed on the negroes of these islands. It was found that they were incapable of self-government and the islands were again taken under the direct control of the crown. It is not likely the Americans will make the same mistake in dealing with the inhabitants of their new possessions, notwithstanding the declaration by the Senate that the intention was to prepare them for self-government.

THE DEAF AND DUMB IN QUIRY.

Some time ago the St. John Telegraph made some very serious charges against the managers of the Deaf and Dumb Institute at Fredericton and demanded that an official inquiry be made into the management of that institution. The local government appointed J. H. Barry, barrister of Fredericton, commissioner to hold the investigation. The hearing was begun at Fredericton and after the evidence of the principal witnesses there had been taken, it was removed to St. John where it is now going on behind closed doors. The charges are that the affairs of the institution have not been well administered, that the pupils have been taught little or nothing, that they have been beaten and otherwise harshly treated and that the officials and members of the principal's family have been guilty of immoral conduct with the pupils. This institution receives pupils from all parts of the province and is maintained by private subscriptions supplemented by a grant from the local government. There are several Kent County students in attendance. There appears to be a disposition on the part of the Fredericton newspapers to treat the matter lightly and throw cold water on the investigation. The Telegraph comes in for a great deal of blame for having made the charges and it is claimed that the motive for doing so was to injure an institution located at Fredericton. This claim appears most childish. The charges are of a very grave nature and demand a most thorough investigation.
The institution is a public one receiving public money and assistance, and the people of the province are as deeply interested in it as are the people of Fredericton and will not be satisfied unless a most rigid inquiry is made into the matter. We trust the charges will prove to be unfounded and that Professor Woodbridge and his staff will come through the ordeal without the least suspicion of blame.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

A Positive Cure for Hot Weather All-ments.

In the hot weather the little ones suffer from bowel troubles, are nervous, weak, sleepless and irritable. Their vitality is lower now than at any other season. Prompt action at this time often saves a valuable little life. Baby's Own Tablets is the best medicine in the world for little ones at this time. They speedily relieve, promptly cure, and give sound refreshing sleep. The Tablets should be in every home where there are little ones during the hot weather months. Mrs. P.
Ferguson, 105 Mansfield street, Montreal, says:—"I have found Baby's Own Tablets the best medicine I have ever used for children. My baby was attacked with dysentery and was hot and feverish. I gave him the tablets and they promptly cured him. Before this he had been rather delicate but since using the Tablets he has been much better in every way.
I can sincerely recommend the Tablets to all mothers with ailing children."

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely free from opiates and harmful drugs. Children take them readily, and crushed to a powder they can be given to the youngest infant with perfect safety. They are sold at all drug stores or will be sent post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

LATE LITERARY NEWS.

What makes the happy relation between man and woman, is an eternally interesting question, and a clever discussion of why marriages fail, presented by Raf-ford Pyke in his article "The Woman's Side," is certain to receive the very wide consideration which has been given to that author's previous articles on the discussion of woman versus man. The July Cosmopolitan seems to be almost equally divided in interest between men and women. "An Experiment in Domestic Finance" is another entirely novel article which will appeal to women, while some twenty pages devoted to the "Captains of Industry" will receive the consideration of men in all classes of business. The Cosmopolitan has undertaken to present a series of brief sketches of the men who are leaders in finance, manufactures, and commerce, not prepared in an offhand way, but by writers of the greatest ability who have an exact knowledge of their subjects. The series thus far produced has attracted the widest attention. The industrial changes which have of late been occurring with such rapidity have the widest possible interest for all classes.
The knowledge of these men, their derivation, leading characteristics and weaknesses throws much light upon the news of the day in which their names constantly recur.

While the press has presented an endless number of illustrations of the Mont Pelée disaster, the illustrations in the July Cosmopolitan, printed on fine paper with the most careful art, give a clear idea of just what that disaster means than anything hitherto presented.

A ST. JOHN LADY CROSSES THE ANDES.

Across the continent upon the back of a mule! One can hardly realize in these days of rapid railroad travel what such a journey means, but this remarkable trip was recently accomplished by Miss Elsie Stockton, a daughter of Dr. A. A. Stockton, of St. John. She was a student at the Ladies' College here a few years ago.
During the last few months Miss Stockton has been teaching in a large school in Chili, South America, where, according to the local papers, she has been very successful. A short time ago Miss Stockton, accompanied by a lady friend and a guide, started on a journey across the continent.
The trip was made with mules, upon whose back the young ladies spent the greater part of the time during the day.
It was necessary to cross a high mountain range, so high in fact that travellers frequently bleed at the nose and mouth during the journey. Miss Stockton and her friend stood this ordeal remarkably well, but they fell in with a party, one of whose number had been unconscious for several hours by reason of the atmospheric conditions. The road or trail over the mountains is not unfrequently infested by robbers who way-lay travellers and relieve them of whatever of value they happen to possess. At one point during the trip the mules began to act strangely, and a moment later a rough looking individual appeared in the bushes near the roadside. The guide had noticed him and had drawn his knife ready for action.
The would-be robber probably changed his mind about that time, for he speedily took to the woods and the party was not molested. After visiting friends on the eastern side of the continent Miss Stockton and her friend returned home by water, sailing around Cape Horn.—Sackville Post.
