ST. ANNE.

The forty days' rain which the weather prophets had predicted, and which prediction we believe was verified, has we hope come to an end, as the weather of the last few days has been delightful.

The time has apparently arrived for the return to their old homes (some for a vacation a few we hope to remain) of those of our young people and some of our old ones who have been sojourning in different parts of our great Dominion, and the neighboring republic.

The social life of the community rejoices once more in the presence of one of its most esteemed and respected young ladies, Miss Margaret Cadigan, who has lately returned from a trip to Boston, where she has been visiting relatives.

The parents and friends of Mr. James Grattan who lately shipped as cook in schooner Minnie, Captain Irving, bound for Sydney, were relieved of considerable anxiety by the arrival a few days since of telegram from him dated Charlottetown into which port the schooner was forced to put for shelter from the storm of the night of Thursday, June 26th, by that account Jim is still "on deck."

Mr. John Mooney of St. John is visiting relatives here.

Mr. Frank G. Richard has erected a dwelling on his farm.

The crops of this vicinity look promising and by reports will be up to the average.

The repairing of mowing machines and hay rakes, to say nothing of the fitting up of barns would indicate that hay making is near at hand.

Mr. John Blanchard has returned from Boston where he has been for the last few years. We are not yet aware if John intends making his home with us in the future.

Mr. Simon Richard is doing an extensive business peeling and getting out tan bark, which is to be hauled to and shipped from the port of St. Martin's.

Mr. Clovis M. Richard and wife are daily expected home.

RICHIBUCTO VILLAGE.

The lobster fishing season is getting near its close, and consequently the fishermen are hauling their traps ashore. This fish which had got scarce a few weeks ago is getting better every day, there were boats up to five and six hundred to-day at R. O'Leary's factory at the cape. This increase is probably due to the diminishment of traps under water.

Mr. S. Aizaman and family of Rexton visited the cape on Sunday. They were accompanied by Mr. H. Donnaher.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jaillet and family paid Mr. McOaie a flying visit on Sunday.

PLEASE MR. DRUGGIST give me what I ask for—the one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. I know it is the best thing on earth for summer complaints. So do you. Thank you: There is your money.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Loafin' Time.

Th' trees are whisperin' a tale
Of shade an' 'lzy dreams,
Of loiterin' an' lingerin'
Beside th' singin' streams;
'Tis loafin' time.

Th' woods are makin' love to you;
They're callin' you to jest
Come out from work an' idle there
Upon th' lap of rest;
'Tis loafin' time.
—Whitewood (S. D.) Plaindealer.

Her Heart.

Arthur—Yes, I think Minnie loves me very much. She's a dear girl; she has a large heart.
Harry—A heart like a London omnibus; always room for one more.

Expert Criticism.

"Dis haystack leaks," grumbled Lay-around Lucas as he pulled his hat down farther.
"Yes," replied Tired Timothy, "modern arkitekcher is on de bum."

The Hero.

I longed to be a hero once,
But now that longin'g's o'er;
The hero has to run and hide
Or be assailed from every side
For being such a bore.

Nothing to Be Proud Of.

"Yes," he said, "I am a self made man."
"But, my dear sir," returned the other, "why are you so anxious to reflect on your man making ability?"

If.

Oh, what a pleasant world 'twould be,
How smoothly we'd slip through it,
If all the fools who "mean no harm"
Could manage not to do it!

Did Him Injustice.

Old Lady—I heard you swearing just now. You have a bad heart.
Tramp—You do me injustice, mum. It isn't a bad heart; it's a bad tooth.

The Pingpong Ankle.

The pingpong microbe now comes long
To bulldoze and affright us,
And when he pings our ankles, pong!
We've tendosynovitis.

Sorrows of the Century.

What a frightful grief will be the future billionaire's when he realizes how few days he'll have in this short life in which to spend his wealth!

What?

Tell me, ye winged winds
That round my pathway roar,
What Pierp. will fasten on to next
And leave for us no more?

Evidence of It.

"Is he a real nobleman?"
"Oh, beyond question. If you will notice how stupid he is, you will see that there is no possibility of a mistake."

Man.

He swiftly gulps his coffee down
And bolts a piece of pie.
He gets the indigestion
And says he wonders why.

His Wives.

Visitor—Lady Evelyn tells me, Dan',
that you've had four wives.
Dan' (proudly)—'Ess, zur, I 'ave, an',
what's more, two of 'em was good uns.—Punch.

Rose.

He likened her unto a rose,
And he was truthful, I suppose,
For in the vase we often find
The withered, drooping, faded kind.
—Indianapolis Sun.

After Dinner Tonight.

He—I am afraid if I play pingpong with you much more I shall lose my heart.
She—Yes, it is hard on bric-a-brac.

Consistent.

She was a dapper, horsey girl,
He was a chappie gay,
And when he asked her for her hand
She answered with a neigh.

"HOME NURSING."

We have before us a copy of a new publication, entitled "Home Nursing." The object of the book is to give practical instructions how to take care of the sick by the inexperienced. In training schools for nurses, instructions are of course given in all matters of this kind, but let any woman ask herself, "Could I give a bath to a person in bed without wetting the clothing, or change the under-sheets while the bed was occupied?" and she will smile at the seeming impossibility; yet when she is shown, she will wonder why she did not discover the right way herself.

In this little book practical instructions are given for the performance of all necessary offices pertaining to the sick. The knowledge of any of them is not taken for granted, and the writer has tried to do it in such a plain, simple manner that no one need mistake the easiest way.

A sample copy of this valuable book can be had upon application to the publishers, Davis & Lawrence CO., 64 Grand St., New York City, enclosing to them 5c. in stamps or coin to pay the expense of mailing and stating the name of this paper

For the masses not the classes, BENTLEY'S Liniment is the family medicine chest. Price 10 and 25c.

Dr. J. C. Wilson's HERBINE BITTERS

Blotched, shallow, unwholesome and muddy skin with its consequent mortification, often leading to morbid seclusion, shows that your blood is bad. The only way to clean the complexion and restore it to its normal healthy condition is to clean out the entire system by removing the cause of impure blood. "Herbine Bitters does it", working gently and painlessly and at the same time acting as a tonic to the whole system building it up, not weakening and irritating it as other medicines do.
