

had acted rightly in shutting out the evidence in the Leary investigation. That Wilson and Phinney had made themselves ridiculous in the framing of the bill they introduced. That Mr. Blair had in effect placed the management of this campaign in Kent in his hands. That Mr. Phinney's brother-in-law, Davis had told him all Mr. Phinney's plans, and that he would expose them. That the editor of the Sun had taken him into his confidence and told him that the opposition would elect only 18 members. In fact, all he knew would fill several large volumes. He asserted in the face of the men standing there, who knew the contrary, that Blair had promised Kent would be given a third man only after the census returns were in and the status of Kent in this respect fixed; and that Blair had spent no money buying votes in Kent.

MR. PHINNEY said: He had listened with mingled pleasure and amusement to the extraordinary speech of his young friend. Such a speech he was bound to say, he had never heard from a young man. Such assumptions as were made by Mr. Hutchinson would sound strange on the lips of the most learned judge. His criticisms of the legal opinions of Judge Hanington came with bad grace from a law student who had failed to pass an examination. Judge Hutchinson, the plucked, or fearing to be plucked, student, had severely criticized Judge Hanington. Well, he thought Judge Hanington would survive the shock. He was sorry that his own knowledge of law was, like that of Mr. Wilson, so inferior to the attainments of Judge Hutchinson as to only excite his ridicule, but he hoped that when Judge Hutchinson had got knowledge enough to enable him to pass his examination and get a diploma he might change his opinion. Mr. Phinney's reply caused shouts of laughter, and completely squelched the bumptious young student.

To the people of the Parish of Wellington: Mr. Legere's valuation for the Parish of Wellington is $407,000. The Assessors valuation is 354,003. Through Mr. Legere's blunder the Parish is over valued $53,000.

NOMINATION DAY.

When the sheriff adjourned his election court at 2 o'clock on Saturday, and announced the nomination of Phinney and Gogain, Opposition, Leger and Barnes Government—two straight tickets—the people, who had assembled in such a multitude as to render outdoor addresses necessary, were anxious for the speaking to begin.

Mr. Phinney, as his time was limited, jumped at once into a discussion of the public issues now agitating the public mind, and in his usual vigorous style arraigned the government on its record. Departmental extravagance, misuse of the people's money, the purchase of support by bribes and deals, the refusal of investigations on Governmental speculation and fraud, the direct taxation policy, the deplorable state of the finances were all dealt with in a masterly way, each point being driven home with telling effect. The one heavy shot, however, which sank the shattered ship flying the Blair ensign, was when the premier's double-dealing with the electorate of Kent last fall was clearly disclosed.

Men might differ on the Northumberland deal and figures might lie; but everybody knew Andrew G. Blair had broken faith with this county. He promised Kent three representatives before the dissolution; he asked for and received support in the by-election with that clear understanding; and to-day his pledge is disregarded—his promise unfulfilled. A self-respecting people cannot afford to be publicly fooled, and the electors of Kent may be relied on to teach Mr. Blair that they are not to be trifled with. Mr. Phinney spoke just one hour and closed amid the applause of the audience.

Mr. Leger, who has improved considerably in his speaking, followed. His explanation of his vote, last winter, against allowing Kent three representatives, was a dismal failure. He evidently felt it was the strongest count in the indictment which the people have drawn up against him and the government, for he devoted nearly all his speech to a defence of that charge.

Mr. Gogain in a clear, business like way without any attempt at oratory, stated his claims for support. He had been true to his friends, against bribes and seductive promises, and now asked his old friends to be true to him. He showed that he understood the needs of the constituency. Mr. Gogain's speech was modest, intelligible and well delivered, and created a most favorable impression.

Mr. Barnes told the people that he was "rocked in the cradle of loyalty" and had "amassed a fortune in the leather business," that "he was born in Ontario" and would be elected by a thousand majority, and that "North, South, East and West" were dying to have him at Fredericton.

The candidates had all spoken and there were cries for McInerney and Hutchinson. The Hutchinsons the people wanted to hear was Robert Hutchinson, Q. C. Young Thomas Hutchinson, a Moncton law student, jumped on to the rostrum, and for nearly an hour told what he knew about law and politics. He was the bosom friend of the attorney general. He was sent into Kent to manage this campaign for him. Leger and Barnes couldn't answer Phinney, and therefore he was present. He knew it all. They couldn't tell him anything. Such an exhibition of bumptiousness and cheek the electors of Kent need never again expect to witness. He amused himself and the crowd blowing bubbles for about an hour, and then it was time for him to go to bed. He says he is going to Montana, as this country does not offer a sufficient field for his genius.

Mr. Phinney paid his respects to the young spread-eagle gentleman, and made him appear ridiculously funny. He looked as if he would like to be in Moncton or Montana. It was a great day for the opposition. The solid men of the county appeared to be ranged almost entirely against the government. Good, systematic work from now until election and Kent's answer on the 22nd will be, For retrenchment. For economy. For honest government. For Phinney and Gogain. Note the ticket and the straight ticket, Phinney and Gogain.

EXPLAIN.

Perhaps Mr. Legere will explain to the electors of Kent what became of the missing $1000 from the bye-road grant. The annual bye-road appropriation for the county is fixed at $3,996. This year the lists show a grant of $2,992, leaving a balance of $1,004 unaccounted for. Mr. Legere was asked on nomination day to give an explanation of the matter, but he did not attempt to do so. The amount was, no doubt, improperly deducted from the bye-road grant that it might be used for other purposes. In order to carry out some of its promises made when it was trying to buy support for Mr. Legere here last summer, the government has been compelled to use a portion of the bye-road money. If we are not greatly mistaken, the electors of the county will not submit to such an injustice. They will signify their disapproval by returning Phinney and Gogain.

The people of the Parish of Wellington will have to pay $300 annually for the next five years over and above their just proportion of the County taxes through the blunder of Mr. Legere, M. P. P.

The electors of the parish of Wellington will now be able to appreciate the valuable services of Mr. Legere, M. P. P. He is one of the county valuers, and in making up the lists, he made a blunder by which that parish is overvalued to the extent of $53,000, and over-assessed $300. Mr. Legere is evidently a costly luxury to the people of Wellington.

If Mr. Legere cannot make up a county valuation correctly, how can the people of Kent expect to be properly represented by him in the Assembly.

CARD!

To the Electors of the County of Kent: GENTLEMEN:—With the approval and support of a large number of the electors, I am a candidate for the representation of the County in the House of Assembly. I believe that my knowledge of the constituency in all its sections, my residence, and my interest in the welfare of the whole people, qualify me for the important position to which I aspire.

If elected, I shall be prepared on all occasions to favor such legislation as will promote the best interests of the province in general, and the County of Kent in particular.

Respectfully soliciting your votes and support, I am, gentlemen, Your obedient servant, J. B. GOGAIN.

Headache

Usually results from a deranged stomach or a sluggish liver. In either case, an aperient is needed. Ayer's Pills, the mildest and most reliable cathartic in use, correct all irregularities of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and, in a brief time, relieve the most distressing headache. These pills are highly recommended by the profession, and the demand for them is universal.

"I have been afflicted, for years, with headache and indigestion, and though I spent nearly a fortune in medicines, I never found any relief until I began to take Ayer's Pills. Six bottles of these Pills completely cured me."—Benjamin Harper, Plymouth, Montserrat, W. I.

two boxes of Ayer's Pills.—Emma Keyes, Hubbardston, Mass. "For the cure of headache, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the most efficient medicine I ever used."—Robert K. James, Dorchester, Mass. "For years I was subject to constipation and nervous headache, caused by derangement of the liver. After taking various remedies, I have become convinced that Ayer's Pills are the best. They never fail to relieve my bilious attacks in a short time; and I am sure my system retains its tone longer after the use of these Pills, than has been the case with any other medicine I have tried."—H. CARD!

To the Electors of the County of Kent: GENTLEMEN:—At the request of a large number of the electors of the County of Kent, I will be a candidate at the election which must soon be held to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Dr. Legere. The county has, since confederation, been continuously represented by merchants, lawyers, and doctors—professional men—while it seems to me, the farmers, forming a large majority of the electors, should embrace the opportunity which now offers to have their interests—the most important for the welfare of the whole county—represented by one of their number. One of the oldest farmers in Kent, I know what the agricultural interests of the county justly demand, and my twelve years experience in the local legislature, should have made me fairly acquainted with the needs and requirements of all our industries. I have always been a supporter of the government now in power at Ottawa, and, as a Conservative, take my stand on the well known principles of the Conservative party. I am prepared at any time to submit to the choice of a properly organized convention. I am, gentlemen, Your obedient servant, URBAIN JOHNSON, St. Louis, 15th September, 1892.
