

lately deceased Mr John B. Williston, by whose industry and enterprise at an early period in the history of New-Brunswick, a Saw Mill had been erected about 5 miles above his last residence;—not many years however after its erection, a destructive inundation of the Bay du Vin swept it wholly away.—About two miles further up than the spot on which stood the Mill, is a Saw Mill belonging to the highly philanthropic and enterprising House of the Hon. Joseph Cunard & Co.,—besides being a manufacturer of one of the country's principal resources; this Mill will be found of exceeding consequence to facilitate the erection of dwellings, &c., in the extensive, but infant settlement, to which it belongs.

Remote from the principal timber market, the abundant groves on the banks of the Bay du Vin, have continued to wave their lofty tops, when those on nearer streams have been felled and sent to Britain;—to which circumstance may be mainly attributed the prolonged existence of lumbering, and the almost total neglect of Agriculture.—Experience has shewn that throughout these Provinces generally, as Lumbering has decreased, in the same ratio has Agriculture increased;—men cannot be both Lumberers and Farmers, this were to suppose the rough tar fit for the tardy Teemster;—the occupation—and hence the habits and practices of the one is so diametrically opposed to the other, that nature forbids the connexion. On the Bay du Vin Lumbering continues to be prosecuted and Agriculture to be neglected.

But even on Bay du Vin the Timber groves have now become 'few and far between.' Let the Bay du Vinite then throw aside the boat hook, broad axe, and handspike, and take up the implements of Husbandry,—let him wean himself from his wild habits, and learn to love the peace of his own fireside more than the ravings of the debased camp. The Bay and River of Bay du Vin team with fish; every Lot abounds with either Spars, Juniper or Pine;—his own property thus affords winter employment; and the spare time of summer may be prudently and profitably spent in fishing; but all should be made subservient to the interests and duties of the Farm; since to it should he look for a peaceful resting, when his strength and vigour fail, and his evening sun is sinking behind the horizon of time, to rise in bright regions of 'Eternal Day.'

SCHEDIASMA.

MIRAMICHI:
TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 14, 1834.

The last mail furnishes no later intelligence from Europe than we were previously in possession of.

By an arrival at Halifax, Kingston, Jamaica papers to the 6th December have been received. It is highly gratifying to perceive that the report obtained by way of New York, of the dissolution of the House of Assembly of that Island, in consequence of their refusing to comply with the wishes of the Parliament of the Mother County regarding the emancipation of the slaves, had been dissolved, and that the apprehension of a revolt among these unfortunate beings, has turned out a fabrication, no doubt invented to serve the ends of some speculators. The Slave Bill had been passed by the House, and the greatest tranquility prevailed. During the discussion of the bill, His Excellency had dispatched troops to various parts of the island, for the purpose of maintaining order among the slaves.

A severe hurricane had been experienced at Jamaica, which had done much damage in the northern part of the island, and especially in the neighbourhood of St. George's. The injury caused to the plantations in these parts, it is stated, can hardly be estimated. Whole coffee fields and cane pieces had been laid waste, and so severe was the storm, that nothing like it had been witnessed by the inhabitants since the hurricane of 1815. The roads in the neighbourhood of Kingston had also received much damage from the torrents of rain that fell; trees and houses had been laid prostrate, and the rivers had overflowed their banks to such a height, that all communication by post with the neighbouring settlements was interrupted for several days.

Mr. McKenzie, after having been re-elected a Member for York, has been again expelled by the Legislature of Upper Canada. We copy from the Montreal Courier, the following account of the affair:

'In our last we announced in a Postscript which went through about two thirds of our impression, that Mr. W. L. M'KENZIE had been again expelled from the House of Assembly on the 17th inst. by a majority of four. The event seems to have been preceded by some excitement. As soon as Mr. M'K. had been returned, an event which took place without opposition, he proceeded from the hustings to the House of Assembly, accompanied by a crowd of persons. On his entrance, the gallery and space below the bar was crowded, many forgot the respect due to the House and kept on their hats, hisses & other noisy expressions of censure or approbation of the speeches of members were uttered, until the house found itself under the necessity of clearing the galleries. This process, it appears, was strenuously resisted, and occupied the Sergeant at Arms for a considerable time, the Courier says an hour and a half. On his attempting to thrust Mr M'Kenzie from the House, a general cry of 'no, no,' was heard from the crowd outside, and a rush to obtain admittance was made. The Courier says the front door of the Parliament House was smashed by the crowd; this, however, was of no avail, as the Sergeant at Arms and the members betook themselves to barricading the inner door, and thus shut the mob out and Mr M'Kenzie in. After a long debate Mr M'K. was finally ordered, by a majority of four, to retire, and a motion expelling him was carried.'

WE would recommend to the attention of our readers, the proceedings of a Meeting held in Fredericton, which will be found in another page, for the purpose of adopting such measures as will lead to the establishment of a Bank in that town. A Correspondent last week suggested the propriety of adopting similar measures in this County, and pointed out the benefits which would result from such an institution among us. It is a subject fraught with much public utility, and well deserving the attention of the inhabitants generally.

SHIP NEWS.

Port of St. John.—Ard. Dec. 31—ship John Bently, Philadelphia; brig Ebenezer, do. Cleared—ships Pons Aëlii, Cork; Pacific, Liverpool; brig Charity, Kinsale.

The new brig Susan, of this port, which sailed hence on the 11th Dec. for Philadelphia, shipped a heavy sea in the gale of the 17th, off Burnegat, and became a total wreck; two of the crew were drowned. The survivors were taken off the wreck by the brig Monument, and carried into New York.

The mate of the Am. brig Owhyhee, ashore at Chatham, (Cape Cod), states, that the brig Euphemia, from St. John, N.B. for Waterford (Ire.) lumber loaded, went ashore on the outer bar, and went to pieces. Three of the crew were drowned, and another had his thigh broken.

Saint Andrews, Dec. 24.—Ard. brig Woodbine, Trinidad. The Woodbine encountered a series of tremendous gales, and having become short of water and provisions, determined to run for the nearest land. Next morning, 10th inst. they descried a vessel, stood for her, and in a short time discovered that she was on her beam ends, with her masts cut away, and signals of distress hoisted. The sea ran so high that they could not board her, but lay to all day in hopes to render whatever assistance their own distressed state would permit. They saw the brig hoist out her long boat as a last resort, and they saw it stove into a thousand pieces as soon as launched. In the evening it moderated a little, and at great hazard they brought the captain and eight hands all safe on board the Woodbine—the only relief they procured was two bags of wet bread and a few pieces of beef. The vessel proved to be the brig Hope, Capt. Thos Carrick, owned by Messrs Benson and Hunter, of London.

HALIFAX, Jan. 8.—The brig Cordelia, from Boston to this port, we regret to state, is on shore upon Thrump-cup Shoal, and it is feared, will be totally wrecked.

THE ATLAS MAGAZINE.—The Subscribers purpose to publish, on the 1st day of January next, the first number of a Magazine under this title, which will be punctually issued on the 1st and 15th of every month. The work will contain the choicest gems of Literature, selected with the utmost care from the best literary journals both of Europe and America. For the peculiarly unique design and plan of this work, the subscribers are indebted to the former proprietors of the Atlas, who were intending to issue the paper on the 1st January, on a somewhat similar plan.

The Atlas Magazine will be published on fine type and beautiful paper, in the admired and exceedingly popular form of the London periodicals, expressly for binding; and will comprise a greater quantity and variety of Literary Miscellanies than any publication of this class ever issued in America.

In addition to 16 quarto pages, will be presented with each number a superb copper-plate engraving; a copious index and handsome title-page will also be supplied at the close of the volume, which will render it not less adapted to the library than to current use.

The terms are unusually low—being fixed at three dollars per annum, in advance, or four dollars out of the United States, always in advance.
