

deep water, the useful object of their labors during the winter.

NORTH AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.—To the attention of R. Carter, Esq. Secretary for this Institution, we are indebted for a copy of the Fourth Annual Report of the Committee for managing the affairs of that Institution, to a General Meeting of the Association held in London on January last; as well as for a copy of a Report of the Ship Owners Society. We have given place to-day to a portion of the first named document, and shall conclude the same in our next. It is highly gratifying to perceive so large and so respectable a body in the mother country, taking such a lively interest in the affairs of the Colonies, and remonstrating with those in power, when they threaten any measure prejudicial to our trade, or in any way calculated to impede our improvement. For such patriotic and disinterested conduct, the people of the Colonies cannot be too grateful.

DALHOUSIE—We have received a letter this morning from our Correspondent at this port, dated April 25, which states; that "the ice breaking up has prevented any intercourse with the North side for some days, but the river will be completely clear the next tide."

COMMUNICATED. ST. GEORGE'S DAY.—In this place the celebration of the several National Saint's Days has years since ceased to be commemorated.

Although we would be far from attributing this change to lethargic symptoms in our loyalty or attachment to the birth-place of our Parents, or the Home of our Childhood; yet we must confess, we are sadly puzzled to assign a just cause for so gross a delinquency.

We are fond of these festivals, they uphold and brighten the "mirror of retrospection" to the dusky 'mind's eye' of the aged;—convey our thoughts down the primitive ages of Christianity, to the bright fountain-head of our Religion; and cheer our hearts with dear delightful scenes of the days of "Auld lang Syne."—In those who are Britons' lineage—not birth—they generate sentiments of veneration for the 'Land of their Fathers', of loyalty to its laws, and bravery for its defence.

On the evening of Wednesday last a number of Gentlemen assembled themselves at the Royal Hotel;—where the skill and alacrity of the host and hostess—with but a few hours' intimacy—had in readiness a sumptuous supper.

Brilliant wine—wit—and repartee, went sparkling round the loaded board, producing that sweet celestial sensation which is wrought on the heart,—when, in the early breeze we view the "dew-dropping flower" wave round its lovely head, and send forth its teeming fragrance in the brightening sunbeam.

About half past one the party unwillingly severed, each one for his respective home, highly pleased with the harmony, loyalty and unanimity, that characterized the entertainment; and much indebted to the taste and skill of Mr. and Mrs. Martin, in the choice of wines, and the preparation of the plum pudding, &c.
