

folks over countenances, blooming in the fresh and budding youthfulness of health and beauty and cheerfulness, over the lights of some two hundred the Daughters and Sons of Parents who witnessed other Scenes around those Standards, we felt that if they had never before been consecrated under the auspices of Father Mathew, the virtual benediction was on this night given.

Coblenz was in admirable humour, and spread an abundant profusion of the luxuries of the season over his richly lit Board. The excellent Band of the 64th Regt. enlivened the Entertainment of the evening by its spirited minstrelsy, and the Quadrille, Cotillon, and Contre Dance alternately occupied the floor.

The salons of Fashion may present in their seasons of array the seduction of tinsel and of Ton, but for the attractions which the unallied bloom of health and beauty and artlessness present, the young pretty and innocent votaries of Father Mathew might on Monday have thrown down their gages of rivalry.

We were gratified to see the youth thus illustrate the facility with which the discipline of the Institute may be made auxiliary to social cheerfulness and enjoyment.

Provincial Legislature.—We have given in the preceding columns a summary of the Legislative proceedings of the past week. The most important of which was the defeat of the Administration upon the Bankrupt Bill—an event which has excited no little alarm in their camp, and we think, not without good and sufficient reason. On Friday, Mr Huntingdon gave notice that he should on Monday (to day) submit a resolution, the object of which would be to ascertain the opinion of the House, as to the present constitution of the Executive Council. Notice also was given by Mr Marshall, that he would on the same day submit a resolution, declaring it improper for the Speaker to be a member of the Council; but strange to say, these motions were withdrawn on Saturday, for what good reason we have not heard, but it is very strongly suspected, owing to exercise of influence from certain interested quarters.

NEW-BRUNSWICK.

St John Morning News, Feb. 7.

A branch pilot belonging to this port, named Mr John Woodley, has been missing for nearly a week. It appears that he took out the ship Mechanic, and left her, to return in a small boat, some distance down the Bay. The boat was last seen off Beaver Harbor, she has not since been heard of.

Review of the Markets.—Since the winter set in we have not been called upon to record a week of so great inactivity in business generally, as the past. The weather during the week had been very stormy, and for the last three or four days constant rains, which had prevented country dealers coming into town, and everything has remained quiet. We have, therefore, to continue for the present, our previous quotations, though they must be considered nominal.—The fact is, there is no business doing, no money in circulation, and no credit. Dealers seem only desirous of purchasing enough to supply immediate demand, and one and all are adopting the cash system. Cash and no credit will stare you in the face at every shop you enter. We would strongly recommend the mechanic, the farmer, the tradesman, and one and all, to adopt the same system, and in a few years a more healthy state of things will be brought about. There has been no arrivals during the week, excepting a few fishermen, and only one or two vessels cleared at the Custom House.

St. John Observer, February 8.

The Weather.—After a week of rain, fog, and mud, we had a slight fall of snow last night, and sleighs are again in use. The roads have been so much broken up for the last week or ten days, that very little country produce has been brought to market. With the exception of a few extremely cold days, the winter thus far, has been unusually broken, and unseasonably mild.

Melancholy Accident.—We learn that a man named Russell, (a drayman, we understand) in going home last night, fell over a high bank on the lower side of Brussels street and was killed. His body was found this morning covered with snow. The night was very dark, and there were no lamps lighted in that part of the town, to which the accident may probably be attributed.

WEST INDIES.

Jamaica, January 10.

H M Schooner Pickle, Lieut Montresor, arrived at Kingston, in seven days from Carthage, and brought the following intelligence:—H M S Vestal was lying at Santa Martha, and H M. schr Charybdis at Carthage when the Pickle left. The latter vessel was fired at while at Zapota, by Carmona's squadron. Lieut DeCoursey returned the compliment, and in so doing killed the Admiral and about 40 of his men. The Charybdis did not lose a man, but suffered from injury done to her rigging and bulwarks. Carmona was still firing on Carthage, so much so that Mr. Kelly, with British and American merchants, amounting to about $5, remained on board the Charybdis.

Those who have set themselves in opposition to the laws will do well to read carefully the message which the Governor sent down to the house of assembly yesterday afternoon, and the answer which the house returned to His Excellency. Every christian man, every good man, can have but one object in view; and that object is to secure the peace and quiet of the community. This the governor, and every one, however friendly he might be to the labouring population are bound to do; and if fair means will not avail, however deplorable the circumstance becomes force must be resorted to. In having recourse to this, it is not the peace and quiet of the rich which is sought to be secured, but the peace and quiet of every person, rich and poor, white, black, and brown. No man or set of men can be justified in resisting the law, or in seeking to be revenged for what has occurred. There are peaceable ways to settle these matters. Why should the whole community be put to trouble and kept in alarm because a few foolish boys were prevented from playing their drums and blowing pipes? And why should other lives be perilled because a few of our fellow citizens have unfortunately fallen? Let peace & quiet be first restored. This done, there is power and justice enough in the country to see the poorest man righted. Let the people not provoke the government and the authorities against them. It is madness to do so, it is madness to persist in any attempt to resist the authorities of the country, whose business it is to secure peace to all, without any reference to who is right and who is wrong.
