THE GLEANER.

THE BOUNDARY TREATY.

ARTICLE I.

It is hereby agreed and declared that the line of boundary shall be as follows:—

Beginning at the Monument at the source of the River St. Croix, as designated and agreed to by the Commissioners under the 5th article in the Treaty of 1794, between the governments of the United States and Great Britain; thence North, following the exploring line run and marked by the Surveyors of the two governments in the years 1817 and 1818, under the 5th article of the treaty of Ghent, to its intersection with the river St. John and to the middle of the channel thereof; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river St. John, to the mouth of the river St. Francis,—thence up the middle of the channel of the said river St. Francis, and of the lakes through which it flows, to the outlet of the Lake Pohénagmook,—thence Southwesterly in a straight line to a point on the north west branch of the River St. John, which point shall be ten miles distant from the main branch of the St. John in a straight line, and in the nearest direction; but if the said point shall be found to be less than seven miles from the nearest point or summit, or crest of the highlands that divide those rivers which empty themselves into the river St. Lawrence from those which fall into the river St. John, to a point seven miles in a straight line from the said summit or crest,—thence in a straight line in a course about South eight degrees West to the point where the parallel of latitude of 46 deg. 15 min. North intersects the Southwest branch of the St. John,—thence Southerly by the said branch to the source thereof in the highlands at the Merjarmette portage; thence down along the said highlands which divide the waters which empty themselves into the river St. Lawrence, from those which fall into the Atlantic Ocean, to the head of Hall's stream,—thence down the middle of said stream till the line thus run intersects the old line of boundary surveyed and marked by Valentine and Collins, previously to the year 1774, as the 45th degree of North latitude, and which has been known and understood to be the line of actual division between the States of New York on one side, and the British Province of Canada on the other,—and from said point of intersection West along the said dividing line as heretofore known and understood, to the Iroquois or St. Lawrence river.

ARTICLE II.

It is moreover agreed that, from the place where the joint commissioners terminated their labours, under the sixth article of the Treaty of Ghent, to wit: At a point in the Neebrik channel, near Muddy lake, the line shall run into and along the ship channel, between St. Joseph and St. Tammany Islands, to the division of the channel at or near the head of St. Joseph's Islands,—thence, turning eastwardly and northwardly, around the lower end of St. George's or Sugar Island, and following the middle of the channel which divides St. George's from St. Joseph's Island,—thence up the east Neebrik channel, nearest to St. George's channel, through the middle of Lake George; thence west of Jonn's Island, into St. Mary's River, to a point in the middle of that river about one mile above St. George's or Sugar Island, so as to appropriate and assign the said Island to the United States,—thence adopting the line traced on the maps by the commissioners, through the river St. Mary and Lake Superior, to a point north of Ile Royal in said lake, one hundred yards to the north and east of Ile Chapeau, which last mentioned island lies near the north eastern point of Ile Royal, where the line marked by the commissioners terminates,—and from the last mentioned point, southwesterly, through the middle of the sound between Ile Royal and the northwestern main land, to the mouth of Pigeon river, and at the said river to and through the north and south Fowl Lakes, to the Lakes of the height of Land, between Lake Superior and the Lake of the Woods,—thence along the water communication to Lake Saisaquinaga and through that Lake,—thence to and through Cypress Lake Lac du Bois Blanc, Lac le Croix, Little Vermillion Lake, and Lake Nemecan, and through the several smaller lakes, straits, or streams, connecting the lake here mentioned, to that point in Lac la Plaine or Rainy Lake, at the Chaudiere Falls, from which the commissioners traced the line to the most northwestern point, being in latitude 49° 23 m. 55s north, and in longitude 95° 14 m. 38s. west from the Observatory at Greenwich; thence, according to existing treaties, due south to its intersection with the 49th parallel north latitude, and along that parallel to the Rocky Mountains. It being understood that all the water communi-
