

UNITED STATES.

From the Yankee Nation, July 9.
More Incendiaries—Fire in Roxbury—Ten Horses Burnt.—About half past 12 this morning, a fire broke out in the stable of Franklin & Maher, corner of Summer and Washington streets, Roxbury, and before its progress was arrested, it had consumed two stables, two sheds, a large quantity of hay and grain, and Ten Horses.

The stables were insured, but we understand there was no insurance upon the horses or other property. The harnesses were mostly saved. The stables were attached to the Franklin Tavern, and belonged to the Farrell estate.

This fire was most unquestionably the work of an incendiary, and owes its origin probably to the same cause which has destroyed the other stables in Roxbury.

By the opportune arrival of the engines from the city, probably a much more extensive conflagration was avoided. The Roxbury engines were promptly on hand.

A man named Bradley Morgan was arrested as the supposed incendiary. He was caught under very suspicious circumstances, and made such contradictory statements that it was deemed a sufficient ground existed for holding him to an examination before a magistrate.

Great Explosion at Cambridge—University Hall Blown Up!—About two o'clock yesterday morning a tremendous explosion was felt at Cambridge, and on searching for the cause, it was found that the University Hall had been nearly 'blown up' by some evil disposed persons.

This Hall was the newest and best of all the College buildings—it being built of granite, and the whole erected at a vast expense. It was used mainly as a dining hall.

The work of destruction was caused by carrying a large bombshell into the building, and setting fire to the fuse. The bomb shell exploded with a tremendous noise, carrying out most of the upper part of the building, and creating a work of destruction hardly to be conceived from even such a cause.

Fortunately, no one was in the building except a baker who slept there to take charge of it, and he escaped serious injury.

The perpetrator of this outrage is not yet discovered, but we learn that the College Faculty and the Town Authorities are making every effort to probe the matter to the bottom.

Another Great Flood on the Mohawk—Ten Thousand Dollars worth of Property Destroyed.—An Extra from the office of the Mohawk Courier, dated Tuesday morning, June 23, contains the following intelligence:

Our village (Herkimer), has again been the scene of a most devastating flood. The little creek that enters the Mohawk from the north, passing directly through the very heart of the village, suddenly rose yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, owing to a long continued and extremely violent shower, to a most unprecedented height, and swept away in its resistless fury, streets, bridges, buildings, &c., and destroying goods and property to an amount variously estimated at from Ten to Fifteen Thousand Dollars! This vast destruction of property was the work of less than an hour's time, and it will require the united energies of all our citizens, for many weeks, to restore it.

Not only was the property destroyed, but life, in several instances, was imminently endangered. The hon. A. Beardsley, in an attempt to save a large roll of broadcloths which had floated from the store of Messrs. Barch & Co., was submerged in the torrent and carried, sometimes upon the surface, at others beneath the flood, to a distance of several rods, until he was finally rescued by timely assistance. James Feeter, Esq., who is probably the greatest individual sufferer, owing to his great exertions in attempting to save his property, became exhausted and sank resistless in the waters, and was snatched from instant death at the latest moment. He was carried to his house in a state of insensibility, but we are happy to state that he has now nearly recovered.

Never since our acquaintance at this place, have our streets presented such a novel and terrific appearance. For an hour, torrents poured through Ann and Second streets, sweeping them from side to side, and in many cases carrying away every particle of earth, and leaving the native banks naked and exposed in all their inherent ruggedness. Curb stones, flagging, ornamental trees, lumber, &c. are scattered throughout these entire thoroughfares in wild profusion! Never has our village before shown such deep and numerous traces of the destroying element. Had this sudden and awful visitation come upon us in the night, many lives must have been inevitably lost. There is great cause for rejoicing that to the destruction of the flood, the horrors of night and darkness were not superadded.

Though we have sustained another severe loss before our citizens had fairly recovered from the desolating effects of the spring freshet, we are confident that their untiring energies will soon invest our streets and dwellings with all their accustomed cheerfulness, activity, and prosperity.

Extraordinary Phenomenon.—We are told by a gentleman from New Jersey, that the Highlands of the Neversink in that State, near the Highland lights, have been gradually sinking since last Thursday, and that in some places they have already settled ten feet. The soil in that place is mostly sand and gravel.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Important from Buenos Ayres—Continuation of the Dreadful Atrocities.—The brig Amazon, arrived at Baltimore, brings Buenos Ayres papers to the 10th May.

We learn that at the time of the sailing of the Amazon, business of all kinds was nearly suspended in consequence of the continuance of the dreadful atrocities committed by the adherents of Gov. Rosas upon all who were opposed to him in their political views, or who were either publicly or privately obnoxious to him or his friends.

All strangers, and many of the citizens were anxious to leave Buenos Ayres, but as the dominant party granted very few passports, and as the packets were all strictly searched before sailing, it was a matter of much difficulty and danger to get away.

The papers are very silent on the subject of the outrages on the lives of the Unitarian party, daily committed by the partisans of Rosas. Subscriptions to the amount of $150,000, made by societies and individuals, had been tendered to the government for the purpose of carrying on the war against the Unitarians.

The letters accompanying these contributions abound in expressions of the most fulsome flattery of Gov. Rosas, and denounce the Unitarians and their leaders in the most savage and uncivil terms, and earnestly wish for the total extermination of the remnant of the party.

Admiral Brown, with the Buenos Ayrean squadron, was lying off Montevideo, waiting an opportunity for another combat with Admiral Coe. The latter, however, kept closely in the harbour. The stories recently published in this country of the alleged defection of Admiral Brown, are untrue.

A MOST VALUABLE AND INTERESTING WORK.

THE UNITED IRISHMEN; THEIR LIVES AND TIMES.

BY DR. R. R. MADDEN,

Author of 'Travels in the East,' &c &c

This work contains particulars never before made public, respecting the plans, object, and conduct of the United Irishmen; the means by which their secrets were betrayed to the Government, and their measures frustrated.

The collection of materials for this Work has involved the labor of many years, during which time Dr Madden three times visited America, and obtained such authentic documents and information as could only be procured where the survivors of the United Irishmen had sought and found shelter.

It is the belief and hope of the author that the time has arrived when this history may be written without provoking the rancor of party, or lacerating the feelings of surviving relations.

The foregoing is the announcement made by the London publishers of a work which will unquestionably, both on account of the great talents of the author and his deeply interesting subject, be the most valuable that has been given to the British public for many years.

Having taken pains to procure a very early copy from London, we shall issue it on the 20th day of July next, in a double or treble number of the New World, at a price not exceeding 25 cents although the original price is 21 shillings sterling. Thus will it be within the ability of every lover of liberty in the United States—OF EVERY IRISH CITIZEN—to procure a complete and authentic account of the most brave though unfortunate struggle for freedom that the world ever saw.

The descendants, relatives and friends of those noble patriots, who were engaged in this struggle, still exist in this country. It is sufficient for us to name to New Yorkers the names of Thomas Addis Emmet and Dr Macneven. Their memory will never perish from among us. Had the contest for freedom, in which they, and such as they, were engaged, been successful, it would have been dignified with the name of Revolution, and not known merely as 'The Irish Rebellion.'

There is no period in modern history more replete with stirring and pathetic incidents. It furnishes the richest material for romantic narrative; for the interest which it excites is social as well as political. Strife entered into the homes of men, and Danger was present at their firesides, 'with his feet upon the hearth.' But it is unnecessary to enlarge upon a topic, the mention of which is enough of itself to excite the coldest reader. Dr. Madden's work will undoubtedly meet the most highly raised expectations, and be received with universal favor.
