

The New York Sun states that Joë Smith, the Mormon prophet, has petitioned Congress for permission to raise one hundred thousand men and arms and equip them for the propagation of Christianity, and the arts and refinements of civilized society, in the western wilderness!

Major Tulloch shortly proceeds to Canada, for purpose of organizing the pensioners of the British army, who muster 4,000 men in both provinces!

From the London Punch.

A JORUM OF PUNCH.

THE ADVENT OF SPRING.

The honey-bee begins to work, The thrush and black-bird sing; Flowers, leaves, and sunshine, all proclaim The Advent of the Spring.

In London we've no honey-bee— No song-bird sings to us. But have we not the melody Of the Blue-Bottle's buzz?

The chandlers' and the butchers' shop, Enlivened by his humming, Proclaims sufficiently the fact, That Summer's come, or coming. He flits through graves of moulds and daps, And climbs o'er hills of beef;

Now perches on my lady's nose, To give his wings relief. He sips from rivolets of beer, On tap room tables streaming; Then takes a turn in Regent street, And bathes some dandy's cream in.

Let others sing the flowers of Spring, And green-wood melody— Confound the fly—he's in my eye! No Blue-bottles for me! Progress of Science.—It is reported that Mr Ferrand, finding how apt he is to be led into error by trusting to his own recollection, has determined, on taking a few lessons in the science of "Artificial Memory."

St. Stephen's, Walbrook.—This parish is now blessed with four churchwardens: Messrs Gibbs and Whitaker having claimed the office on one side, while Messrs Flight and Rock, on the other hand, declare themselves to have been duly elected by the parishioners.

Conundrum.—Why are learned ladies, generally, so remarkably plain?—Because they are extra-ordinary. Epidemic among the London Clocks.—We have heard from several quarters of the metropolis, that the extraordinary melody which so long afflicted the clock of St Clement's has extended to several others of the church dials of London.

An East-end clock, whose name we are in possession of—a clock that has for some years occupied a high position in the City, in fact, Shoreditch—has, we regret to say, been seized with the same distressing symptoms as those from which St. Clement's clock is still slowly recovering.

The unhappy dial has lost the use of both hands, and gives every indication of falling into a state of hopeless derangement. Many of the neighbors have for some time suspected it was "not quite right," and we are sorry to say that their worst fears are now confirmed.
