BLANKS. For Sale at the GLEANER OFFICE. Prospectus

of the Agricultural edition of the Albion, to be conducted by J. S. Skinner, Esq.,

In undertaking to conduct, for the proprietor of the Albion, a Department approprtaetor of the Albion, a Department appropria-ted to Agriculture and Horticulture, the under-signed begs it may be believed that he enters upon the task with a full sense of the respon-sibility it imposes. Though he may not bring to its performance all the skill and various knowledge which maybe requisite to the high-est degree of success, hedoes not hesitate to promise an example of that industry which it will be his duty to inculcate; animated as promise an example of that industry which it will be his duty to inculcate; animated as he is by the same, and even more zeal in the cause of agricultural improvement that that which prompted him, more than a quarter of a century ago, to establish the first periodical dedicated to American Husbandry. Friends of the Plough! what a change has "come o'er the spirit of our dream" since that epoch! Not only was that doubtful experience crowned with success, but many ether and abler journals have been annually coming into existence over all the country, begetting an appetite for dishave been annually coming into existence over all the country, begetting an appetite for dis-quisitions on every branch of rural industry, far from being satisfied with abundant supplies, seems to increase by what it feeds upon, until happily, it has come to pass that those who are destined to earn their livelihood by tilling the soil, now more and more regard their pursuit, soil, now more and more regard their pursuit, as one which demands, not only a close observation of field practice, and of actual results, but an active exercise of mind, to the and that by a better knowledge of all the principles involved, and all the agencies by which they are produced, these results may be controlled and modified. With these views it will be equally the duty and the pleasure of the undersigned to encourage, and yet more widely diffuse, the sentiment that Agriculture and Horticulture are in truth connected, tas well in theory as in in truth connected, tas well in theory as in practice, with various interesting studies; and that in proportion as we advance in a know-ledge of all the sciences akin to those pursuits, laws of nature hitherto unthought of, will be revealed, and new objects, infinitely variega-ted and interesiting, be disclosed, over which the mere practical man passes, without per-ception, or relish; just as the blind man in the country so much to be commisserated, is insensible to the glories of our autumnal scenery, and all the varied beauties of creation. Such is the melancholy centrast between the ineelightened and the cultivated agricultur-

But while it is intended that the commentaries and reflections of the Editor and his ex-tracts adapted to our country, to be take calef-ly from the most recent European works and journals, shall be of a mature to promote habits of intellectual investigation, the paramount aim will be to make known to the reader, such new and practically useful discoveries, as, such new and practically useful discoveries, as, when availed of, shall augment the product of all capital, in any form employed, in any branch of rural industry. In a word and without further preface, it is designed to distil the spirit from the mass of foreign journals, and with it so sprinkle and refresh our fields and gardens, as to ensure for all their products a more vigorous growth and more trainful beer more vigorous growth, and more fruitful bear-

The arrangement for an Agricultural Department in the Albion, cannot affect injuriously, the interests of any of the many agricultural publications now circulated in America. The Editor would decline any and all connexions that might thus enroach on the patronage justly due to his co-labourers, in the wide field of agricultural improvement. The Albion circulates not merely among a large circle of American friends, but also a-mong the natives of Great Britain—in Europe, as well as in the United States; and as a coun-try can in no way be better known than by its agriculture, it is conceived that much good may be effected familiarising foreign readers with the condition of Agriculture in America; furnishing facts, showing how and where the foreigner may best promote him own welfare, and advance the interest of his adopted country, when "settling" with his family, either in the new or the old States of the American confederacy. So far from desiring to trench upon deracy. So far from desiring to trench upon the well deserved patronage of the regular ag ricultural journals, it is repeated, the Editor is well persuaded that the interest awakened by the agricultural articles of the "Albion," widely read as these articles will be over a large part of the world, will contribute considerably towards turning attention to the Ame rican agricultural journals, is the best source practical and exact information concerning the condition and prospects of the industrial interests and capacities of the people and the soil of the United States

There is no possession of which the undersigned is more proud than of the esteem with which he flatters himself he has been honored with a good deal of uniformity, by the conductors of the agricultural and of the general press of the country; and he takes the occasion to renew to them, of all parties, the assurance that there can be no degree of inclination to the kind offices, on their part, that he does not fully and earnestly reciprocate -Finally, gratify an inborn propensity, and to employ the few hours of leisure in some hope of being useful that might otherwise be whiled away in frivolous amusement, he seeks only to enter and take the hindermost row in the field, con tent though he should only glean what may scattered in a protuse harvest, by more wart reapers, in a manly contest for the lead.
