TORONTO, August 22.—Great excitement has been created here for some time past by the secret sale by government of public roads that cost $900,000 for $300,000. James Beaty, of Toronto, an intimate friend of the inspector general, and Mr Hoople, of Ferry street, New York, are the favored purchasers. Public opposition is so strong that government has determined to quash the bargain.

TWO DAYS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.—The steamer Crescent City arrived at New York on Thursday last, with dates from San Francisco to the 17th July, brought to Panama by the steamer Isthmus. She brought 60 passengers, and brought $100,000 in gold dust. Information has been received at Stockton, that a party numbering about twelve, have been found dead in a ravine, near the Double Springs, where they had been digging. The Stockton Journal of July 13 remarks: An alarming state of things existed in a portion of the southern mines around Sonora. It is thought that within the last two weeks 20 men have been murdered in that neighborhood. Not long since a stage was fired into and four of the passengers wounded; one of them has since died of his wounds. A party of Mexicans were arrested in the vicinity of Sonora in the act of burning the bodies of two Americans.

The San Francisco Herald of July 16 says: There has been considerable excitement to-day on account of the exposition of the fact that one of our largest mercantile firms suspended payment yesterday, and assigned their property.

SLAVE INSURRECTION IN ALABAMA.—Richmond, August 22.—An insurrection, in which 400 slaves were to be engaged, was discovered at Lowndes County, Alabama, last week. The rendezvous of the negroes was fired upon by the whites, killing one slave and wounding 20 others. The slaves then fled. It is said that the slaves were incited to the insurrection by an abolitionist, for whose arrest a reward of $6000 has been offered. Large parties are in pursuit of him. A general massacre is believed to have been intended.

A SELF-ACTING SAW MILL.—The Saint Louis Republican gives an account of a Saw Mill constructed on a new and singular principle. The inventor is Mr Amos Jackson of Potowatamie county, Iowa. The mill derives its power from the weight of the log to be sawed. The ways on which the carriage travels are fixed on bearings that enter into the frame; the opposite ends are provided with a large segment of a cog wheel working into a series of cog wheels and pinions; thus when the log is pushed forward to the saw, its weight is brought to act with great force through the segments of a shaft, having several intermediate gearings to increase the speed sufficiently for driving the crank shaft. The price of these mills is said to be light compared with others, and they can be attached to wheels for travelling through the country.

SECOND EDITION.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 3, 1850.

UNITED STATES.—Our papers furnish a most horrid tale of crime and suicide.

The following facts have been furnished the Albany State Register, relative to the parties to the late tragedy at Troy, N. Y.:— William A. Caldwell had been a personal acquaintance of the writer for some 15 years, interrupted only by an absence of nine months at Auburn, and a three years' cruise as supercargo, on board a merchantman to China, &c. He arrived at New York from that cruise in early summer. Previous to his leaving this continent (some years before), he was engaged to be married to the lady who resigned herself to the horrid death with which we are all familiar. There was considerable opposition to the match, which delayed the consummation of their desires. While absent to China and other parts of the world, the lady, now no more, became acquainted with a gentleman by the name of Knapp, and her friends importuned her to accept his honorable proposals of marriage, to which at length she reluctantly yielded her assent, and they were married, and have had one child, which died early in May, and just before Caldwell's return. Caldwell had sailed nearly around the world, and as he neared his native shores, the most prominent thought that swelled his bosom, was the certainty, as he supposed, of again clasping his Louisa to his heart; but he returned to find the object dearer to him than life, the wife of another. The iron entered his soul; he wandered about nearly distracted, but his better reason came to him, and he resolved to shake it off. In the meantime he found that she desired to see him; she, the wife of another, requested an interview. They met at last, but their meeting is not to be described. The years of absence that had passed, had only bound them together more strongly, if possible, than before; they met as they should not have done—as lovers. Caldwell's better reason at first did not allow him to think of the future as she thought, and it doubtless would have passed by, and left only despair fastened in their hearts, but they loved, and madly, and the former associations of youth came up before them more freshly at the thought of a final separation. She did not wish to live without him, and told him she could not, and that it was her determination to remain with him, notwithstanding she was the wife of another. Caldwell was too passionate and rash to resist that, and it was talked over, that they should meet again. He parted with her to visit his friends in Whitehall, and went on board the evening boat for Albany. After the boat was under weigh, and while he was walking the deck, to his utter astonishment she appeared before him. The thought at once pierced him, that she had indeed abandoned her home, and resolved, regardless of all the tremendous consequences, to share his fate; and her words shortly corroborated what had passed like lightning through his soul. They immediately proceeded to his state room, and they resolved, in the face of all the terrible circumstances around them, never to part again. They did not part, but arrived at Albany, and took lodgings at the Delevan House. He left her there, and made his contemplated visit to Whitehall, and returned in about ten days, she in the meantime receiving her meals in her room, according to his suggestion, in order to avoid observation. He returned and took rooms with her in the American Hotel, where he wrote the published letter to the Editor of a Whitehall paper; he remained at the American a few days, but thought it was too public a place, and engaged lodgings in a private house in Jay-street, where he remained about one week, then took the Eastern cars and went to Williamstown, and was surprised and pursued by some one, as he remarked in Troy, that he whipped two constables and escaped, the particulars of which will soon appear. He escaped in a one-horse carriage and arrived at the St. Charles Hotel, on Tuesday morning, about four o'clock. And the sequel is now before the world. They there resolved to die—with his own hand he opened the portals of eternity. They both passed to the undiscovered country, from whence no traveller has returned. The pages of romance can scarcely produce a parallel, or a description fraught with such awful and startling circumstances, as represented in the truths of this case.

Troy Whig, August 22.

The scene presented in the bedroom was one we shall not attempt to describe. A more ghastly and horrible spectacle the mind cannot conceive. Both were in their ordinary night clothes. The woman was in the front part of the bed, her head resting on the arm and partially on the bosom of her companion. The gash in the throat was not deep, and the blood had dropped beneath, so that little was on her person. Her countenance was pallid, and marked by a serenity amounting almost to a smile. She had evidently moved only very slightly after the cut was made; and then in the struggles of death. She was of the middle size in height, hardly ordinarily robust, and apparently aged about 30 years. By her side on the right lay Caldwell, the most horrid object that the eyes ever beheld. He was tall, muscular, well formed, large head, features strongly marked, and the lower part of his face covered with heavy whiskers. The gash in his throat had severed and laid bare his windpipe, and he had bled most profusely. His face, hands and breast were covered with blood, and his hair and whiskers were clotted together with it. Judging from the position of his limbs his contortions must have been long and severe. By his right side was found a razor, covered with blood, and also the razor case.

It appears that the Southern members intend making a move for the reduction of the Tariff, and a Repeal of the Navigation Laws.

PITTSBURGH, August 27.—The riot mentioned in yesterday's despatch, among Irishmen on the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad commenced with a party of men employed on the county road. The riot was continued all last night and part of to-day.

The rioters levelled a number of houses along the road, and the inmates, men, women, and children, fled to the woods for protection.

The Scott Guards, with sheriff Curtis, went to the seat of war yesterday, and returned this afternoon, having in custody thirty-six prisoners who are all now in jail.

The rioters glory in the soubriquets of 'Fardowners,' and 'Corkonians.'

St. John.—The Courier in speaking of the success of the railway remarks:—'As far as St. John is concerned appearances are very encouraging at present. But a very few persons have yet been called on, and already the sum of £8,500 has been subscribed by five individuals; and it is confidently expected that several of our capitalists will come down very handsomely on the occasion, as there is little doubt that they will be the principal parties benefited. Generally speaking there is a warm feeling on the subject among all classes, and we may reasonably hope that before three weeks have elapsed, all doubts as to the construction of this great work will have finally passed away.'

We see it stated in some of the English papers that the Right Hon. Sir Charles Grey, Governor of Jamaica, will succeed Lord Elgin as Governor General of Canada, and that Lord Harris, Governor of Trinidad, will succeed Sir Charles Grey.

DR. S. P. TOWNSEND'S COMPOUND

Extract of Sarsaparilla. THE WONDER AND BLESSING OF THE AGE!

The most Extraordinary Medicine in the World!

This Extract is put up in quart bottles; it is six times cheaper, pleasanter, and warranted superior to any sold. It cures without vomiting, purging, sickening or debilitating the patient.

WE have manufactured 1,500,000 Bottles of this Sarsaparilla during the past year, and are now putting up 5,000 bottles per day using more of the Sarsaparilla Root in one month than all the other manufacturers of Sarsaparilla in one year.

This Extract has cured more of the following diseases than all the other advertised medicines together have done.

- Scrofula, or King's Evil.
Obstinate Cutaneous Eruptions.
Pimples or Pustules on the Face.
Blotches, Biles, Chronic Sore Eyes.
Ring Worm or Tetter.
Scald Head.
Enlargement and Pain of the Bones and Joints.
Staborn Ulcers.
Syphilitic Disorders, Lumbago.
Salt Rheum.

And all diseases arising from an injudicious use of Mercury, Ascites, or Dropsy, Exposure, or Imprudence in Life. It invariably cures

- Rheumatism.
Indigestion or Dyspepsia.
Neuralgia, General and Nervous Debility.
Palpitation of the Heart.
Liver Complaint and Inflammation of the Kidneys.

Ladies of pale complexion and consumptive habits, and such as are debilitated by these obstructions which females are liable to, are restored, by the use of a bottle or two, to bloom and vigor.

THE NUMBER OF DISEASES mentioned above, as cured by this preparation of Sarsaparilla, MAY SEEM LARGE; but we are, nevertheless, PREPARED TO PROVE, by an EXTENSIVE ARRAY OF CERTIFICATES, that such is the fact. A fraction of the evidence which we possess concerning each disease, would be received before any JUDICIAL TRIBUNAL as complete demonstration. It may be remembered that all this frightful array of maladies, though appearing in an endless variety of forms, are yet similar in their origin or causes; for they all spring directly or indirectly from the same fountain. If the blood were in a pure, healthy and active state, it would drive all these complaints from the system, and chronic diseases would be impossible.

Hope for the Afflicted!

Mr SAMUEL STORY, 3d., Agent, S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla.

SIR,—Having been afflicted for the last 12 months with an affection on the Lungs, which prevented me attending to my work as well as I could wish, during which time I was under three doctors' hands, and must say, I derived no benefit whatever, and began to despair of ever getting better. I was induced to try S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, that you are agent for, by seeing it advertised, and after using two bottles found immediate relief, and am now able to attend my work as usual; I sincerely believe it has been the means of restoring me. I have also been afflicted with the Piles for the last seven years, and when I began using your valuable Sarsaparilla, to my astonishment I was cured.

JOHN BRENNAN, Cooper.

A. KEITH, J. P.

And yet another.

Mr SAMUEL STORY, 3d., Agent S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla:

SIR,—I am happy to forward you a statement voluntarily furnished, and certified upon oath, of a cure recently effected at this place, by S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, which you are at liberty to make use of for the great benefit of the public.

Yours truly,

M. W. SKINNER, Druggist.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 27, 1850.

This is to certify that my wife was for the space of twenty five years suffering under a complaint got through a severe cold, which brought on a general debility of the system, and from the use of one bottle of Dr. S. P. Townsend's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, was entirely restored to good health, which was purchased from Mr W. Skinner, General Agent at Charlottetown for the above medicine.
