By Deputy Merzerall at Richibucto.

On Sunday last the 4th inst., New Carlisle and its vicinity was visited by a dreadful Hail Storm which commenced about 2 p. m. It blew heavily from the North, and the windows of almost every house suffered more or less—several hun-dred panes of glass are said to have been broken -my own house bears ample evidence of the size of the hail stones, many of which I am credibly informed exceeded two inches. The quantity which fell was sufficient to cover the ground. I give you this from hearsay as I was in Bathurst.

A considerable portion of the grain crop is housed, and from all I hear I think it will be an average one, as the grain, generally speaking is well filled, though short in the straw. So far the potatoe disease is very partial, and appears confined to certain localities.

HOUSEWIVES ATTEND.

THE following paragraph clipped from a late number of the Baltimore Sun, is well worthy the serious attention of housekeepers. The article spoken of is largely on the increase among us for domestic purposes:

Saleratus is said to be injurous to the human system, and that it destroys thousands of children and some adults every year. The evil is tast spreading throughout the Union. Families of moderate size already use lifteen to twenty-five pounds yearly.

What is saleratus? Wood is burnt to ashes. Ashes are lixivated-lye is the result. Lye is evaporated by beiling-black salt or the residium. The salt undergo a purification by fire, and the potash of commerce is obtained. By another proover a distillery wash-tub, where the termentation evolves carbonic acid gas, and the pearlash absorbs and renders in solid, the product being heavier, dryer and whiter than the pearlash. It is saleratus How much salts of lye and carbonic acid can a human stomach bear and remain healthy, is a question for saleratus eaters.
