

almost every train which enters within their range will be more or less harassed by them. It is rumoured at the river that more immigrants are now on this route, through Texas than have ever been before.

Disb of THIRTY Mr Livingston came from Caborca by the Tinjalta trail and learned from some Mexicans that he met, that during the last two months, some twenty-five Americans had perished for want of water on this route. Among them was a Mr Douglas of Sumner County Tennessee who had been in California since 1849; also one man from Pennsylvania, name forgotten.

OREGON.—From the Oregonian of the 23rd we learn that a terrible massacre of overland emigrants by the Winneas Indians on Boise River had taken place near Fort Boise. The Massacre was accompanied by outrages of the most revolting character.

Mr John S. Noble a resident of Vancouver, furnishes the following horrible details.

On the morning of the 22nd of August last a party of eighteen men, left Fort Boise, for the purpose of rescuing three ladies and a number of children, who were supposed to be in the hands of a party of Winneas Indians (one of the small tribe of Snake Indians, who live on Boise River,) who attacked Mr Alex. Ward's train, from Missouri on the 20th of August about noon, twenty-five miles above Fort Boise, on the south side of Boise River.

This party upon arriving at the place where the first attack was made found the bodies of Alex. Ward and his eldest son Robert, Samuel Mulligan, Charles Adams, Wm. Babcock, and a German name unknown.

From the statement of the surviving boy Newton Ward, it would appear that no effectual resistance was offered by any of the party except Dr. Adams and Mulligan who fought bravely.

Following the trail, in about three hundred yards, the body of young Amon was found, a lad of seventeen years of age; (he was one of the seven who came to the rescue on the day of the attack, with Wm. Yantis.)—This young man fought with great valor, pursuing the Indians to the bushes, where he was killed. About one hundred yards further on the body of Miss Ward was found having been shot through the head with a musket ball. Her person was much bruised her hands showing signs of her having fought most desperately to resist the fiendish attacks of those savages upon her youthful person. Within a few rods of this spot a waggon had been burned, and the bodies of two dogs found craped up.

About fifty yards on, in the brush, three more waggons were burned. The trail was followed up and in about six hundred yards the body of Mrs White, (the wife of William White who lives in Looking-glass Prairie, Umpqua Valley,) was found stripped of her clothing and scalped. Her head was beaten in by clubs, and also a musket ball had passed through her head. Her person showed signs of the most brutal violence.

The trail was followed from her, and in about half a mile through a dense thicket of brush and undergrowth, the fifth wagon was found having been run into a deep ravine and left.

In about thirty yards further came to the river upon the north bank of which was discovered where they had been encamped; it consisted of sixteen lodges made of willow bushes. Here the bodies of Mrs Ward and three children were found. Mrs Ward was lying in the encampment in front of a fire her person having been robbed of all its covering and her body much cut and scarred by British bruises. Her face had a deep wound inflicted by a tomahawk, which probably caused her death. The children were lying upon the fire in front of her, having evidently been burned alive, as a portion of the hair still remained upon their heads, showing that they had been held by the hair of the head until burned to death, in front of their mother, and she doubtless compelled to witness this while they had their war dance, and they violated her person. She was soon to be a mother, which rendered the sight still more shocking. Several parts of limbs were picked up some distance from the fire having been dragged away by the wolves, or the Indian dogs, for several had been left in the camp by them. Having scarce any implements, the bodies were interred in the best manner possible under the circumstances.

There were still a lad and three children missing. A diligent search was made for their bodies without success. From the statements of the surviving boy, it was known that this lad was wounded and ran to the bushes, and has probably since died; and it is more possible that the three children are still captives or reserved for some future barbarous ceremony.
