

—much less to know and investigate them.— You have morally triumphed by bringing out into the broad light of public opinion those noble aspirations which before struggled for existence in the darkness of sects. Well, then those aspirations, this participation in the history now passing before your eyes, let them become a free and public fact. No longer suffer admonitions on the arrangements of the person or of dress. Do not conceal your eagerness to read the journals, or your opinions on them—speak openly of the acts of the Government in a becoming manner—unite, too, with this, and openly declare it, your sympathies for those who have deserved well of the country whenever the occasion presents itself—show yourselves strong in your faith. True it is that this will increase hatred and persecution against you, and will open to you the prison doors; but besides that those sufferings will be brief, we ought not to fear them, though they would be our deserts were we to show cowardice or division. This we tell you, that you are a nation, not a sect, for sects are the creation of our enemies only. In the restoration of our rights, of true order and public morality, we specially invoke the assistance of the clergy, and of the army—the chief nerves of the State; the one, with the word, will give life to the spirit in its new direction; the other, with its type of energy, of discipline, and of order will prevent every deviation. And, perhaps, at no distant time, this our army, having become the true expression of national strength, will be our pride, and will acquire a noble page in living history. Faith, union, perseverance!

To the tone of this (says a letter from Naples) the strictest observer of legality can object nothing, and the only fault that Government can possibly find with it is, that it presents no handle for oppression. The objects at which it aims are, however, very clearly specified, and it is not tranquilising to any government to be told agitation precedes revolution.

JOHN H. ROBILLIARD,
OF ST. JOHN, NEW BRUNSWICK,
SHIP BROKER.
Begg leave to offer his services to the Charterers and Deal Shippers of Miramichi, and would respectfully observe that as, in the natural course of business, Ships and Vessels in the various ports of the United States desire, prior to closing a Charter for the "North Shore," to know from him the going rates of Freight at this and the other Ports in the Bay of Fundy, he has an opportunity of securing Tonnage, and executing orders for such parties as may furnish him with particulars as to required size, &c., on favourable terms as such enquiring Vessels are transferable to any approved Port in this Province. He would also observe that he strictly limits his business to its legitimate bounds and takes no part in any speculative Charter, considering such transactions, on the part of a Broker, as decidedly incorrect.
Charterers are free of Commission on Charters.
