

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

LLOYD'S REGISTER OF BRITISH AND FOREIGN SHIPPING.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

NOTICE is hereby given, that in pursuance of Resolutions passed by the Committee, alterations and amendments have been made in the Rules and Regulations of Lloyd's Register of British and Foreign Shipping as follows, viz:—

SECTION 39.—The intermediate dimensions for the scantling of timbers between the floor beams and the gunwale to be regulated in proportion to the distance from the two points. Should the timbers to be increased, the siding of the timbers to be increased in proportion. Whenever ships are built with double floors, thick strake (see Table B) must be worked inside, to extend from the lower part of the short floor-head checks to the upper part of the long floor-head checks, and be well bolted through and clenched, with one bolt at the head of each long and short arm of floors, and at the heel of each first and second foothook which come upon them, from the foremast extending a distance as equal to three-fifths of the length of the ship; in such cases the timber strakes need not be through bolted.

SECTION 45.—The following has been added to this Rule, viz:—The breadth of the wales in every case is to be regulated as under, viz:—

When the extreme length of the ship, measured from the forepart of the stem to the after part of the sternpost, on the range of upper deck, is six times her depth of hold [and under], the wales are to be in breadth 3in. to every foot of the depth of hold.

When the extreme length of the ship is eight times her depth of hold, the wales are to be in breadth 3½in. to every foot of the depth of hold.

When the extreme length of the ship is ten times her depth of hold [and above], the wales are to be in breadth 4in. to every foot of the depth of hold.

And other intermediate dimensions in these proportions.

SECTION 62.—So far as it relates to ships the length of which exceeds five times their breadth, has been amended as follows, viz:—

Ships built in the British North American Colonies, and all ships [wherever built] the length of which [measured from the fore part of the stem to the after part of the stern post on the range of upper deck] shall exceed five times their extreme breadth, shall have diagonal iron plates closely inserted either outside or inside the frame. If placed outside, the said plates to extend from the upper side of upper tier of beams to the lower part of checks at first foothook heads amidship, and to the same perpendicular height forward and aft, measured from the lower part of the keel; and if placed inside, the plates are to extend from the upper side of upper tier of beams to the lower part of checks at floor heads. Whether placed outside or inside, the sizes of the plates not to be less than as follows, viz:—

In ships of 100 tons and under 200 tons 3½ by 7-16in	200 " 400 " 4 by 1"
" 400 " 700 " 4 by 1"	700 " 1000 " 4½ by 1"
" 700 " 1000 " 4½ by 1"	1000 " 1500 " 5 by 1"
" 1000 " 1500 " 5 by 1"	1500 and above 5½ by 1"

and fastened with bolts, one at each alternate timber, outside, and one at each timber if inside, not less in diameter than the sizes given for "through bolt bolts" in Table D.

The number of plates to be in proportion of not less than one pair to every twelve feet of the ship's entire length taken as above, but not to be more than eight feet asunder measured on a square; the said plates are to be placed diagonally, at an angle of not less than 45 degrees, their lower ends pointing to the after end of the keel in the after body, and to the fore end of the keel to the fore body, four pairs crossing each other amidship.

All such ships to have shelves and waterways to each tier of beams, each equal in contents to the transverse sectional area of the beams of their respective decks at their ends, each of the said shelves and waterways to be bolted through the outside planking at every timber, with bolts of the sizes given in Table D; likewise the shifts of inside and outside planking not to be less than six feet, unless there be a strake wrought between them, and then a distance of five feet will be allowed.

Heutlock timber, of good quality, will be allowed to be used for the following parts in ships of the Four Year grade, viz:—

Floors.
First, second, and third foothooks and top-timbers.
Beams, hooks, and knees.

Planking outside and inside.

and will be entered in the Table A accordingly.
The Committee have also approved of a drawing showing the direction of the iron plates on frames prescribed by the Rules Section 39 and 62, and the iron knees and riders prescribed by the Rule Section 62. Copies of the drawing may be had on application at this office, or to the Surveyors.

By order of the Committee.
