EDUCATION.

TO THE YOUNG MEN OF CHATHAM AND VICINITY.

Seeing the great number of MECHANICS we have in Chatham, and yet, not a School wherein the necessary Branches may be taught, without interfering with the discipline of the School, (knowing that the Mechanic cannot be what he would wish to be, without a knowledge of those Branches) has induced the Subscriber to make arrangements with the Inspector and Trustees of Schools for the Establishment of a MATHEMATICAL SCHOOL.

He therefore calls on the Young Men of Chatham, (if they will study their own interest) to consider the advantages that may be derived from such a School, confined solely to the Mathematics, where they will not be subjected to the turmoil occasioned by the minor classes as in other Schools. The Branches to be taught are, first, Arithmetic in a superior style by Lecture and Demonstration, whereby all the hidden and combined powers of numbers will be so explained that the weakest capacity may easily comprehend, together with Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Mensuration, Navigation and Land Surveying, which will be also taught in a proper manner. The School will be open (by arrangement) on the first of OCTOBER next. He will at the same time open an where the above Branches will be taught as in the day School. The Evening School is intended for the accommodation of those whose avocations might prevent them attending a Day School. He will have no objection to teach a Class ITALIAN BOOK KEEPING, if a sufficient number require it.

EVENING SCHOOL.
