[Number 6.]

"WE STRIVE TO PAINT THE MANNERS AND THE MIND."

[Saturday, Sept. 13.]

TO THE PUBLIC.

"On vent'rous wing in quest of praise I go,
And leave the gazing multitude below."

THE EDITOR tenders his grateful acknowledgments to the Patrons of the TELEGRAPH, for the encouragement already received, and assures them, that nothing shall be wanting on his part to render this Work useful and interesting to its readers; in order therefore, that he may not fail in his laudable intentions, he humbly solicits assistance from those amateurs of taste, who might devote some of their leisure hours to the decoration of its columns, and the instruction of its readers, that by enriching its pages it may not only prove a fertile source for amusement, but in the end it may not be ashamed of its origin, nor yet be denied a place on the list of Papers which shine in British America.—Aware, however, of the advantages which may result to society, from a well conducted periodical paper, he has determined to devote his whole talents to the promotion of its utility and the task of rendering it, in time, not unworthy the public approbation.

The talents of poets, orators, and historians, have been employed, to celebrate and record the actions of those who have moved in a distinguished sphere, while, perhaps, the biography of such characters as have shone in the humbler career of private life, might be attended with more important advantage to the generality of readers.—Hence, the lives of persons who have shed lustre on the human character, by the practice of every social virtue, would form a useful and not uninteresting part of the TELEGRAPH—and every communication of this tendency will be cordially received and impartially inserted.

Many persons are disposed to improve their minds, but not having a judicious instructor, to point out those works which might be perused with advantage, they read promiscuously whatever comes in their way, and thus, rather collect a quantity of indigestible matter, than enlarge their minds with useful knowledge.—The Editor however, will be careful in selecting those things which are best adapted to promote general improvement, and prove effectual in aiding the growing taste of this community.

As the editorial part of this paper is deputed to one, who is actuated by the most ardent desire of advancing general improvement, he once more solicits those, whose talents would enable them to give this work distinction, and who are so patriotic as to desire the amelioration of manners, the cultivation of taste, and the diffusion of information amongst their fellow-subjects, to lend their united assistance to the TELEGRAPH; that whilst dress and luxury make such rapid progress among us, we may not be found deficient in that, which might blend with our more sterling merits, the softer graces of polish'd life.

CONDITIONS OF THE TELEGRAPH.

THIS Paper is published every Saturday.—The price will be Eleven Shillings and three pence a year, payable at the end of every Six Months.—Printers who wish to exchange, are requested to forward their papers without delay.

To accommodate Subscribers, living at a distance, as well as for the convenience of the Editor, it is suggested to them, that they form into associations, appointing some general agent, who will be answerable for the whole subscription.

Prompt Payments only are now necessary to make this establishment permanent; and as the Editor is young in life as well as in business, and therefore not possessed of the funds and advantages which other papers possess, he confidently hopes his friends will comply with this request.

It is expected that all postage on Letters will be paid by the writer.

Advertisements of common size, will be inserted at the rate of One Dollar for the first, and Eighteen pence for each succeeding insertion.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

THOSE Gentlemen in several Counties, with whom Bills of arrears due for the ROYAL GAZETTE have been deposited, are respectfully requested to forward the sums collected by the first of September next.

TO DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS.

Those Persons who have received the ROYAL GAZETTE for several years, without paying a farthing, we hope, will not be surprised, if they are called upon "in the name of George the Third, by the Grace of God," &c. at the end of one month.

The Editor of the Telegraph at Fredericton, is authorized to receipt for any payments that may be offered.

JOHN RYAN.

STRICTURES

ON THE
NECESSITY OF INVIOLABLY MAINTAINING
THE
NAVIGATION AND COLONIAL SYSTEM
OF Great-Britain.

BY LORD SHEFFIELD.

The fourth allegation was expressed as follows—
"The planters in his Majesty's sugar colonies can no otherwise pay for the supplies received from the United States, than by the produce of their estates, which produce, in many instances, does not find any adequate vent in Great Britain, and if not taken off by the North Americans, would remain a dead weight upon all the rest of the produce of the said sugar colonies."

In confirmation of this statement, the planters and merchants produced accounts to shew that, besides smaller articles, there were exported to North America.

In the years
1773	SUGAR	-	3,776 Hhds.
	RUM	-	32,265 Puncheons.
1774	SUGAR	-	5,325 Hhds.
	RUM	-	43,483 Puncheons.

They alleged that the Americans then took, from the British West India Islands, their produce in payment for nearly the amount of what they imported: And they alleged, also, that distilleries were likely to be established in the French Islands, which would evidently tend to rival or ruin those already flourishing in the British West Indies, if the former should by any means obtain possession of the American market. They added on the authority of several letters, "that the demand and price of rum had lately declined, and that the price in February and March last (1784) at Grenada and St. Christopher's, was so low as 3s. and 2s. 6d. per gallon.

But it was shewn, e contra, to the Committee, that the annual consumption of rum in North America was not less than 7,000,000 gallons; that, of this quantity, 3,050,000 gallons may fairly be said to be taken from the British West Indies;—that there was no reason for supposing that the quantity so taken would decline; that, even if the French distil their own molasses, it can make no difference in the aggregate quantity of rum distilled, because almost all the molasses of the French Islands had hitherto been imported into North America, and distilled into rum in the New England provinces; that by the account of prices current, of sugar, rum, and coffee, at Kingston in Jamaica, on the 18th of January last (1784) laid before the Committee, it appeared, those articles then sold at prices at least as high as they were, on an average between the years 1770 and 1775; that by accounts of a later date, 20th March, it was ascertained that the produce of that Island had risen nearly ten per cent. in the course of one month, in consequence, as was supposed, of the demand for the American market; that it was even doubted whether, from the extent of that demand, the orders for rum from London, could be executed in time; and that from the present price of rum, and the demand for it, there was no reason to apprehend that there will be any want of a sufficient vent for this article of produce.

It was, also, evident, "from accounts of exports and imports," that there were imported into Canada, Nova Scotia, and Newfoundland before the American war, 998, 672 gallons of rum in a year; besides a very considerable quantity that was smuggled.
