

Society Notes

March 32nd. Mr. Wm. Morrow attended English lecture this morning.

Matty Dysart, K. B., translated French today.

Last Tuesday, Mr. McKnight reports to have been a very busy day at his hair dressing establishment. Fourteen Co-eds and five Normalites patronized him during the afternoon.

Captain Deedes enjoyed a good smoke this morning.

Mr. Grimmer accompanied Miss Fish home from college at noon today.

March 40th. Miss Otty, '11, arrived punctually at 9.15 for Mathematics. We are glad to see she always goes by Ruel.

The many friends of Miss Hodge were pleased to see her on time this morning.

We learn with regret that Mr. Salmon McLean, '11, disappeared from lecture today via the window. Injuries received were very slight. No ribs broken.

April 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ —Miss Vanwart had chocolates in her book bag this morning: they were much to Miss Flanagan's taste.

Miss MacFarland, '08, reports a very instructive physics lecture: she was much edified by it.

H. F. Bennett, '08, headed the procession of Student Teachers up York Street at 3.30 this afternoon.

April 15 $\frac{1}{4}$ —Cole reports the sidewalk on Front Street in excellent condition; walking can be safely engaged in from St. John to Westmorland Street.

Mr. Hannah Hoyt went home Sunday night with Miss Bee.

Mr. Hannah Hoyt went home Monday night with Miss Hazel Winter.

Mr. Hannah Hoyt went home Tuesday night with Miss Bessie Wrye

'Tis often said that great minds run in the same channel. Matthews picked up a bit of paper in the "print shop" on which was written:

"When love and duty clash
Let duty go to smash."

"Them's my sentiments," said Walter. He did not know that Miss Knight had used the quotation in an English lecture. Bill Clark did.

Poor Billy Morrow! He's in love—desperately in love—and the course of true love in his case is running awfully crooked. He needs sympathy. Everybody extend sympathy to Billy Morrow.
