

tures of certain of our lady teachers in the ancient class groups which adorn the walls of the hall. But the climax came one day when Margaret failed to recognize our Principal himself in his youthful days!

---

Our good old Archie has shown himself a sport by coming to school with his bad ankle. Archie with his crutches is certainly doing his bit to set the lower classes a good example.

---

Oh Louis, say, how does it feel to graduate into longies?"

---

And who is the unknown hero who saved from the flower that be-a-u-tiful Football trophy which now decorates our room?

---

What would happen if Dr. Foster should keep his threat and ask Georgie for a "chaw?"

---

Mr. Chapman told our class the other day that Coffee is hard on the heart. But somehow we think M-g-t Fo-l-r found that out sometime ago.

---

Remember the days when we were back in "C" and the "grave and stately seniors" looked oh so big and serious! Wonder if we affect the "infants" that way?

---

Meanwhile, we are trying to "dig in," for Dr. Foster warns us daily that if we aren't careful there will be little difficulty in seating "A" after Christmas.

---

"B"

As one of our teachers remarked, "if there is to be any improvement in the school 'B' must start it, for we are the 'hope of the school!'" Therefore wake up and do your bit, you "busy b ees!"

---

Two or three "B" boys have lately appeared at school with new suits on, and also there have been many fire sales.

---

Talking about Geometry, what angle did Bones make when dancing with Minnie?

---

It didn't take a detective to see that something interesting must be going on when Jack Vaughan asked Miss Clarke in what part of a letter to write the all-important question.