

RISIBLE RUBBISH

QUERIES TO THE EDITOR

Ques.—What is Vaughan's better half? E. H. '24.

Ans.—His feet.

Ques.—How can I shave without cutting myself? R. C. '25.

Ans.—Shave some one else.

Ques.—How can I take a family group without the sun? O. M. '25.

Ans.—Try substituting a daughter.

Que.—How may I win a girl's affections? Ernie, '24.

Ans.—No experience. Apply Maurice Boone.

Que.—I am a blonde, with long curly hair. I have blue eyes. I am in love with a dear boy and want him to kiss me. How can I make him? Should I use powder? H. C., '24.

Ans.—No! Dynamite is considered a more effective coercive than gunpowder. No, on the whole, we think you could not make him. Nature has attended to that. If you are still of the same osculatory frame of mind call round at the editorial sanctum and we'll do our best.

Que.—Could you tell me one or two good clean inexpensive pastimes or recreations? E. F., '24.

Ans.—Whittling toothpicks, dominoes, and moving picture advertisements would be highly recommended if not proving too exciting for the constitution.

Que.—Are there any other races of man besides the black, red, white, brown and yellow? L. A., '26.

Ans.—Yes, C. Class, the green.

FAVORITE SAYINGS

Dr. Foster—You can't lift yourself by pulling on your bootstraps.

Mr. Page—Report at four for translation.

Miss MacIntosh—Taissez-vous, mes enfants.

Miss Thompson—Sit down! You don't know anything.

Mr. Titus—You can't get history that way! Now get this! Lay off that stuff!

Mr. Miller—I am doing the talking, please.

Mr. Rouse—Stop your talking.

ODE TO "A" CLASS

And like a flock of clanging geese
Come "A" class just let out from school.