

At two o'clock the girls began to arrive with the food and then, with bustle and hustle, we set the tables, placed the favors and place cards. We decorated the tables with all our trophies and trimmed them with yellow and black ribbons.

At 5.30 our guests began to arrive and we were glad to see among them Mrs. McFarlane, Mrs. Page and Mrs. McDermott. Andy was able to come even if he had to hobble on a cane. At six o'clock supper was served and all seemed pleased with their place cards, especially Mr. Page and Mr. Brewer. After we had made many trips to the kitchen for refills the boys decided they had enough. Then came the toasts, with Mr. McFarlane as toast-master. During the toasts the Maritime Championship Cup was filled with ginger ale and passed around for everyone to drink from. Finally the National Anthem was sung and the girls were freed from their duties. We had a wonderful supper on cake and water, but we didn't mind. Then came the dishes, and Frank certainly earned his supper. We weren't all washing dishes however, some of us were dancing, Miss Belyea, Mrs. McDermott and Tim supplying the music. At last we journeyed homeward through the snow, sorry it was all over. Much thanks is due Helen for her very fine leadership. We all hope that Mrs. McFarlane, Mrs. Page and Mrs. McDermott will soon visit us again.

B Class Social

It took us three meetings to really decide to have it, and about three more to decide what we would do and all about it. But in the end we all admitted that it was well worth it. "Ze Grande Commencement" was staged for eight o'clock, and of course that meant that it got started at about eight-thirty o'clock. After the crowd assembled the games soon started under the supervision of Miss Hanson, Miss Belyea and Mr. McFarlane. Mr. Page held aloof until we finally induced him to participate in a game of "wink;" from then on he appeared to enjoy himself immensely. After the games the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Excellent music was provided by Miss Richards, Miss Loudoun, Mr. Bull, Mr. Limerick and Mr. Gunter.

During the dance fudge was served, followed by the refreshments just before the last dance. During the serving of the re-
