The Valedictory

Three years ago we entered the old brick building on York Street as members of the Fredericton High School. Tonight we have completed our course and are about to graduate. Let us now look back and recall to mind the joys and sorrows, victories and defeats which have been crowded into this space of time.

THE VALEDICTORIAN

In the fall of 1923, we underwent a mild initiation and found ourselves established as members of C Class. We set about adapting ourselves to new conditions and soon became accustomed to High School life. Several members of our class played on the various athletic teams, which were very successful. Both Foot-ball and Hockey Maritime Championships came to our school. In basket-ball High School finished third place in the league and in track sports made a very good showing. In June we took part in our first High School closing, when the class of 1924 said farewell. Honors in our class were carried off by Miss Clayton.

As members of B Class we returned to find the school under a new principal. After over thirty years devoted to the teaching profession Dr. Foster had resigned. Unfortunately, as our timetable for the first year did not call for any of Dr. Foster's subjects, we have not the honor of being among the last classes taught by him.

This year our class furnished a still larger number to the
