TEN YEARS IN BUSINESS. A NOTABLE ANNIVERSARY FOR A

LEADING FIRM.

Waterbury & Rising Sold More Goods the Whole of Their First Year.

On the 16th of next November, Messrs. Waterbury & Rising will celebrate their tenth anniversary as a business firm, and give thanks for a decade of unbroken prosperity. One of the reasons for their success is conveyed in the remark of a Boston wholesale merchant who chanced to drop into their King street store, a month ago. "I had no idea that there was any such boot and shoe store in the maritime provinces," he said. "I am pretty confident that there is not a better stock in the dominion and I question if there is a firm that does a larger business. They must exercise rare judgment in making purchases for, while they show a complete assortment of the finest goods, they sell them at prices that stagger me. I shall have a good deal of faith in the future of St. John, while such firms are at the front."

The compliment was a splendid one, coming, as it did, from a leader in the shoe business, but every reader of Progress knows that it was well deserved.

Twice a year the firm visit the leading American and Canadian manufacturers and besides their dealings with these, import goods from France, England and Germany. There are fashions in the shoe business, as in every other, and to keep up with them costs time and money: but Waterbury & Rising spare neither in their search for the newest and most desirable goods. Ladies and gentlemen who deal with them do so with the full assurance that they have the choice from the best markets of the world.

To speak of their stock is, then, superfluous; four words describe it: the best of everything.

The patronage they enjoy is so liberal that it, too, is a matter of common report, yet a few statements that show its magnitude may not be out of place. The demands of their business force them to employ in their two stores-at No. 34 King street and No. 212 Union street-10,000 square feet of floor-space, and even this is often inadequate. Two horses are kept in constant use delivering goods to purchasers. The firm have retail customers all over New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and quite a number in Montreal. Americans are often fitted here before leaving for home, and not a few of Waterbury & Rising's celebrated "K" Bals are doing service today in the United States.

But the most significant fact of all is that during the last holiday season the sales of the firm amounted to as much as the entire sales of the first year they were in business! Energy and integrity, directed by experience and enterprise, account for it all.

DRIVERS ON A TIME.

But Their Wives Were Along, and It was Enjoyable.

Progress has a duty to perform, and it does it willingly. On behalf of those genial drivers of the New Brunswick railway who enjoyed that jolly trip to Grand Falls and Edmundston, a few days ago, it thanks the general manager and officials, who extended so many courtesies to them, and made the trip such a pleasant one.

A number of magic cards like the following brought a merry party together: THE ENGINEERS OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK RAILWAY REQUEST THE PLEASURE OF and Lady's company in an excursion on the N. B. R. to Gran Falls and Edmundston, on September 22nd and 23rd, 1888.

JAMES CURRAN. ARTHUR G. McGIBBON, The boys were not selfish, so the Maine Central drivers-those of them who could leave-received invitations and they went. There were driver Sweat and Mrs. Sweat, driver Gilbert and Mrs. Gilbert and driver Fred. Little and his lady. Of the St. Croix & Penobscot railway force, there were conductors Hanson, Hunkley and Blake and master mechanic Corran and Messrs. H. C.

Tucker and B. Christie. The committee was an excellent one and did all in its power to make things pleasant, for the party. On the evening of their arrival at Grand Falls the party had a dance and plenty of fun. Messrs. Davis and Purton created lots | guests. of amusement with their celebrated clog dance and Mr. McGibbon entertained his party with a pair of rural trotters. Messrs. Kendall and Peterson added to the fund of fun and all went lively. Sunday a special train took the entire party to Edmundston, where a few pleasant hours was spent.

McAdam was reached "on time" next morning and everybody was happy and rested.

A Large Furnishing Contract.

The new Baptist seminary, a handsome engraving of which appeared in these columns some time ago, has been furnished throughout by Messrs. C. E. Burnham. The order was a large one but it was filled to the satisfaction of all concerned. The firm experienced no difficulty in giving the institution all the furniture and fittings it required, a fact that speaks well for it. All of it save the iron bedsteads, which came from England, is of their own manufacture.

YORK'S REPRESENTATIVE

OTTAWA.

A Brief Biography and Portrait of Thomas Temple, M. P.—Wanager of the Frederic-ton Bridge and Railway Company—An En-ergetic and Successful Business Man.

In any account of the advancement of Fredericton, the able and energetic member for York county, Mr. Thomas Temple, must take a prominent and honorable place.

Mr. Temple was born at Bampton, Oxfordshire, England, Nov. 4, 1818, his father being Mr. Charles Temple, who came to this country in 1832 and settled in the county of York. Educational opportunities were few, in those days, and the son of the house had to be content with what he could learn at home and in the lesser schools. His boyhood was spent on his father's farm. Its only eventful chapter is that which records his connection with the York Light Dragoons, under command of Major (afterwards lieutenant governor) Wilmot, raised to protect the interests of the colonies during the border difficulties.

In early manhood, Mr. Temple appreciated the field for enterprise that lumbering presented and, embarking in it, he soon ad achieved so much success that he was enabled to purchase the Poquiock mills, owned by Morrison, Shives & McPherson. After conducting these for two years he sold them to an American company, removed to Fredericton and engaged in the lumber business on a large scale with Mr. John Pickard, late M. P. for York, and others. His energy needed a wider outlet than this, however, and in 1869 he turned his attention to railroading. In that year, in connection with Mr. Burpee, he began the construction of the Fredericton Branch railway, a road which gave the capital and the country surrounding it connection with the great American system of railways, and with the Intercolonial. In 1871 it was completed and ready for traffic, and Mr. Temple has remained its president since. More than this, Mr. Temple is proprietor of the largest farm in New Brunswick, situated in Gloucester county, having an area of 530 acres, nearly 400 of which are cleared. There is a mill upon the property preparing timber for foreign market.

For about 20 years Mr. Temple held the position of sheriff of York, but in the meantime he kept up his extensive business connections, being largely instrumental in founding The People's Bank of Fredericton, of which he is a director. Upon the death of John Pickard, in 1884, he contested York in the interests of the Conservative party, being opposed by Mr. George F. Gregory, then partner of Attorney-General Blair, and was successful, defeating his opponent by 178 votes. The county had for many years before been considered strongly reform, having elected Mr. Pickard over the best men whom the conservatives found willing to take the field, and this result speaks strongly for the personal popularity of the subject of this sketch. Mr. Temple has made a most valuable representative, for almost entirely through his exertions has the splendid achievement of bridging the St. John between Fredericton and St. Mary's been accomplished, his share in it being recognized by his receiving the managership of the company. Mr. Temple married, in October, 1840, Susanna, only daughter of Solomon Howe, of Maine, and has by this lady five children. In social life Mr. Temple and his family are exceedingly popular, and their handsome residence, overlooking the waters of the St. John river, welcomes many distingushed therefore. Everybody

ALWAYS GET THE BEST.

Among the enterprising manufacturers of the capital the firm of J. C. Risteen & Co. stands most prominent.

Their sash and door factory was first started in a small way 18 years ago, in a building on King street, next to the New Brunswick foundry and two years later the firm bought the building which they have since occupied. The tactory is fitted out as well as any in the maritime provinces, being fully equipped with machinery and drying houses, where the wood is carefully seasoned in kilns before being taken into the factory to be turned into doors, etc.

This firm manufactures all kinds of furnishings and furniture for house, office, school and church, and as they are careful to employ the best workmen the samples of work turned out by them are most ereditable, some of the desks in particular being worthy of special mention. is confined chiefly to supplying the local trade, although they also supply the outlying districts, such as Chatham and St. Stephen, and have extended their trade up the St. John river as far as Grand Falls.

The building occupied by them posbeen erected in 1826 and used, previous to Messrs. Risteen & Co.'s occupation of it, as a residence by Mr. Geo. J. Dibblee. It near the bank of the river and apart from any other, so that the danger from fire is but slight.

The work done at the factory of the Messrs. Risteen is their best recommendation and that the people realize this is shown by the fact that the 20 men employed by the firm are busy the year

R. C. McCredie is Ready and Willing to Take Plumbing Orders.

Progress could not fairly claim to represent Fredericton and its business establishments if it neglected all mention of the manual trades, chief among which stands plumbing and gasfitting. This lack of courtesy to the profession would be the less excusable from the fact that the leading representative of the plumbing business in the capital is a former St. John man, and one well known in the city of fog. Mr. R. C. McCredie served his time in St. John with George Blake, and three years ago, after a long and successful business career here, he moved to Fredericton, where he has been very fortunate in his venture.

Besides an extensive plumbing business, Mr. McCredie does gas, water and steamfitting, and it is only necessary to mention a few of his jobs to show that he is the first man in his line of business. During the last year he put hot water heating apparatus in the Queen hotel and in the residences of the Hon. A. G. Blair, F. B. Edgecombe and James S. Neill, the firstnamed building being fitted with two Gurnev boilers, the rest with one each. Mr. McCredie is the only one in Fredericton who has as yet used this celebrated boiler, which, wherever he has used it, has given the best satisfaction. He also did the plumbing work of the Victoria hospital, and put steam heating apparatus in the residence of Sam. Dayton, at St. Mary's.

Mr. McCredie keeps gas fixtures, tinware and stove pipe for sale, employs a the larger contracts about the town, besides attending to plumbing. There is no need to say anything of McCredie's work or of his personal character, for he is known by all the people of his adopted city, and wherever known there is but one opinion of his business integrity.

A Home in the Country.

The residence built and occupied by Henry Titus, situated about one mile anda-half above the village of Rothesay, is a large family, and stands upon a six-acre Progress knows that courteous treatment, lot, more or less, and is admirably adapted for a summer residence, as well as all the year round. There are large barns upon the premises, and the place at present cuts about five tons of hay. The view of the Kennebeccasis and its islands is magnificent. The railroad runs within half a mile of the property, and a siding might be placed in the vicinity for the accommodation of passengers.

This valuable property will be sold at a great bargain, as the owner of it now resides at a distance and wishes to get it off his hands. House can be examined any time. Apply for further information to E. S. Carter, office of Progress, Canterbury street.—Advt.
