MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the book-stores of W. W. Black and W. H. Murray, Main street.]

DEC. 11.—The latest agitation amongst our Jeunesse Dorée is for an ice rink. We have nearly everything else, but strange to say we have no rink of any kind, and thus the ubiquitous and festive small boy transforms every sidewalk in the town into an open air rink of his own, a sort of pocket borough, which he triumphantly represents entirely to his own satisfaction and the peril of the unfortunate pedestrian; and the peril of his future welfare in a brighter world where there is no such thing as ice—because of the cursory remarks he is tempted to use. It really is a serious annoyance, for the sidewalks are almost impassable, where there is the least bit of ice, and only last week, Mrs. May, superintendent of the department of the L. C. R. met with a painful accident which might have had grave results. She slipped on the icy sidewalk and fell, striking on the back of her head and inflicting so deep a cut that she was rendered unconscious for a time.

The funeral of the late Seymour Miliken took place last Friday, from his parents' residence on St. George St. The body was taken to the church, the solemn burial service of the church of England being read at the house by the Rev. J. H. Talbot. The hall leavers were all young friends of the deceased, and consisted of: J. M. Knight, A. E. Holstead, Fred Givan, W. Cowling, A. L. Robinson, and F. Jones.

A number of Moncton people went down to Dorchester on Friday morning to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Chandler. Among the friends I noticed Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Harris, J. L. Harris, and her son Mr. Joseph Harris, Judge Botsford and Mr. T. F. Williams.

The many friends Mr. Arthur Charters made during his stay in Moncton were glad to see him amongst them again last week, though regretting the sad reason for his present visit. Mr. Charters was a close friend of Mr. Seymour Miliken's, and came to town to be present at his funeral.

Mrs. E. M. Estey gave another of her delightful parties last Friday evening. The raison d'être was drive whilst, but the waltzing dance after 10 o'clock turned out—like the postscript to a lady's letter—to be a very important part of the entertainment.

Many of the ladies' dresses were well worth describing, did not the limited space of the Christmas edition warn me to be brief, and the coveted distinction of "being the belle" was unanimously conferred upon Mrs. C. F. Hanington, who looked, as she always does, charming.

I hear that a very popular official of the Western Union Telegraph company, and a valued citizen of Moncton, is thinking of leaving us. I refer to Mr. George B. Willett, who has been offered an excellent position on the C. P. R., at Vancouver, but who, I believe, has not yet decided to accept it. Mr. and Mrs. Willett would be greatly missed from Moncton society, and I trust the balance may incline in our favor.

Mrs. C. T. Purdy, Moncton's latest acquisition in the way of brides, is receiving this week, at her home on Church street, Mrs. Purdy is assisted by her friend Miss Edith Peters, of St. John, who is visiting her.

Mrs. Hazen, who has been spending some weeks with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harris, returned yesterday to her home in Sussex, greatly to the regret of her many friends in Moncton.

house of Mrs. Allison Cushing, on Botsford street, and somehow or other I have managed to lose sight of the Bread and Butter's this week, but one thing is certain, wherever they met, those gay young people enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gross, of Weldon street, decided, last week, that a surprise party was a good and cheerful thing, and acting upon the decision they surprised Mr. and Mrs. Gross, on Friday evening, and had a delightful time, chasing the glowing hours with flying feet till after midnight. I don't mean to imply that they danced at all, merely that the hours flew, not the feet of the guests.

I have heard of a new engagement in town lately, and it is of so very romantic a nature that I only wish I could tell about it, but I can't, for as yet it has not been announced. Both the lovers have passed their first youth by many years, and the wedding is to take place in the spring. So the readers of Progress will have to hold their curiosity in check as best they can.

Talking about Progress reminds me that Moncton people are looking eagerly forward to the appearance of the Christmas number, and I only hope there will be enough to go round. Yesterday I changed to be in a downtown book store when a young lady came in hurriedly and said, "I want to ask you to be sure and save me six copies of Progress on Saturday; and I thought I had come in time and secure them as there would be none left."

Last week I sent a copy of Progress to a lady friend in the Southern states, and by return mail she said, "I will send you my subscription next week for a year of Progress, if you will kindly undertake to pass it on to the publisher." Progress always "gets there" somehow, but this was rather a sudden conquest, as it was the first copy my friend had ever seen.

Mr. A. E. Milliken, of Port Henry, New York, is in town, and I believe intends spending Christmas among his old friends. CECIL GWYNNE.

Mr. H. G. Curran is visiting in Calais, the guest of his brother, Mr. George A. Curran.

Mr. Frank Bixby is rapidly recovering from his recent illness. His friends hope to see him about town before Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Chipman are enjoying a visit in Boston.

Rev. Ralph Hunt, who at one time was pastor of the Baptist church here, but now of Jamaica Plain, Mass., has been obliged to give up his parish work for the winter months, and at present is seeking strength in the balmy land of Georgia. Mr. Hunt is a great favorite here among all denominations, and has many friends who hope to see him in the spring restored to his usual health and spirits.

Mr. Thomas Faulkner, of Canterbury, is making a short stay in town.

Mr. James Topping is suffering from a severe cold. His physician has ordered him South to escape the winter weather.

The Upper Corner troupe is billed to play at New town on Saturday evening, and as this consists altogether of home talent, doubtless a large number will be present.

Mr. George Frost, of your city, was here on Monday, and I also noticed Mr. G. G. Jones, of Pettoodoc, in this village.

Miss Trites, of Moncton, is in Sussex, and I hear will spend the winter with her brother here, Mr. J. S. Trites.

Rev. C. Willis, of Pettoodoc, was in this place yesterday.

Mrs. Alex. Robertson has quite recovered from her recent illness.

I noticed a great many strangers in Sussex yesterday and today from many parts of the province, to attend the estate sale of stock of the late Mr. Hugh McMonagle. Among those from your city I noticed Mr. L. Almon, Col. Jas. Donville, Messrs. George Carroll, G. R. Pugsley, Capt. Braman and many others.

Mr. Joseph McPherson, of St. John, spent Monday in Sussex.

Mr. R. Roach, of St. John, is here today. PATRICE.

CHATHAM.

DEC. 11.—Miss May Muirhead gave a number of her young friends a very enjoyable evening last week, at her home, Sunnyside. Music and dancing were the features of the evening, after which a rich and dainty repast was spread.

The W. C. T. U. intends having a pumpkin pie social next week.

A limited number of relatives and friends assembled on Monday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Blair, to say farewell to her eldest daughter, Miss Mary, who left for San Francisco, to marry, Mr. Mitchell. The presents were numerous. Before leaving for the train an elaborate luncheon was served.

Mr. George Watt has quite a large display of painted cards, pictures, china, etc., the work of Miss Libbery, who recently returned from Paris.

Mr. Harry Muirhead's friends were glad to hear of his safe arrival in England. His trip will be short, owing to the illness of Mrs. Muirhead.

A dance is to be given under the auspices of the 73rd band tomorrow evening.

Among the visitors to town this week I noticed Hon. R. Hutchinson, of St. John; Mr. S. B. Paterson, of Richibucto; and Mr. J. S. Simpson, representing J. W. Gorham & Co., Halifax. Mr. Simpson has become quite a favorite with a great many people here. X. Y. Z.

The Misses V. and G. Cutten and their brother, Mr. J. L. Cutten, gave two dancing parties since last writing, the first on Friday evening, which was a success in every way, delightful music being discoursed by Mr. Murray, of New Glasgow, who is a rare violinist, the rhythm of his music being an instructor in itself. The second party took place on Monday evening, and was a success.

Mrs. J. J. Snook is confined to the house with an attack of influenza.

The "Pedagogos" waltz club was entertained last Friday evening by Dr. and Miss W. S. Muir.

Mr. C. D. Webber, former editor of the Truro Blade, was married at Sackville, Halifax county, on Wednesday last, to Miss K. Thomas. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Webber left for Jacksonville, Florida, where their future home will be.

The young ladies of St. Andrews gave a tea and fancy sale on Thursday evening.

Sir Adams Archibald, Major Muir and Mr. J. H. Blanchard have returned from Ottawa, where they were urging the interests of the Hants' Central Railway.

Mr. John Leck, J. J. Snook's popular traveller, was married in the First Presbyterian church last evening at 8 o'clock, the fair second in the ceremony being Miss Ella Tupper, formerly of Messrs. Cummings' staff. Mr. and Mrs. Leck held a reception at their home on Elm street after the ceremony.

The amateur dramatics, which will give an entertainment, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., during the holidays held a rehearsal at "Scriven's" Manor last night. Pzo.
