

SPORTS OF THE SEASON.

THE BASE BALL AND THE GOSSIP OF THE PROVINCES.

Notes and Comments on Local Clubs and Players, and Pointers Not Found in the Reports of the Games—Horse News From Everywhere.

President Skinner likes the way our boys are playing ball. From the first, his faith in them has been firm and abiding. He has reason to be proud, because, as chairman of the managing committee, he has had much to do with the selection of the team. Tom Bell is equally happy when he thinks of their good fortune, but rather glum when the provincial league dates loom up before him, for, unfortunately for him and the club, the days chance to be his busy ones, and business before pleasure is the genial captain's motto.

Our boys pulled out a great big plum in last Friday's game. The champions of the Maritime provinces, the Maine went down again, and Frank Small was as happy as a clam in high water. The Augustas and Small had a difference last summer, and if my story is correct they are still in a bad way. He threw his arm out in one game, and was promised a two days' lay off to get it into shape. Three days after he was asked to pitch again, and, upon refusing, was bounced. His arm was all right last week, as the Augustas found to their sorrow, but they couldn't find the ball.

"What do you say to a Social-St. John game, Mr. President?" A smile was the forerunner of his reply. "Halifax people know just how we were treated last year. The game was stolen from us. They know it, and just as soon as they are square enough to own up to that fact and offer to do the right thing we will treat them. Mind, I do not say that the club would accept that, but when the Haligonian ball-players clear themselves of Pickering's crooked work, and offer to square up in manly fashion, then the Socials will accept. I have no idea that Captain Bell, or vice-Captain White, or Kennedy or Holly would play under the present circumstances with the Social team. There is not one square ball-player who will attempt a defence of Pickering and his work. Why should the ball-players when even they disowned him this summer and bounced him from their diamond?"

Abhey, the Shamrocks' new twirler, was trounced badly by Moncton, Saturday—the St. John team losing 10 to 1. Moncton has found her pegs again.

Much as I would like to see a close and exciting finish for the pennant, I can imagine it already floating either above Fredericton or St. John's grand stands next season. This town has a slight edge on the others, but I do not advise them to be too sure. Moncton is out of the race for victory, but she is going to down our boys any day she can and help Fredericton to the front. The fact that she has any preference, the forest city is the favorite. So the St. Johns will have to fight not only Webb and Robinson, but Doe as well. I can imagine the intense satisfaction of the Socials when they get away with our nine, after his recent defeat, and as for Robinson—well, "Manny" showed his true stuff when he faced the Shamrocks.

From what I can gather, Webster is getting into shape again, and Moncton will no longer be weak behind the bat.

There is a little book called Krank, a few copies of which have found their way into this section. It is a bright and amusing story, and is written by Mark Twain. The Moncton Times' man has one and is stealing from it for his sporting column, substituting the names of the St. John men for the names of the players referred to in the original. And yet that it is better matter, Mr. Times, than you can write yourself we all know—only give Krank credit.

Doe, the Moncton's new twirler, is said to be a handsome young fellow. They have bought a beauty this time to down White of the St. Johns—Halifax Mail. Are you blushing, Frank?

"Will you allow a crank," writes "Play Ball," "to offer a suggestion in re Halifax vs. St. John? Every one would be pleased to know that our A. C. nine is not able to outplay the Socials this year than they were last. An easy way to settle the question would be to arrange a series of three games—one in St. John, one in Halifax and one on some neutral ground, Moncton, for instance. Let each club bear their own expenses, the home club to take all receipts in the case of home and home games. Some amicable arrangement could be made for the management of the grounds as to financial matters. Each would then be on equal footing, under no obligation to the other side, and could settle the matter of supremacy easily and quickly. Is it worth trying?"

I think I have answered "Play Ball's" query in another paragraph. St. John will play Halifax, I have no doubt, when there is any proper acknowledgement of the steal of last season and a manly offer to square up the differences.

The Bangor Hoodlums left, 19-4. That's enough. But isn't Moncton bracing, 14-7 against Fredericton. Play ball everybody.

Power's insinuation that St. John will want to play as soon as the Halifax club disbands is hardly worthy of him. I met him again that the St. John ball-players on the team are as bitterly opposed to a game now as the managing committee. St. John will manage to overture for a game until the old account has been squared.

We are not trying to make money out of ball, Mr. Power. So long as we meet expenses we are happy, and so far as I know, there is not a club but making money, and more. What club didn't make their "salt" carnival week?

The Thistles left here Thursday morning to show Sussex, Moncton and Amherst what good amateur base ball is like. You have my best wishes, boys, for the success of the venture.

The score of an interesting cricket match at Digby which arrived at the city last night for me to print in full shows that Annapolis has the call on the game at present, winning by a run and eight wickets, the score being 30 for Digby in the two innings, 21 in the first and 20 in the second, and 30 in the first and 12 in the second for Annapolis. It is worth noting that base ball has not supplanted cricket across the bay.

PROGRESS is evidently mistaken in the name of the horse, Stanley. His owner says he intends calling him "Early," as he was first at the wire in two races at St. John, and intends to be first at the meeting of the circuit in this city—Fredericton Gleaner. There is no mistake. The proof that Early, 2:20½, is Stanley, is growing stronger daily, and I am sorry for it. It is a shame that men who pretend to be honest sportsmen should descend to such methods to win races. I trust that "Stanley" will not enter the circuit. If he does, they will probably be a row. I believe Mr. James Gibson claims to own him, and that he is kept in his Marysville stable. Go slow, gentlemen, on this business. We don't want any "ringers" in the maritime circuit.

The return of the Toronto team is made the subject of the following paragraph by the Saturday Night: "The touring members of the Toronto Cricket club returned to town on Friday last, looking brown as berries from frequent exposure to the rays of old Sol. His grace the duke of York speaks in the most enthusiastic manner of the reception given to the team by the Haligonians and the military. Aubrey Winston says it was simply gorgeous. W. W. Jones maintains a discreet silence on the subject, but a most expressive look in his eyes speaks volumes as to his enjoyment of the last fortnight. Lyon Lindsey is seriously thinking of packing up his traps and leaving at once (if not sooner) for a permanent stay in the city that looks on the vessel, and reentering the glorious time they had in the city by the sea."

Mr. Munn, the decorative artist, was in Halifax recently embellishing walls, fences, rocks, etc., with ornate advertising matter for S. Davis & Sons and Messrs. Ganong of St. Stephen. He painted the virtues of Davis' cigars on a fence opposite the officers' cricket grounds, which so offended the aesthetic tastes of the "demed fone officals" that they ordered one of the privates to give a coat of white wash. Messrs. Davis threaten to make it legally warm for the blasted Britishers—Gripack.

BALL TALK IN HALIFAX.

Interesting Pointers from Power on the Recent Games There.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 20.—At the present rate money is being paid for players in the provinces, it is a question how many clubs will be able to stand the pressure. The fact of too many games being played also tends to lessen the interest, as, apart from those thoroughly interested in the games, others become tired of seeing so much of the same thing. The fact of too many games being played also tends to lessen the interest, as, apart from those thoroughly interested in the games, others become tired of seeing so much of the same thing. I have seen it stated that Doe is to receive $60 per week from Moncton, but if my information is correct $120 for the balance of the season will be more like the amount.

The Social Junior nine having withdrawn from the amateur league, the Y. M. C. A.'s will be the champions of 1899, as they have but one more game to play. I do not know whether they would be willing to arrange a series, but two games in Halifax and two in St. John between the winners of the St. John amateur league would be interesting. I should think the Y. M. C. A. would be willing to play in St. John, when the time of the maritime professional amateur athletic meeting, as they have several men who would be likely to compete at the sports, among them being Downey, pitcher and 100 yard runner; and the right fielder and 100 yards champion of the maritime provinces; O'Brien, first baseman, 100 yard runner and high jumper; Langan, second baseman and 100 yard runner; Gleason, the Clippers (who has so many friends here that he is quite at home) and Power, of the old Atlantis, are also members of this team.

The Socials have dates arranged with the Shamrocks and Monctons in this city, and then leave for their trip, after which it is likely they will disband for the season. They have waited for the St. John team to come to town, but as the latter have failed to do so, the Socials have made arrangements for the trip, after which several members of the team will likely go to the states for vacation, having made arrangements so as they will be able to witness some of the league games. It is to be regretted there will be no games between the St. John and the Socials this season, but it will make all the more interest in the games between them and the Shamrocks. I had hoped there would be a game between the club from Moncton and the Socials, but I heard in St. John I supposed there would be, but have ascertained since there are men in the association, not players, who have prevented the arrangement. These gentlemen are content to let the Socials win the $100 which they do not owe, but perhaps they will want to play them now when they know the team is about to disband.

The Frederictons arrived here Friday and played the Socials Saturday, the latter being crippled. Davidson was too weak from recent illness, and the second—the pitching finger—was badly swollen, having had the joint knocked out three days previous while catching a fly ball. Despite this, he pitched a good game, his mix being mixed off him. Flynn does not exert himself after his club obtains a comfortable lead, and pitches for the batter to hit the ball and trust to the rest of the team. When the Socials made three splendid singles in succession, Webb was not batted hard but at the right time. The Frederictons played a fine fielding game, probably being the best they have played this year, two wild throws by Burns and two errors by McLaughlin being the only fielding errors.

In the second game, Doyle endeavoring to capture a fly which belonged to the centre fielder was the only reason why the Frederictons obtained a run. Burns went in to pitch for the visitors, but he gave eight more hits than he received in balls, and received the worst kind of support, Webb being pitched off at third. Webb went in to pitch in the fifth and he was hit at the right time, the Socials winning by a score of 10 to 4. Flynn pitched another good game. He was batted for six hits, all of them scattered, not more than one hit being made in an inning. The Frederictons cannot understand why they do not win, as they hit him hard. But they should remember that he does not pitch to strike his men right, he pitches the ball so as to hit one of the fielders and he always knows the direction the ball is going so as to hit it. White, the catcher, is doing well in his life and did not have a passed ball in either game.

One of the Frederictons was asked which he thought was the better team, the St. Johns or the Socials, and replied that they were evenly matched, and in his opinion it would depend just how the teams played on the day of the match; that would decide which was the better. He would not know, which to place his money on a game between them. Manager Hawthorne made many friends here.

The stallion Nelson enjoys a reputation which probably no other living horse has; with a record of 2:13½ he has only started eight times, and has "walked over" for stakes three times, and has given a few exhibitions. He has never made a break in any race after the first word was given, has won races in three straight heats, has never drawn the pole for position in starting, and after once getting the pole has never lost it, nor has he ever languished a day in his life, and today has the fastest three consecutive heats, viz., 2:15, 2:17½, 2:15, at Buffalo, August 7, 1898, of any stallion living or dead. He may be the King before long.

The Omnibus stakes, run at Monmouth park, N. Y., Aug. 13, was a grand surprise to a majority of the crowd. Haggins' Salvador, ridden by Jimmy McLaughlin, was a big favorite, with Bayonet, Proctor Knott, ridden by Murphy, second choice, while Dwyer Bros' Longstreet, ridden by Garrison, was not thought of as a winner. It was a grand race, with the three great jockeys in America up, and Garrison landed Longstreet a winner by two lengths, and Proctor Knott beat Salvador a nose for second place. The race was worth $20,000.

It is said that over $200,000 went into the pool box during the Cleveland meeting.

The Grand Circuit races were first started in 1866, and the total sum of money hung out in prizes $10,000. The first meeting was at Buffalo. The free-for-all was won by Dexter; Geo. M. Patchen, Jr., second, and Rolla Goldsmith third. Best time in the race was 2:15. The next year Dexter trotted in 2:17½ and the purses were $14,000. In 1868, Billy Boyce paced to saddle in 2:14½, when 20 years afterwards Johnson reduced it to 2:13. In 1870, $20,000 were hung out at Buffalo for horses that had never beaten 2:30, which was won by Harry Harley; best time 2:27. I think that this is the largest purse that was ever trotted for in America. The largest amount of money ever hung out for a circuit meeting was in 1873 by Buffalo, amounting to $67,000, when Goldsmith Maid trotted in 2:15½. Since then the purses have not been so large, but the men who put up the amounts to considerably more. This year nearly $300,000 is to be trotted for.

C. W. Williams, Independence, Iowa, has his two famous three-year trotting colts—Axtell 2:14½, and Allerton at Chicago, and starts them this week. Mr. Williams says he would not take $100,000 for Axtell, as next year he will stand him at $1,000, service for limited to 50 mares, and already has Axtell's book nearly full. He will not start him in the Balch stallion race, as the journey is too long and he has engagements in the West more cash on the colt with as much or more money in them. Of Allerton, he says, "I won't sell for $50,000. He is the best three-year old I ever drove in a race, and can beat his record, I think, with every horse trotting in a race."

The Horseman says of King Solomon "that he was a great admirer of horses and after he married Pharaoh's daughter he brought horses out of Egypt and started a stock farm. He kept for his own use, as it is written, '21,000 stables and 40,000 stalls.' When the Queen of Sheba came to see the old man, he showed her his magnificent stud of horses and chariots, which he kept for his Mormon settlement of wives, and she in the fullness of her admiration of his vast displays of power and magnificence, exclaimed, 'Howbeit I believed not the words until I came and mine eyes had seen it, and behold the half was not told me.' Solomon had a monopoly on the horse trade in Egypt, and his merchants supplied the Hittite kings, charging 150 shekels for a horse and 600 shekels for a set of chariot horses."

Donovan, the crack three year old colt of England, who won more money than any horse in the history of the turf, his winnings amounting to $197,770. He has started eighteen times and has been beaten three times. His stable companion, Ayrshire, has started fifteen times and won eleven, earning $189,402.

Tom Hal and Dictator are the sires of the fastest pacers and trotters in existence. Tom Hal has for sons the three famous pacers Little Brown Jug, 2:15½, Brown Hal, 2:14½, and Halpointer, 2:16½, with an average record of 2:13½, while Dictator's sons are Jay Eye See, 2:10, Phallas, 2:13½, and Dictator, 2:17, with an average record of 2:13½. The pacers hold the honors.

"I like a good horse better than a stupid man," says the divine Talmage, and who doesn't? A good horse is a joy and a pleasure, while a stupid man is an awkward, sorry thing to associate with.

Maggie Miller, 2:29½, that won the free-for-all at the opening of the St. Stephen driving park, is owned now in Canada, and is in foal to Red Bank, by Red Wilkes. It is said Maggie "ringed" last year under the name of the Jewess.

Joe Bowen won the first stallion race ever trotted in New England, with Draco Prince and George Wilkes and Gov. Sprague among the defeated horses, says the Forecaster.

Power writes me that Mr. Meagher, Halifax, has a two-year-old filly, Theresa, by Nelson, which is a living image of her sire. He has refused $1,500 for her.

The maritime circuit opens at New Glasgow, N. S., this week, and I hear of several horses from this province that are going down the line. I extend my congratulations to the maritime circuit, and sincerely hope that it may have a financial as well as a social success.

He Kissed Me.

Here is an educational incident: "A high school girl being told to parse the sentence 'He kissed me,' consented reluctantly, because opposed to speaking of private affairs in public. 'He,' she commenced with unnecessary emphasis and a fond lingering over the word that brought crimson to her cheeks, 'is a pronoun, third person, singular number, masculine gender; a gentleman pretty well fixed; universally considered a good catch. Kiss is a verb, transitive—too good so; regular—every event—indicative mood—indicating affection; first and third persons, plural number and governed by circumstances. Me—oh, everybody knows me, and down she went."

An Unqualified Denial.
