[PROGRESS is for sale in Dorchester at George M.

Fairweather's store.]

JULY 17 .- Time was when the winter was our season of gaiety, and summer the season for everyone to move out of town and visit other places. The order is exactly reversed of late years, and now we order is exactly reversed of late years, and now we are invariably as dull as dish-water all winter long, while the summer brings us a flock of summer visi-tors and a correspondingly large crop of dances and other enjoyments. Our "season" seems to have fairly opened now, and dances and picnics, tennis parties and excussions are beginning to show their noses above ground, with prospects of more to fol-low.

low. Mrs. Joshua Chandler gave a very enjoyable party at her house on Friday evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Forsayeth, of Toronto. Dancing was of course the order of the evening, and was kept up with spirit till a late hour. The evening was just cool enough to make dancing enjoyable, while met too even the intermissions being while not too cool to prevent the intermissions being spent about the nice lawns and grounds surrounding the house. It would be superflous to say that every-one seemed to enjoy the party extremely. Mrs. Chandler's parties are too well known to need any Chandler's parties are too wen known to need any praise from me. Rev. J. Roy Campbell and Mrs. Campbell have been enjoying a visit from Rev. Robt. II. Taylor, principal of the Theological college, of St. John's, Newfoundland. Mr. Taylor occupied Trinity church pulpit at both services on Sunday, as well as on Friday evening, and his very clever addresses were much enjoyed by the large congregations present. This is his first visit to this part of the world, and he expresses himself delighted with the maritime provinces in general and Dorchester in maritime provinces in general and Dorchester in particular. He left on Monday for a trip to the upper provinces, after which he will return to Newfoundland. Hon. P. A. Landry, M. P., and Mrs. Landry left for Fredericton last week, to visit Mrs. Landry's father, who is reported seriously ill. They have not yet returned to Dorchester. Mr. W. W. Wells paid a short visit to Frederic-ton last week, on business connected with his pro-fession. He returned on Saturday, and left again for a trip to St. John on Monday. Rev. J. R. Campbell left on Monday for a holiday tein to Nova Scotia, seeking rest after his hard year's

Campbell left for Nova Scotia on Mon-day, to be one of a surveying party under the charge of Prof. Butler, of King's college, Windsor. He will be away for some weeks. Mrs. D. L. Hanington gave the first of a series of tennis parties, Monday afternoon, on the lawn be-low her house. The party, though not at all large, was much enjoyed by those present, and the balls were kept going merrily from 3 o'clock till half-past 5, when ice-cream and other refreshments were served on the lawn. These disposed of, play was resumed and kept up till approaching darkness made anything but a certain one, and a damp wind suggested thoughts of home and mother. The same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram W. Palmer gave a very pleasant dance at their beauti-ful place in the outskirts of the town. It was at first proposed to dance on a pavilion, which had been built outside the house, in the middle of a beautiful grove of oramental trees, but the evening pit was a mass of tall white lilics, while pond lilics were in profusion. These flowers were gathered by Rev. J. Vincent at Middy Temps lake. A large number of people who were unable to attend church there visited the place at the close of the service. Lewis Wadsworth, jr., of Chelsea, Mass., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Bailey. Mr. B. L. Eaton, who is engaged in business at Mott Haven, N. Y., has returned home. Mrs. Louise Bradley is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Waite. Mrs. Waite gave a charming drive and dinner at "Oak Haven" last Friday, to a large number of friends.

DIGBY, N. S.

[PROGRESS is for sale in Digby at b rs. Gille. brand's.]

JULY 17 .- As I was unavoidably prevented from sending you a letter last week, I will have to give you a fortnight's news this time.

Digby people are anxious to know who is sending an account of their doings to PROGRESS, but up to date I have not heard that they have been very success-ful. One lady said the other day, "We must be careful for fear that horrid Jack might be around and put us in print." I am afraid she will be shocked when she sees this. The first large party of the season was given last week at "Hawthorne villa." With Mrs. Lynch for hostess, ably assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Robert-son, of New York, and Miss Pickman, it could not fail to be (as it was universally acknowledged) an unqualified success.

St. Andrews, for a short visit.
Mrs. S. J. Smith gave a delightful dance last evening to a few of her friends and their visitors. The evening was cool and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.
Mrs. Henry Hill, with her family, have gone to Campobello to spend a few weeks for the benefit of the sea air.
A party of young ladies from St. Stephen attended the hop given at the Algonquin hotel, St. Andrews, on Saturday night. Among them were Miss Nettie Murchie, Miss Tucker and Miss Cora Algar.
Mr. Bradley Eaton, who so recently went into business in Mott Haven, N. Y., has returned to Calais for a short visit.
Mis Honor Judge Stevens returned on Saturday after an absence of some weeks in Carleton county, where he has been holding court.

She has been absent since last fall, visiting in Wash-ington, Boston and the state of New Hampshire. The ladies of St. Anne's church, Calais, had a very successful supper on Thursday evening, for the benefit of their church and the handsome sum of $87 was realized.

It is said that one of our favorite young ladies is receiving congratulations of a very pleasant char-acter, and that the vicinity of Montreal will be her home in the near future.

The friends of Mrs. Samuel Gilmore were greatly shocked this morning to hear of her sudden death which occured last night. She was a most estimable lady and will be much missed in her family and among her friends.

Miss O'Malley, of Fredericton, is the guest of Mrs. Hugh Cullinen.

Mrs. Henry Eaton on Monday afternoon, enter-tained a large party of friends with a picnic supper, at her summer cottage by the riverside some four or five miles below Calais.

Mrs. Edwin B. Todd, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Smith, of Richibucto, are at the Algonquin,
