SOCIAL AND PERSONAL. EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN NEW BRUNSWICK AND NOVA SCOTIA.

And the Happenings in Social Circles of Fredericton, Moncton, Woodstock, Dorchester, St. Stephen, Sussex, Amhrst, And the Happenings in Social Circles of Calais, Etc.

On Tuesday evening a large number of the congregation of the Mission Chapel, together with a number of their friends, gathered in the schoolhouse to give their much loved pastor, the Rev. J. M. Davenport, a hearty welcome home, after his four months visit to the old country. Looking at the happy faces of both priest and people, it was hard to judge who was feeling most pleased. As a token of the good will of the latter towards Mr. Davenport, a handsome dinner set, was presented to him, for the good will of the latter towards Mr. Davenport, a handsome dinner set was presented to him, for which he thanked them most heartily in a pleasant speech. This was followed by a few remarks fr m Rev. Mr. Mathers, Mr. H. Frith, Rev. Mr. Raven and Mr. I. Allen Jack. After refreshments were partaken of, the singing of the doxology closed this most enjoyable entertainment.

Mr. Davenport, despite a very rough passage across the Atlantic, is looking unusually well. He arrived in St. John on Sunday morning, but not in time to take his duties at the morning services. He preached to a large congregation in the evening Rev. Mr. Raven, who has been duty at the Mission Chapel during Mr. Davenport's absence, left for Halifax on Wedneaday last.

I stated in error, last week, that Mrs. Flood would receive her friends on Monday last, but I understand she will not do so until next Monday.

on Tuesday afternoon a number of young ladies met together at the residence of Mrs. D. J. Seely, Dorchester street, for the purpose of doing fancy work for Christmas and having 5 o'clock tea. Each young lady interested will take her turn in having a meeting at her house till the work of making Christmas gifts is completed. Christmas gifts is completed.

On Wednesday a most enjoyable dance was given by Mrs. and Miss Hatheway at their residence Coburg Street. Cards of invitation had been sent to upwards of 60 guests, and with very few excep-tions all put in an appearance. The floors of the dancing rooms were well waxed while over the spacious hall a linen was stretched, making it equally good. A handsome supper as well as refreshments throughout the evening was served in the large dining room, and with the exception of a break to enjoy it, dancing was kept up until 2 o'clock to excellent music. I have not been able to obtain an exact list of all who were fortunate enough to receive invitations to this pleasant gathering but will mention a few who were present:

The cantata, "The New Flower Queen," which has been the subject of general conversation for some time here, was held in the City Hall on Tuesday evening, a large audience being present. The stage was prettily trimmed with spruce. In the centre an arch was crected, which was covered with evergreen and roses; underneath the arch a throne was placed for the Queen of Flowers, who was represented by Miss Minnie Beatteay.

For out door sport there is the fire engine conflict, with Mr. Ronald and Mr. Wilson, of the rival engines, in the gladiator act, backed by the entire town council, and last Saturday the engines them selves engaged in a "catch as catch can," trial of strength opposite the post office; while Moncton's for hundred looked on in awe-struck silence, and the reverse of pale pink surah, which was very becoming to her dark hair and eyes and pretty complexion.

whole foundation of the social system has been spongy with bread and luscious with butter, while coffee has poured forth in an appetising and never ending stream, and the feast of reason and flow of soul have been something unparalleled in the annals of the town. Indeed—I say it with sorrow—this nals of the town. Indeed—I say it with sorrow—this has almost ceased to be a temperance town, for the higher circles of Moncton society have become flagrantly intemperate lately, in the use of bread and butter. If it were possible to become intoxicated from a too free indulgence in the product of the flour barrel and the churn, I fear we should have some striking instances of depravity in high life.

Another favorite form of dissipation, is whist, and it is a lonely and a wasted evening, on which there it is a lonely and a wasted evening, on which there is neither a whist nor a bread and butter party, for instance.

Last Friday, Mrs. J. R. Bruce entertained the West End whist club in her own charming manner. Last evening, Mrs. E. M. Estey entertained the East End whist club, who spent a delightful evening. The Bread and Butter club met and rejoiced at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Nevins, last Wednesday evening, and I believe they convene at Mrs. J. L. Harris' tonignt.

There are rumors of another party for Friday evening, and Saturday for rest—and "scrubbing of the floors, O!"

But there is another side to the picture; and while some have been dancing the hours away, others have been keeping sad vigil behind closed blinds, with grief stricken hearts-
