

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN ST. JOHN AND HALIFAX.

And the Happenings in Social Circles of Fredericton, Moncton, Richibucto, Dorchester, St. Stephen, Milltown, Bathurst, Sussex, Amherst, Truro, Calais, Etc.

Before commencing my column of news this week I wish to apologize for an erroneous statement made by me in last Saturday's issue with reference to a wedding which was reported would take place one day this week.

Mrs. Beddome (Moncton) is paying a visit to St. John.

Miss French arrived from Philadelphia last week, and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. MacLachlan, Coburg street.

Mrs. H. J. A. Godard, who for the past few months has been going through a course of study to fit her for the stage, under Dion Boucicault, in New York, has returned to St. John for the summer months, and has so far perfected herself as to appear before a St. John audience with a professional troupe, and give much pleasure to all who witness her performance.

Dr. and Mrs. Laches and family are residing in Westfield for the summer months.

Miss Lizzie Gilbert and Miss Nellie Jarvis have returned from school to their homes for the summer vacation.

Mrs. W. H. Merritt, accompanied by her friend, Miss Ada MacDonald, leave by the Furnessia of the Anchor line, the first of July, to make a short tour in Europe.

Lady Tilley leaves on Monday for St. Stephen, and will be unavoidably absent on Tuesday the 25th but will return before Tuesday the 2nd of July.

Mrs. Blair, (Ottawa) is spending the summer in St. John, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Crookshank, Sydney street.

Mr. and Mrs. Manchester and family left on Monday last for England, where they intend spending some time.

Mr. W. H. Tuck and Miss Tuck have returned from their visit to Boston.

Mr. W. Brunswick Sanction, of New York, is visiting his relatives in St. John.

Miss Wheeler has returned from Boston, where she has been for some weeks.

Sir William and Lady Ritchie and family arrived from Ottawa on Thursday, and will reside at their residence, Quispamsis, for the summer months.

Mrs. John Chipman, of St. Stephen, daughter of Sir Leonard Tilley, spent a few days in St. John this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Street are residing in St. John for the summer, and are living at Chipman place.

Hon. T. R. Jones has returned from Boston, where he went to see his daughter, who has been ill with typhoid fever. Miss Jones is, I am glad to say, rapidly recovering.

Miss Snowball (Chatham) was in St. John during the week, to be present at her brother's wedding.

Mrs. Simon Jones and Miss Katie Jones are visiting New York, where Mrs. Jones has gone for the benefit of her health.

On Wednesday last a quiet wedding took place in the Centenary church, when Mr. W. B. Snowball, of Chatham, and Miss Mary Harrison, daughter of Rev. F. Harrison, of Woodstock, were united in marriage. Mr. McD. Snowball acted as best man, and Miss Louise Fisher was bridesmaid.

One of the largest and most fashionable weddings that have taken place for some time in St. John was solemnized on Wednesday last in Trinity church, when Miss Fanny Houston King, eldest daughter of Mr. S. T. King, and Mr. S. L. Richey, of the Bank of Montreal (Chicago), were married.

Admission to the church was by ticket and as only a limited number was issued, many who were not able to procure them took up their position on the steps of the church door, and satisfied themselves with a passing glimpse of the wedding party as they entered and left the building.

Some of the immediate friends of the bride had tastefully decorated with flowers the lectern of the church, in front of which the first portion of the marriage service was performed.

As the bridal party entered the church, a large and efficient choir of voices sang most beautifully the usual wedding hymn, to music composed by Mr. Thos. Morley, as was also the closing hymn. The rest of the singing under Mr. R. P. Strand's conductorship, was very well rendered, especially the closing Amen, arranged by Dr. Stanner.

Punctually at 5.30, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father and attended by three bridesmaids—Miss Richey, Miss Warner, and Miss Nutt, (Boston), entered the church, looking remarkably well in an elegant gown of rich white satin trimmed with duchesse and point lace.

Almost the entire front was covered with a wreath of lilacs of the valley. Her bouquet was of white roses and maiden hair fern. She wore a pendant in the form of a daisy studded with diamonds, the gift of the groom.

The maids' dresses were of white net over silk skirts and diaphanous coats of brocaded silk. Their hats were composed of net and lace, with flowers corresponding to those carried in their hands, being baskets, one filled with marguerites and the others with pinks and roses. They each wore gold pins in the form of a four-leaved clover, the gift of the groom.

The groomsmen were Mr. M. B. Edwards, Mr. F. H. Hartt and Mr. T. Kirkwood. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and guests, of whom there were nearly a hundred, repaired to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. King, Germain street, to offer their sincere and hearty congratulations to the bride and groom and partake of the very elegant repast which awaited them.

lady readers who usually like to hear of anything in the way of fashion) I will describe some of the most striking dresses.

Mrs. King (mother of the bride) was attired in a dress of stone grey faille Francaise, trimmed with rich brocade of the same color, with lapels and facings of crimson plush, with bonnet to match, and carried a magnificent bouquet of crimson roses.

Mrs. Stratton (sister of the bride) wore a very handsome dress of pale blue, the petticoat being composed of fish-net and old rose ribbon, while the train was of rice blue brocade; bonnet of old rose net and feathers.

Mrs. George Coster wore a most becoming costume of white serge, trimmed with gold pasmenterie, vest of white silk; poke bonnet of green straw, trimmed with blush roses, and bouquet of the same flowers.

Mrs. Murray was attired in an elegant gown of pale blue moire, made en train, with bonnet of cream and blue crepe.

Mrs. George Smith wore a dress of rich black satin, with steel embroidery; bonnet of black lace and pink roses.

Mrs. E. T. Sturdee wore a very handsome dress of terra cotta satin and plush, made en train, with bonnet of white lace and ostrich feathers. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Jarvis was very tastefully dressed in pale blue Alpaca, embroidered with white. Togaue of white lace and feathers.

Mrs. Hazen wore black Spanish lace over black satin; bonnet of old gold. Bouquet of marigolds.

Miss Hazen's dress was of black grenadine with vest and sash of pale green; hat of green straw, trimmed with pink roses, bouquet of pink flowers to match.

Miss MacLachlan wore a dress of pale green de-laine, vest of white silk with green bonnet to match.

Miss Mary Sturdee wore a costume of white serge with gold embroidery; diaphanous hat of white velvet trimmed with ostrich tips and ribbons.

Miss Bayard's dress was of green silk, trimmed with old gold lace, with bonnet to match.

Mrs. Thomas Temple wore a rich black satin with jet trimmings; bonnet of bright scarlet lace and feathers.

Miss Adams was attired in white serge, trimmed with robings of blue; hat of white straw and feathers.

Miss Florrie Adams wore pink muslin, sash to match, and hat of white straw, trimmed with pink feathers.

Mrs. Drury, dress of dark green, with best of pale pink, and bonnet to match, trimmed with wild roses.

Miss Ella Drury wore a costume of dark grey, with green plush trimming; large leghorn hat, trimmed with white ribbon and feathers.

A very pretty but simple costume was that worn by Miss Florrie Boyd, made of white Swiss muslin, overpale blue, a kerchief of white muslin, and large straw hat with white plumes.

Miss Burpee also wore white Swiss muslin, with pink silk sash; hat of straw, trimmed with fine flowers of pink and white.

Miss McMillan's dress was of terra cotta China silk, spotted with white; bonnet of terra cotta and white to match.

Mrs. Vroom wore black satin, with vest and bonnet of old rose.

TEARSHED.

MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the book-stores of W. W. Black and W. H. Murray, Main street.]

JUNE 19.—The town seems very quiet this week, after the stir and bustle created by the visiting L. E.'s and their friends last week; and, by the way, let me express my regret that the ever erratic mails should have interfered once more with my plans and made my long and carefully written account of the festivities connected with the brotherhood meeting, too late for publication.

All I can say now is that they all enjoyed themselves thoroughly, and went away carrying with them many pleasant memories of Moncton and Moncton people, and I do not think they would be sorry if next year's meeting were to be held here again.

Since I wrote last, no less than three of Moncton's young people have entered into the flowery bonds of matrimony, which is a very fair showing for one week—and there are others to follow soon.

On Wednesday morning, Miss Kate Higman was married to Mr. Bliss Ward, of the train despatcher's office, I. C. R. Miss Higman is a most amiable and popular young lady, and Mr. Ward—well, he is a most fortunate young man—and Cecil Geyman joins with their numerous friends in wishing the young couple all possible happiness in their life journey.

On Thursday evening Mr. F. A. McCully, barrister, of the firm of Porter & McCully, was married at Sussex to Miss Lavinia Ryan, sister of Mrs. S. Hayward, of St. John. Mr. J. M. Knight, of Moncton, was groomsmen. Mr. McCully's many friends wish for his youthful bride and himself many years of happiness. Mr. and Mrs. McCully will take up their residence on Highfield street when they return.

Miss Murray, of Penobscus, is in town visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. R. Palmer. Rumor asserts that Miss Murray will take a party, only second to that of principal in a very interesting ceremony which takes place next week, and by which a Moncton maiden, and a young engineer of the Cape Breton railway will be made happy. I am not sure whether this sort of thing ought not to be discouraged. We cannot allow foreign competition in the shape of bold Cape Breton railway civil engineers to come in and carry off our girls under our very eyes. And yet, upon mature reflection, I really don't see what we are going to do about it, unless we send what few bachelors remain to us, down to Cape Breton to capture some of the angels there.

Talking of angels reminds me that Miss Maggie McKean went up to Quebec last Monday for a short visit, and I sincerely hope she will be home again today or to-morrow, as we are looking joyously forward to a large party on Friday evening and would miss Miss McKean's bright presence very much, should she be absent.

Mrs. Blair Botsford, of Amherst, spent some days in town last week, visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Nickerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot have moved into a house on Robinson street, where they will remain until next month, when Mrs. Talbot and her children will spend the remainder of the summer visiting friends in Fredericton and elsewhere. Good progress is being made with the work on the new rectory, and it is expected to be ready for occupation by November.

Mrs. Oliver Jones and family will spend some weeks, if not the entire summer, at St. Martin's beach. A number of others intend seeking rest and health in the salt sea breezes of Buctouche.

This summer the arrangement of trains is very awkward for business men who wish to live at Shediac, and attend to their business in Moncton. There is no train leaving Moncton in time to reach Shediac for tea, and to catch the morning train for town would necessitate getting up at half-past 6 in the morning, which, as we all fancy more families will remain in town this summer than usual. I believe Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Butcher will be among the number.

Probably spending Sunday in Shediac will be one of the fashionable diversions of the summer months, at least among those whose consciences will not allow them to take advantage of the Sunday excursions over the B. and M. railway.

Mrs. P. S. Archibald has issued cards for a large party next Friday, and all those fortunate people who are among the invited are looking eagerly forward to the day, sure, from past experience, of a delightful evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stavert spent Sunday in Neweastle, at Mrs. Stavert's home.

Mr. McKay, of the Merchants' Bank of Halifax, has been removed to St. John, his place in the Moncton branch being supplied by Mr. Rankine, of Charlottetown.

Mr. Astleigh Campbell, of the Bank of Montreal, at Brockville, Ont., is spending his holidays at his home in Moncton.

Mr. Wallace, of the Bank of Montreal, Moncton, returned last Saturday from his visit to Halifax.

Miss Shaw, of St. John, is in town visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Murray.

Mrs. Dr. Ross, was called to Londonderry, N. S., last Monday, by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. A. N. B. McLellan, arriving shortly after her.
