Mr. Charles Lee's friends will be glad to learn that his illness is not of a serious character, and that there is no truth in the street report that typhoid fever was the nature of his illness.

Miss Steeves from Liverpool, England, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. James Reed, Mt. Pleasant.

On Wednesday last a quiet but very pretty wedding took place in Centenary church, when Mr. George J. Clarke, editor of the Croix Courier, St. Stephen, was united in marriage with Miss Bessie McKeown, daughter of the late Rev. H. McKeown, of this city. Notwithstanding the early hour of 6.30 in the morning, quite a large congregation assembled to witness the ceremony. The bride wore a very becoming costume of dark green cloth, with hat to match, while the bridesmaids, Miss Harrison, of Fredericton, and Miss Maud McKeown, sister of the bride, wore dresses of terra cotta cashmere, with hats of the same color. Mr. W. C. Jordan and Mr. George Addy performed the duties of groomsmen. The bride was given away by her brother. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Evans, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. George M. Campbell, of Moncton. The musical portion of the service was very well rendered by the choir, of which the bride has been a prominent member for some years and as a token of the esteem in which she was held by its members. A handsome floral arch was erected by them for the bride to pass through. The choir, together with members of the congregation, presented the bride with a handsome silver service. Numerous other gifts were showered upon her, but perhaps the most significant was a piano, the gift of Capt. Clarke, brother of the groom. The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Boston, after which they will make St. Stephen their home.

Miss N. Burpee returned on Tuesday from Halifax, where she has been for some weeks.

Col. Armstrong, Dr. White and Mr. Chas. Harrison, of the artillery, have been visiting Quebec during the competitions.

[FROM OTHER CORRESPONDENTS.]

Wednesday morning, Mr. Geo. E. Withers, superintendent of letter carriers, was joined for life's journey to Miss Lillie S. Hopkins, daughter of Mrs. Susan Hopkins, by Rev. T. J. Deland. The floral decorations were very elaborate, some had some pieces having been presented for the happy occasion. Miss Rose Foster was bridesmaid, and the best man was Mr. A. Hopkins, cousin of the bride. Among the many substantial gifts was a marble mantel clock from the city letter carriers. Mr. and Mrs. Withers will spend their honeymoon at St. Andrew's Telegraph.

Miss Annie Logan, a young lady well and favorably known in Fredericton, and sister of Mrs. A. Logan, of this city, was married at her home, at St. John, last Thursday, to Mr. Hiram Finlay, a prominent and popular young business man of the sister city. Rev. L. G. Macneil, of St. Andrew's church, performed the ceremony. Only relatives of the parties were present at the marriage. There was no groomsmen, but Miss Logan was attended by her niece, little Miss Hazel Edgcomb. Mr. and Mrs. Finlay have gone to the upper provinces and the United States for their bridal tour, followed by the good wishes of very many friends.—Fredericton Farmer.

MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the bookstores of W. W. Black, and W. H. Murray, Main street.]

SEPT. 11.—I think, if the utter social stagnation that has enfolded Moncton for the past two months, continues just a little longer, other hands than mine will be doing my work, and I shall have furnished the new correspondent with a first-class "item," to the effect that "the brilliant social correspondent from Moncton committed suicide by drinking an entire bottle of his own ink, in despair at the death of news." Query: Is ink a deadly poison? And how much would be a fatal dose?

Just now we are revelling in our annual excitement, the St. Bernard's Bazaar. Once more the doors of the spacious hall that once resounded to the rattle of the roller skate and the timid yelp of the novice as she seated herself unexpectedly upon the hard unsympathetic floor, have been thrown invitingly open to the public, and all—who have ten cents to spare—are welcome. Again the Moncton Cornet band occupies its modest oval pen in the centre of the rink, which, with its lavish decorations of spruce, separating its occupants from the outer world, makes one think of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps' wonderful story Hedged In. Once more the pretty and important flower girl charms the quarters with an ease and grace that are only acquired by long practice, and the ubiquitous ticket seller, with pink ribbons and a fluffy bang, commands you to buy a ticket for a blue-eyed over-dressed doll which is being disposed of by lottery. Once more you pay ten cents for a teaspoonful of frozen corn starch, and twenty-five for the privilege of playing hide and seek with a lonely oyster lurking in a miniature lake of hot water and slowly suffocating with pepper. Three cheers and a tiger, all the same, for the indefatigable workers of St. Bernard's congregation. No one can make a bazaar different from what it always has been and always will be, and these brave ladies deserve all possible credit for their unwearied efforts to pay for their beautiful stone church. They have a most praiseworthy dread of debt, and if hard work will keep them free from it, they are willing to sacrifice themselves. So far they are meeting with marked success. More than 600 people attended on the opening night. An entirely novel feature this year is the opening of a pool for the most popular hotel proprietor. This is a wide field, and should prove a profitable one. There is a terrible rumor being whispered about town that someone is agitating a competition for the most popular—but it is in very small type, please—base ball player. Should this threat ever be put into execution, the result will undoubtedly be a golden shower for the bazaar, but chaos for the town, and work for the doctors.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Estey returned on Saturday from St. Stephen and St. Andrews, Mrs. Estey having accompanied her own particular knight during the Knights of Pythias excursion to those two towns. All the visitors express themselves so delighted with their trip and with the kindness and hospitality they met with, wherever they went. Moncton folks are always so good to strangers themselves that it is not to be wondered at if they are kindly received when they go abroad.

Mr. Owen Campbell, of the St. John branch of the Bank of Montreal, paid a short visit to his home in Moncton last week.

Mrs. W. E. Stavert departed last Thursday for Lunenburg.

Ladies' and Children's Dresses, Satens, Nuns veiling or Cotton cleans'd at Ungar's Steam Laundry.

TRURO, where she will spend the next two weeks visiting friends.

I fear that the death of Mr. J. S. Triles will break up one of the pleasantest households in town, as I understand that the widow intends making her home in future with relatives in Nova Scotia, while the other ladies of the family, Miss Triles and her widowed sisters, Mrs. Estabrooks and Mrs. Taylor, will, I fear, set up their household gods in distant cities. They will be more missed than I can tell. For Moncton can ill spare three of her ladies at one blow.

Mr. Will Cooke left town on Thursday night for Kingston, Ont., to enter on his final year at the Royal Military College.

Mr. Arthur Campbell, son of Mr. John Campbell, of the I. C. R., has returned from Brantford, Ont., and I trust he has come back to stay.

The many friends of Dr. Bridges will be glad to hear that he is able to be out again. I suppose the fever got frightened at the liberty it had taken in attacking a medical man, so it left at the earliest opportunity.

Miss Lefrugg, of Summerside, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George McSweeney, who, I am happy to say, has come back to remain.

Mrs. W. F. Mitchell, who came to spend a week or two in Moncton while Mr. Mitchell was acting manager of the Merchants' bank, has had a very unpleasant experience of our town, having been taken ill with fever shortly after her arrival. Fortunately the attack is a mild one, and as the invalid has the best of care and nursing, it is to be hoped she will soon be herself again.

Miss Thomson, of Quebec, is in town, visiting her sister, Mrs. C. J. Butcher.

I am afraid our young men are not so public-spirited as their fathers, for a number of them left town, on Monday, for the Toronto exhibition, just when we are on the very verge of an exhibition ourselves, too. Among the exodians were Mr. J. H. Harris, Mr. Wm. Humphrey, and Mr. W. J. Weldon. Perhaps they are laboring under the impression that the Toronto exhibition will be better worth seeing than ours!!!

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Osman and Miss Tompkins, of Hillsboro, paid a brief visit to Moncton on Saturday.

The Rev. J. H. Talbot, rector of St. George's church, left town on Monday, to attend the meeting

Dress Materials,

42 INCHES WIDE.

—AT—

Turner & Finlay,

12 KING STREET.

Everybody says that it is odd to begin the sale of new Dress Stuffs with a reduction. But we've done it; or, what is the same thing, we've made the prices of them about a third less than they were planned or intended to be—less than goods of the same class ever before were at the beginning of the season.

60c. INTRODUCTION

48 INCHES WIDE.

Next Monday we start the Fall business by submitting certain lines of new goods in various departments that will forecast our course for the Autumn and Winter.

It is the opening of the Fall business, in which we take the initial move next Monday, that turns this announcement into value.

All the while during the late Spring and Summer we've been buying in and laying away Autumn things. The time has come to show some of them.

And we've made another departure. We're showing the new moderate-priced goods NOW instead of waiting for the High Novelty Opening, as has been customary, and which won't take place for nearly a week to come.

We will be ready next Monday, September 9th. We invite visiting and inquiring, whether ready to buy or not. We shall accomplish our purpose now if we can even faintly demonstrate the great preparations we have made and the great advantages of such a store as this.

Monday next is the day for the Autumn go-off.

TURNER & FINLAY,
