CANADIAN AND LITERARY NOTES.

The Magazine of Poetry shows vital signs, having completed its second year, with the October number, and given its hopeful assurance of the future! In typography, in paper, in illustration and literature, this publication is of excellent quality, unique and valuable. Together with the heads of song, there are intermingled select members of a numerous choir; and if their friendly biographies sometimes overpraise them, the generous will not complain. Among poets, with portraits, there are in this number exhibited, Austin Dobson, Robert Burns Wilson, Susan Marr Spalding, Hezekiah Butterworth, Ella Higginson, Harriet McEwen Kımball, Lyman Whitney Allen, William Canton, Mrs. George Archibald, Mrs. E. V. Wilson, Frederic Werden Pangborn, Ella A. Giles. Alfred Percival Graves, William Cartwright Newsam, Joshua Gilbert Holland, David William McCort, Emelie Tracy Y. Sweet, Anna J Hamilton, Bessie H. Woolford, Salathiel C. Coffinberry. Among those without portraits are Stephen Henry Thayre, Charles Washington Coleman, Ada Langsworth Collier, Mrs. Isadore Gilbert Jeffery, Hjalman Hjorth Boyesen, Agnes Ethelwyn Wetherald, and Christina G. Rosetti. Besides these, there is found an excellent miscellany of current poems, bibliogryoly, and notes; also a list of the authors of prize quotations, and the names of the persons to whom the prizes were awarded, and the index to the completed volume. Published at Buffalo, N. Y., by Charles Wells Moulton; $2.00 a year.

The sole Canadian name given is that of Miss Agnes Ethelwyn Wetherald, to whose selected poems we find appended a biographical paragraph by G. Mercer Adams. Therefrom we learn that she was born at Rockwood, near Guelph, Ont., being of English descent and Quaker parentage. Part of her school days were in the state of New York. Prose, as well as verse, has engaged her pen, Lovell, of New York, having published a novel of hers, entitled The Algonquin Maiden. This work appearing in an English edition, has won high commendations from the London press. She contributes frequently to a variety of journals,—such as The Woman's Journal, The Christian Union, The Chicago Current, and The Week, and Globe, of Toronto. In the time of its prosperity, or at least of its existence, she appeared from time to time in the Canadian Monthly; and she now writes many articles which appear in the London Advertiser, and the Toronto Saturday Night. She is also known under the nom de plume of "Bel Thistlewaite." The reader who may not be familiar with it will perhaps be glad of this her song "To the First Canadian Wild Flower."

Oh, fairest thing in this great world; Oh, frailest thing that e'er unfurled Its heart with timid hardihood To all the rough winds of the wood; Least one, I dare not bless thee— Sweet one-nor dare caress thee,

My breath, my touch would surely be thy doom; But, oh! when Nature made thee In this untrampled shade, she Put all her wealth of beauty in thy slender spear of

Oh, bodiless! Oh, beautiful!

My heart is dull, and very dull,
What do I in this sacred place? How should I look upon thy face? And yet if thou should'st blossom Upon my lifeless bosom, In some fair spring, long, long years from today, 'Twould set my heart to beating, And o'er and o'er repeating, Ne'er from my soul such poems sprang as from my

Miss Wetherald's portrait appeared in the New England Magazine, in connection with Mr. Harte's article, and therein she is highly commended.

Is not Butler's Journal a dainty and well-spiced journalistic bit? As if he would neutralize "boiler plate," poems, and stories which begin enticingly, and end nauseatingly with a pill-advertisement, prosy columns of microscopic print, and all prevailing dullness, he has gone to the antedotal extreme, and journalistically speaks as if face to face. Mr. Butler being much of a poet, and a man of humor, and likewise a newsy man, has given us a mixture of sentiment, mirth and local gossip, all in the liveliest manner, throughout the pages of this little sheet, to which we wish prosperity. Who can tell where-unto it may grow? If the editor will beware of slang, and certain roughness of manner, he will still further improve the tone of what is already begun in an excel-

The Romance of Sir Richard and Other Poems is the second, if not the better, volume of verse given us by Mr. Arthur Weir. As the author of "Fleurs de Lys" he made his first appeal to the Canadian public, and was accorded recognition as among the first of our younger poets; and the new venture bids fair to add to his laurels. We may have future opportunity more particularly to describe it. It can by Messrs. A. & W. Hicks. be ordered from W. Drysdale & Co., publishers, 232 St. James street. Price $1.

The Magazines. The Book-Buyer for November contains, amongst other attractions, a sketch of the life and writings of Francis Parkman, historian and novelist, with a portrait of his strong, refined face. A bright article on literary topics in Boston, containing the novel suggestion that as novel writing is becoming so common, the novels of the future shall be numbered instead of named. A short synopsis of the contents of the Christmas Book-Buyer, which contains a promise of many good things to come. "English Notes" being a clever letter from London; "In the Library," Cyclopedia of have returned and resumed their duties.

Mrs. Walter Flewelling paid a visit to the city on music and Musicians, with illustrations from some of Wagner's best known opera's; "Literary Notes," "The Newest Books," with illustrations from A. J. Mounteney Jephson's charming Emin Pasha, and the Rebellion at the Equator. A portrait of Princess Bismarck, from Bismark in Private Life; another of Rubenstein, and one of the world-famous Ward McAllister; also a delightful portrait of Sir Edwin Landseer, with one of his canine friends looking over each shoulder; "Recent Fiction," "New Books and New Editions;" "Readings from New Books," "Books of the Mouth," and "The Literary Querist."

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the bookstores of W. W. Black and W. H. Murray, Main

Nov. 5 .- "The melancholy days" have come with a vengeance. Autumn leaves rustle crisply along the avenues, the fountain on Mr. Oliver Jones' lawn has long ceased its musical tinkle, and put on its winter ulster. The gates stolen by the boys on All Hallow Eve, are being gradually sorted out, and restored to their owners, and by the way the boys did certainly raise a racket on that festive evening. They did work which would have simply killed them, if the same amount of energy had seen expended on the paternal wood pile, a few of the residents of our town are so unfeeling, as to have front gates that wont come off, they are not intended merely as a summer luxury, to removed before the frost, but are fastened in place by patent hinges, so the poor boys had a hard time and very little fun when they attempted their removal.

The destruction in the canine ranks still continues; indeed, I believe the marshal is making a house to house canvass to find out the exact number of surreptitious dogs kept in town, shrewdly suspecting that the concealed pup languishing in the retirement of the woodshed, will give himself away by barking when the official ring is heard at the door. The many friends of the well-known small dog with the broken paw, who has long been a sort of "Child of the Regiment" in Moncton, will be delighted to hear that he has been spared by the destroyer. He has been taken in charge by kind friends, but whether fhey have loved him enough to pay his taxes, I know not. His cheerful disposition and cultured manners have endeared him to all classes, and, elevated him to the position of a sort of mascot, for the town. Moncton people are in fullest sympathy with the honors paid to the memory of St. John's young hero, and I have little doubt that if a subscription were opened here, in aid of the proposed memorial, it would meet with success; bravery and heroism, command recognition everywhere, and the railway town would not be found wanting in appre-

I have more departures to chronicle this week, and I hear of others still to come in the near future. Miss Harris left us on Friday last, to spend some weeks with her aunt, Mrs. E. A. Record, of Boston.
Miss Harris was joined at St. John by her friend, Miss Cougle, who will accompany her. The two young ladies also intend visiting friends in New York, and Miss Harris will remain until just before

Mrs. H. A. Price left town on Saturday for Montreal, where she intends spending some weeks with Mrs. C.J.Butcher returned on Thursday from her long visit to St. Stephen, and her friends are glad to have her back again. Speaking of Mrs. Butcher's return reminds me that it is definitely decided Miss Thomson will not return to our town this winter, greatly to the regret of the Moncton people, amongst whom she had so many friends. Miss Thomson will be greatly missed among all classes, she was universally popular and so ready to assist in all entertain-ments and to give her time and talents to the furtherance of any worthy object, regardless of denomination or classs that her absence will leave a very great blank in our society.

Mrs. T. W. Byers, who has been spending some weeks in St. John, returned to Moncton on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. John Gala returned last week from eir long visit to Mrs. Galt's home in Ontario.

Mrs. Salter, of Brooklyn, who has been spending some weeks in Moncton with her sister, Mrs. Folk, has gone to St. John to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thorne for a short time, before returning to her Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robb are in Campbellton, Mrs. Dykes Robb's numerous friends will be glad to hear that she is recovering from her recent illness, though she is still far from strong.

Rev. D. D. Moore at Singapore, East Indies, where he has been appointed army and navy chaplain. Mr. Moore will be remembered by Moncton people as the young Methodist minister, who married Miss Luttrell, and lost his wife under such sad circum-

Mrs. David Dickson still lingers in Shediac, detained, I regret to say, by illness. Her Moncton friends will be delighted to see her, whenever she has sufficiently recovered to return to town. I very much regret to say that I have heard on excellent authority, that the congregation of St. George's church are to lose their popular rector, the Rev. J. H. Talbot. I have not yet heard the reason of his proposed departure, but as he suffered greatly from rheumatism last winter, he may feel obliged to try a warmer climate. The removal of Mr. and Mrs. Talbot would be looked upon in Moncton as nothing short of a public calamity, as they have endeared themselves to all classes. I only hope my news

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel, who recently came to Moncton, in the place of Mr. and Mrs. James Mowatt, are spoken of as a great acquisition to Moncton society, and they have already made many friends. By and by, when our winter festivities begin, we shall doubtless have a better opportunity of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Daniel, than the merely formal may not be quite true.

By the way, I believe a very brilliant season is ooked forward to for the drive whist parties; they promise to be most enjoyable this winter, and the West End club is expected to begin operations very soon. More power to their elbow, may they live long and prosper.

The Rev. R. S. Crisp, of St. John, former pastor of the Methodist church here, delivered a lecture in the Methodist vestry, on Friday evening, to a large audience, who were glad to greet their late pastor again. The lecture was entitled, C. O. D., and was delivered in Mr. Crisp's own witty and attractive manner. Capt. J. E. Masters presided, and at the close a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. J. H. Wetmore and seconded by Mr. Lockhart.

Over 300 invitations have been issued for the occasion.

Admiralty house will again be the scene, next Wednesday, of another of those very pleasant "At Homes," for which Admiral and Mrs. Watson are so hospitable in extending to their friends.

The season of five o'clock teas has now begun. The residence of Judge Townsend was the scene of one of those pleasant gatherings last Thursday. Mr. Plunkett, the popular teller of the Bank of Montreal, has been ordered to Winnipeg. His genial countenance will be missed in Halifax society. Mr. W. T. Lawson, of T. & E. ### WOLFVILLE, N. S.

ACADIA UNIVERSITY, Nov. 5.—Never before in the history of the institutions at Wolfville, have their many friends had such just reasons for pride and gratitude. Holding now a foremost position among the institutions of learning in the maritime provinces, they bid fair in the near future to occupy a place beyond the most sanguine hopes of their many admirers. This year there is an enrolled list of nearly 300 students, the largest number ever in attendance; the graduating class of the college

Last week the Governors were in session making provision for the immediate needs of this rapidly growing University. Indeed, they are to be congratulated upon the amount of business transacted, the good accomplished in so liberally providing for the continued growth of the institutions. Upon nomination by the Senate, Mr. F. R. Haley, B. A., (Harvard) was appointed to the lately instituted chair of physics. Mr. Haley is a native of Yarmouth, N. S. He graduated from Acadia in '84. He was then appointed to the position of teacher in mathematics in Horton Collegiate Academy. After serving most creditably a term in this school, he pursued a post graduate course at Harvard University, where he graduated with honorable mention in the year of '86. Since that time Mr. Haley has provision for the immediate needs of this rapidly the year of '86. Since that time Mr. Haley has been engaged as teacher of mathematics in an important school in Norwich, Conn. He will, before actively engaging in his duties at Acadia, pursue a course of study in John Hopkins University, returning to Wolfville in Oct., 1891.

Another judicious step has been taken by the governors. At this session they wisely made provision for the permanent establishing of the departnent of elocution and vocal music. Mr. H. N. Shaw, whose connection with the insti-tution has been attended with such a marked degree of improvement on the part of the students under his care, has received the appointment as professor in this new department. This gentleman's ability is two well known to need more comment. Mr. Shaw is a graduate of the Boston School of Expression. Not alone his diploma and high recommenda-tions which he brings, but as well his faithful and successful labors as instructor of elocution in Acadia college during the past four years are sufficient warrant that the needs of this department have been wisely provided for.

The chair of Belles Letters is now being filled by Rev. W. H. Young, M. A., B. D. (Yale). The reverend gentleman has been here but a short time, but a start that is about the total contents.

reverend gentleman has been here but a short time, but even now there is abundant evidence that his eminent talents have found an agreeable place for action. Rev. W. H. Young was formerly pastor of the Metropolitan church in Washington, D. C. He comes to Acadia with a scholarly reputation. It is to be hoped that the governors, when they meet in June, may be so fortunate as to secure Mr. Young as a parameter member of the frequency in this University. as a permanent member of the faculty in this Uni Anxiously have we waited since the convention held at Yarmouth for the report of the com-mittee then appointed to make arrangements for the improvement of the Ladies Seminary. The committee has reported, the Governors of the University have taken action and now the immediate needs of this flourishing institution are being nobly met. The already large and well equipped building is found to be too small to meet the demands of the school and enlargement to meet the demands of the school and emargement is necessary. The Borden property which adjoins the Seminary has been purchased at a cost of $6,000. On this most desirable spot shall be erected the new building joining the old, making together a grand and creditable structure. This new addition to the Seminary will cost about $25,000, and now to the friends of education throughout these provinces goes forth the earnest appeal for assistance in erecting this much needed building. Mr. C.B. Whidden has headed the list met a handsome donation. Every room in the Ladies' building is now occupied, and the Principal of the school has had many applications for rooms after X mas. These new students will have to be provided with rooms in the town for the present; but next year adequate provision will be made whereby all may be accomodated on the "Hill." I must not forget to mention the new gymnasium built on the college grounds this summer at a cost of $1,500. This building is now being well furnished and equipped for work. Mr. 11. Y. Corey, of St. John, has been secured as director and instructor The president of the College has announced that training in the Gymnasium shall be considered as a regular class exercise to which all students shall be required to attend.

With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, therefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Perseverance in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most stubborn blood diseases yield to

"For several years, in the spring months, I used to be troubled with a drowsy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my being able to walk, the least sudden motion causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends and my family physician. I began the use of Aver's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated."-L. W. English, Montgomery City, Mo.

"My system was all run down; my skin rough and of yellowish hue. I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did any permanent good.
