MONCTON.

[PROGRESS is for sale in Moncton at the bookstores of W. W. Black and W. H. Murray, Main street.

Oct. 22.—There has been a perfect outbreak of weddings lately in our city. Indeed it seems to have taken the form of an epidemic. The latest victim to be seen upon a pinnacle of happiness is Mr. George McEwen, of the I. C. R. freight department, who was married last week at St. John, to Miss Jennie McEwen, of Moncton.

Now this is as it should be! In these days of McKinley tariff, and other schemes which threaten to sap the bulwarks of our Canadian constitution, it is good to see our youth and beauty patronizing home manufactures, and choosing life-partners from their own town. We are very proud of our Moncton boys. In fact, nearly as proud as we are of our girls; bless them! And the writer's candid opinion is, that if one is looking for perfection in their husband, or wife—as we all are—time will never come so near it as by choosing from the home market.

Mr. McEwen brought his charming bride home, dispensing with the hackneyed joys of a wedding trip, and the many friends of the young couple unite in wishing them all possible happiness.

Mrs. P. King, of River du Loup, who has been visiting friends in Moncton, returned home on Friday night.

The many friends of Mrs. W. C. Crossdale will be glad to hear that she is recovering slowly from her severe attack of fever. She is still a great invalid, but with care and patience, she will soon be quite herself again.

Mrs. Macalary, of New York, has been visiting her son, Mr. Albert Macalary, of the I. C. R., who has been so ill for some months past. Mr. Macalary intends returning to New York with his mother and entering a hospital for treatment. He is at present suffering from paralysis of the right side.

Mr. Arthur Boyd, son of Mr. Barclay Boyd, of St. John, who has recently been appointed to a clerkship in the Moncton branch of the bank of Moncton, entered upon his duties last week. Mr.
Boyd will no doubt be a welcome addition to Moncton's young men, and I think we shall all do our best to render his stay in our town as pleasant as possible.

Mr. W. B. Hinson, who delighted so many audiences in Moncton and adjacent towns with his justly celebrated lecture, "Mixed Pickles," brought out a new lecture last Thursday evening in the Baptist vestry. The subject was "Stanley in Darkest Africa," and the audience was large and appreciative.

Speaking of lectures reminds me that a well known public man—a vocalist, instead of a lecturer however—who lived for some years in Moncton, has come before the public once more, this time in the character of a shipwrecked voyager. Many people in town will remember Mr. and Mrs. Bainsfather when they were here. Mr. Bainsfather was employed in the railway offices for some time, and gave occasional concerts. The family sailed last year for Melbourne, Australia, to fill an engagement at the Melbourne Athenaeum, but were wrecked in the South Pacific ocean and spent seven weeks on an island inhabited by savages, being rescued finally by a government steamer. Their many Canadian friends will be glad to learn that they are now safely in Melbourne delighting Australian audiences with the "songs of Auld Scotland."

Mrs. A. H. Beldone returned on Saturday, with her two little daughters, from her visit to St. John.
Mr. James Cooke, younger brother of Mr. T. V.
Cooke, of the I. C. R., has resigned his position at Mr. C. T. Nevins' drug store and entered into business on his own account with Mr. C. Regan. The new firm have purchased the shop and business, of Mr. E. M. Estey, who was anxious to devote more time to the manufacture of his specialties. Mr.
Cooke is one of our boys, and though both members of the firm are very young, they have had a long experience in the drug business, and deserve every success.

The Rev. G. M. and Mrs. Campbell returned on Thursday by the C. P. R., from a fortnight's visit to the upper provinces, where they spent a delightful holiday.

Mr. George Taylor, general freight agent of the I. C. R., and his secretary, Mr. J. H. Wan, returned on Sunday morning from an official trip to Ottawa.

Mr. N. C. Corbett, of Moncton, arrived in Moncton on Sunday by the English mail train, after an absence of nearly a year. Mr. Corbett left Moncton last November for South America, whither he was called on business, and after spending the winter in that sunny clime, he visited England, coming out by the last steamer. Mr. Corbett enjoyed his trip immensely, and is looking all the better for the change.

Mr. Laforest, barrister, of Edmundston, is in town, the guest of his sister, Mrs. F. J. Forbes.
Mrs. B. Toombs and Mrs. G. V. Forbes, returned on Saturday from their trip to the Eastern States, having spent a most enjoyable fortnight.

on Thursday attending the meeting of the Moncton Curling club.

Antigonish water works, spent Sunday with his family in Moncton. CECIL GWYNNE.

A PRETTY FACE

And a graceful figure constitute a powerful attraction in a woman, and yet many women never stop to think that their misfitting gowns and an unhealthy complexion might be very much improved by wearing the new "Health" Undervests which are so highly thought of by the medical profession, that in most instances they have adopted their use in their own families.

Every first-class dry goods house has them for sale.

SELLING A PICTURE.

The First Difficulties of Sir John Millais
the Great Painter.

The real successes of life are often long delayed, but in a few fortunate cases they appear at length in such a pleasant guise as to be doubly welcome. When Sir John Millais, the painter, was at work upon his beautiful Ferdinand and Ariel, he was under twenty years of age, poor and by no means famous. One day a dealer who chanced to see the unfinished picture expressed great admiration for it.

"If I like it as much when it is finished as I do now," he said to the young man, "I'll give you a hundred pounds for it."

The artist was on tiptoe with joyful anticipation, and both he and his parents made a hundred dispositions of the money, so that it was soon spent, in imagination. As soon as the picture was completed the dealer was summoned to inspect it, and, it was to be hoped, pay his hundred pounds; but now came bitter disappointment.

"I said I would take it if I liked it," he announced. "I don't like it, and I won't buy it."

There was nothing for the artist to do but to swallow his disappointment as best he could. As for his parents, deprived of all hope of money which they greatly needed, they put in the window a sign, "Furnished Apartments," and tried to forget that they had been sure of better things.

Millais went on painting, downcast, but not discouraged, and one day another dealer appeared at the studio, accompanied by a pleasant old gentleman who seemed to know a great deal about pictures. This man listened sympathetically to the story of Millais' disappointment, and viewed the Ferdinand and Ariel with genuine appreciation.

"I want to present you with a book on art," he said, taking a small volume from his pocket. "Be sure you read it now. If you give me a pen, I'll write your name in it."

As he retired to the window to do so, the dealer took occasion to whisper to the young man that his visitor was Mr. Ellison, a wealthy and intelligent patron of art.
Presently the two took their leave, and Millais of course opened his book to see what had been written on the fly-leaf. Out fell a check for one hundred and fifty guineas.

Thus was the rejected picture sold, and in less than five minutes was the sign of "Furnished Apartments" torn from the window.—Ex.

WHERE LEPROSY IS COMMON.

Those Sections of North America Which are Infected by It.

Leprosy is most common in warm climates—in India, China, Africa, Madagascar, the West Indies and some islands of the Pacific. But it is not confined to warm regions. It is found in some Northern countries.

This disease, though slow in its progress, is generally fatal. It assumes one of three varieties. The first is characterized by tubercles in the skin and the mucous membrane, which at length ulcerate, while other ulcers are independently formed. In the second variety of the disease the surface of the body becomes numb and insensible, while severe neuralgic pains prevail inwardly. In the third variety, the joints are specially affected, and the limbs may be lopped off, though without pain, at the ankle, knee, wrist or elbow.

Leprosy is infectious, and its microbe has been discovered. The microbe has great vitality, as it has been found in bodies which had long been dead. The germs may be introduced into the system by inoculation, by inhalation, or with the food. Every case, therefore may become a centre of contagion.

Until within a few years no concern has been felt about leprosy in the United States.
But physicians now rightly sound an alarm.
The disease has obtained a foothold in New Brunswick on the north, in Mexico and Trinidad on the south, in California and British Columbia on the west, and in Minnesota in the very heart of our country, while an increasing intercourse with the Sandwich Islands, and our vast and indiscriminate immigration are removing us further from our former safe isolation.

Thus far few persons of the Anglo-Saxon origin have been attacked. In Canada and Louisiana it is the French who have suffered; in Minnesota, the Norwegians; in California, the Chinese. This exception is probably not due to any peculiarity of the race, but to better living; and with the present tendency to the multiplication and enlargement of cities, and with a national growth that may swell our pop
