PROGRESS, SECURENCE FULLY 26

themselves by taking more than a hundred, hooked so that they are not injured, and | three miles long, connecting the lake with returning them at once to the water. Last the winding river Magaguadavic. This year, the 60 visitors to the club house canal is about fifty yards wide and is navilanded 2530 salmon and trout. In one instance three men killed 65 in an afternoon, and three of the trout had a weight of ten pounds.

bit of country, it is simply a good instance of what may be found, on a smaller scale, perhaps, in other parts of the route traversed by the Shore Line railway. You reach, Inglewood by going to Musquash earth will flock to these fresh and salt water station and taking the old logging road to beaches. the lakes. While it is a private preserve, it is not difficult for any man who is a sportsman and a gentleman to procure an entree through some of the members.

2

wonders of the place is a natural canal, gable throughout its entire length. No safer or better spot for bathing can be found in all Canada, save perhaps one at While Inglewood is an exceptionally fine the peer of all others. The Shore Line bathing spots.

> The day cannot be far distant when those in search of the cooling spots of the regular intervals about the shores of Lake of western New Brunswick. Utopia. The water shoots so gradually that in many places a person can wade business is that of Messrs. Tayte, Meeting

BY INDUSTRY AND PERSEVERANCE What Tayte, Meeting & Co. Have Done in

It is but fitting that in such an edition of Progress as this, largely devoted to showing the beautiful scenery along the Shore line railway and with some description of Called Bah-Set.

New River Beach-which is acknowledged the country through which it runs, some attention should be given to the one inruns alongside both of these delightful dustry above all others that takes the foremost position in one of the most important centres of Charlotte County, St. George.

The granite industry has of late years assumed wonderful proportions in this place | plague of red fever. and the stone can fairly be considered as Sandy beaches half a mile long extend at one of the most important of the products

Among the most prominent firms in the

THE STRANGE RULERS THAT LED THE PEOPLE ASTRAY.

How They Marked Out Their Grounds-Sometimes Called Baseballists in This Section of the Province-A Legend of One

after the fall of the great roller rink, and the third month after the people in the land of Never-go-Back, had ceased from purifying themselves and their houses after the city of Munc-tun, who worshipped strange gods, and led the people astray.

And they builded fenced cities, wrought about with wire, even barbed wire, and they laid waste the land and the fertile fields, and strewed them with ashes, and beat them down.

And behold they marked out their fenced and placed unhallowed marks over them; and they took nets, even the woven nets which pertained unto the sea, where fishes are, and they stretched them; even though there was no sea anywhere at hand, neither fishes, and divers other evils wrought they in the city of the iron causeway; for behold, the people durst not withstand them, neither durst they give them in charge to diary, which is in the midst of the city.

And it came to pass that the strange rulers, which became even as a murrain, and a sore plugue in the city of Munc-Tun, gathered about them vain men, and even women and the children of Belial, and strengthened themselves against the godly in guests, even those who sit above the salt. and law abiding dwellers in the city.

For behold Frederic, the son of Some-Nur, which ruled the city, even the mayor, was young and tender-hearted, and could not withstand them.

And they were even as an army of men that bore deadly weapons, for they were armed with clubs and deadly missiles which were hard even like unto stones, with

And they were provided with strong helmets of wrought steel, with bars so they might see to smite the dwellers in Munc-Tun, and yet be defended, lest peradventure the worm might turn and the oppressed and downtrodden dweller smite back again.

And they wore gauntlets on their hands, and strange garments of unseemly fashion and divers colors, for they were of the race of gladiators and ungodly. Now it came to pass that the gladiators were forward and stiffnecked, likewise were their upper lips stiff, and their looks proud and haughty. And they cast out the priests of the land and did scoff at them, and they made them priests after the manner of other nations, and called their names umpires, which being interpreted means vampires, after orable mention of the erection of their new the ancient order of rats which did suck

So they laid the land under tribute of gold and silver and of copper coins, and behold they were like unto a great cloud of locusts which did devour every green thing before them, for there were many green things in the city of Munc-Tun, both of men and also of womeu, and even ot the high dignitaries amongst the people and mighty men of the land.

And the land groaned under the burden laid upon it, as did also the people.

And it came to pass that the wise men and the scribes gathered together in the market place and wagged their heads and plucked their beards withal, and took counsel together how they might rid the land of those who would devour it. And behold the clerk of the market did bear down upon them, and scatter them as it had been sheep.

And the clerk spake unto the scribes and wise men, and said: Go to, know ye not that there is a price fixed for standing in the market? even two pieces of silver of the value of one hundred copper coins each, so we may be the better able to find wherewithal to pay tribute to the gladiators; for behold the Scott Act fines are dwindled, and become exceedingly meagre since it hath been that Thomas the Lawyer hath risen up and defended the Scott Act, and peradventure it hath died of astonishment. Get you hence to your homes and disturb not the public peace.

And the wise men went to and got them hence, but they were exceeding wroth, and did vow vengeance upon the gladiators.

Now there were certain men of the town who called themselves athletes, and they were mighty men in their own eyes, and behold they bowed down before the gladiators. And did even prostrate themselves and made merry so that the people were before them. Nay, moreover they did minded to hale them to the court of the even feast them, and give them a banque at the inn which is called the Commercial, over against the river, lest peradventure and they filled themselves with bread and they be mistaken for the army which calleth flesh and choice food and strong drink, and they waxed merry, so that their heads were exceedingly swelled next day, neither could they wear their helmets until they had the hair of their heads shaved. Now there was among the strange rulers a prince in disguise who was a mighty man in his own by which he called himself was Bah-Sett. And there lived in the city a merchant who was a mighty man, and he rose up and Dyspepticure astonishes Chronic Dys-

land, but he wrestled with the club and the helmet of his own pleasure, and the name

made a feast, and bade unto it Bah-Set alone, because he was the most honorable. and of the rest of the gladiators he bade

And it came to pass that the merchant did go down himself in his chariot to fetch Bah-Set unto his house, and did bring him with great pomp, for he was a man who Now it came to pass in the fifth year loved outward show. And as he drove him up in his chariot, he parleyed with the great man of the gladiators, and did instruct him and he said.

Behold I know that my lord is a mighty man and swingeth the bat like unto none That there arose strange rulers in the other in the land, and that the plaudits of the grand stand ring in my lord's ears from the beginning of the game, even unto the ending of the same.

But my lord's lot hath been cast among the strong men, and the rough ones of the land, and because the house whereunto I am taking him is an exceeding stately house, and the people who are lodged there, of the cities with mysterious signs and characters, powerful and great ones, I give my lord what men call a tip, which is being interpreted that he look well to his manners, grand water power-about 200 horsethat he disgrace not the house.

> self, with many henchmen under me. I say to a clerk make! and immediately he maketh be handed over to the court of the Stipen- is mightier than I, he is even a retired noble danger incident to the use of steam. of high degree of the order of the F. F.'s, which is to say the First Families whose blood is blue in their reins and who stand high in men's eyes. And my wite is a great lady, and proud of her high lineage, and she demandeth great exactness of demeanor

> And so it was that I was minded to ask also the squire to my feast, but when we ate together at the inn which is called the of the shops, and is ingeniously and Commercial, behold he dipped his knife in the platter and did lift his food even to his lips with it.

Thus, because my wife is a haughty woman, I durst not ask him to the feast women, in wrath. So let my lord take to the Bay of Fundy Company. heed unto himself and call to mind all that he hath learned in his childhood of the manner of eating victuals, so may he appear to advantage in my house. Now, it came to pass that Bah-Sett arose and was exceeding wroth.

And he said, Behold it is I, even I, who do thee honor in coming to thy house; my mother is a greater woman than thy wife, and she owneth flocks and herds, even to buy seven towns like unto Munc-Tun thrice over, and I am a prince who learned to hurl stones with my right hand and with my left, of mine own pleasure, and not for shekels of gold or silver, and my manners well may cause thee wonder, seeing they are the manners of kings, tables of which thou knowest naught, thou and all thine house. Nevertheless did Bah-Sett allow his wrath to be appeased, for he also was a young man and tender of heart; so he did eat with the merchant and all his household, and they bowed before him, and did

And Bah-Sett went down even unto his inn, and amongst his companions and consulted with them; and said, Behold, I have been even amongst the Philistines, and even thus do I shake the dust off my feet.

And it came to pass that the scribes and the wise men were moved with jealousy, and they wagged their heads and said unto one another Tush! we have never been bidden to a feast in this merchant's house, we will fall upon the gladiators and rend them.

And forthwith they sent out into divers countries and did gather together brave men and warriors clad in raiment of scarlet and gold, wrought about with fine needlework, so that the people did turn from the strange rulers, and bow down before the soldiers and warriors, and did burn incense

And it came to pass that the fenced cities and temples of the gladiators were deserted, and the jackals, and calves, and fat bulls of Basau, did wander about in their courts, and become entangled in their nets, and behold the grand stand did rot and fall into decay, and the birds of the air, even the geese and the hens, did build their nests, and rear their young in the helmets of the gladiators, for their power was minished, and their glory departed from

And Bah-Set girded himself with sackcloth, and put ashes on his head, and went out from the city mourning. And the land had rest.

Then the scribes and the wise ones rejoiced, with the cornet and with trumpets and with cymbals, and also with tambourines, stipendiary which is in the midst of the city itself of the salvation. Selath! This is writ of the chronicler of the city of Munc-Tun, and his record is true.

Striking at the Root of the Evil. Smith-Say, Brown, you seem to be growing bald very rapidly. Why don't you try some remedy? Brown-I am going to. I went and saw a divorce lawyer this morning.—Siftings.

Don't be discouraged about that eczema till you have given Ayer's Sarsaparilla a persistent trial. Six bottles of this medicine cured the complaint for George S. Thomas, of Ada, Ohio, when all other remedies failed to afford any relief .- Advt.

TO THE FRONT ALWAYS.

THE IMMENSE ESTABLISHMENT OF MESSRS. MILNE, COUTTS & CO.

Their Buildings in the Shape of a Quadrangle-The Shaft Driven by a Water Power Equal to 200 Horse-power-Their Quarries and Quantity of Stone in Them. It would not do to pass over the Red Granite industry of St. George without especial reference to the extensive part taken in the quarrying and manufacture of the stone by the Bay of Fundy Red Granite company, or more properly, Messrs. Milne, Couts & Co.

To give some adequate description of their lands and buildings, their quarry and machinery, would take more space than Progress can give the subject, but a fairly comprehensive sketch of their business is what will be attempted.

The works are situated on the bank of the Magaguadavic river, right above the falls, and but a step from the main street of the town. Their location gives them a power-which can be utilized every hour Behold I, even I, am a mighty man my- of the year, if necessary. It would be difficult to explain the immense advantage such a natural power is to a business of and the milk maketh and formeth itself into | this kind, saving the entire expense of fuel and costly engines and boilers, the em-But my father-in-law, with whom I dwell, ployment of engineers, and avoiding all the

> The workshops themselves are in the form of a quadrange, the inner area of which is covered by a large "Traveler" which is used to carry the granite wherever it is wanted. About this area are the polishing shop, the granite cutting shop, the blacksmith, machine, and pattern shops, and the business offices. The polishing shaft extends through the entire length strongly supported by transverse beams supported on posts sunk in the ground and resting on granite blocks.

To speak of the quarries and give some idea of the quality of granite in them it least peradventure, she be scandalized, would be best to quote the words of a civil and arise from the table, she and her engineer who surveyed the grounds ceded

It is utterly impossible to estimate the quantity of first rate merchantable red granite contained within the limits of the land ceded to the company. It is ledges, the outcrops of which represent from 5,000 to 100,000 tons each, while as to Grav's Mountain. which I estimate at 700 feet above the lake, being half a mile long and a quarter of a mile broad, and lake, one mile long and three-eights of a mile wide. you will easily credit me when I say that the mind can hardly conceive the immensity of their contents, and an estimate would be merely a useless piling up

I may note, for your information, that the Granite on the land ceded to the Company is perfectly free. so far as I have been able to see, from those spots and veins which occasionally disfigure the Peterhead (Scotch) Granite, and that, generally speaking, the ledges appear to be perfectly homogeneous or to lie in large rectangular slabs and blocks, generally inlined at an angle of about 30° from the North to-

Orders from all parts of the United States and Canada come to Milne, Couts & Co. daily. They have all they can do, and keep 75 men employed all the time. Since they started they have quadrupled their capacity and there is no saying where proper management cannot place such a business in the future. They cater to the wholesale trade and dealers, and always have their hands full.

The work is all carried on under the personal supervision of the firm, and is always of the first class. Their facilities for doing heavy work are superior, and their prices for the same as low as any.

INVERY SKIN AND SCALP DISEASE, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, is speed-ily, permanently, and economically cured by the great Skin Cure, Cuticura Soap, an exquisite Skin Skin Purifier and Beautifier, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. This is strong language, but true.

35c.; RESOLVENT, $1.50. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, BOSTON, MASS.

Pimples, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by Cuticura Soap. Rheumatism, Kidney Pains and Muscular CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 30c.

Wherever known

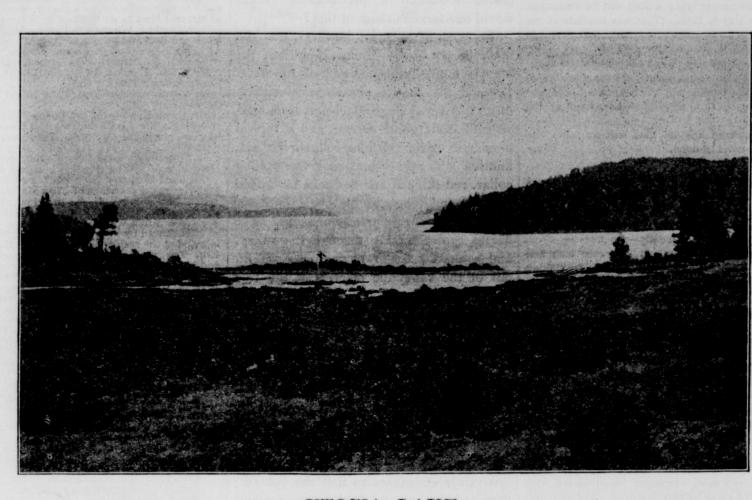

DYSPEPTICURE

is already a Household Remedy.

DYSPEPTICURE

is fast becoming known everywhere.

ADVERTISE IN PROGRESS.

UTOPIA LAKE.

saw mill in a country of saw mills. Its elegant drive way. glory departed by as simple a thing as a match in the hand of an incendiary. With the possible exception of the Liverpool river, in Nova Scotia, there is no such water-power to be found in the maritime provinces, while there is no exception to it as regards its facilities for shipment by land and water. Some day the enterprising Yankee will acquire it, just as he has acquired Inglewood, and people will wonder why it was that they never recognized its value. Bonny River, about six miles above St. George is one of the prettiest spots on the railway. It has been called one of the resting spots on the earth. While near enough to the busy world to keep au tourist can find comfort and solitude in as pleasant a bit of country as the province great natural falls below the town where Line, St. George, is that summer paradise, tractions on the line of railway. A curious 70x80 feet, and is considered to be one of foot of a bluff which has a perpendicular face 150 feet in height. Here the best fishing is to be had, and at the foot of the bluff several American parties have already found their way and established splendid

Lake Utopia is but the largest of a continuous chain of equally beautiful sheets of water. There is a chain of smaller lakes, which includes those known as Mill Lake, Dam Lake, Clear Lake, Crazy Lake, Red Rock lake. There is splendid fishing in each and all of them, and they well merit the name of the sportsman's paradise. St. George itself is rapidly growing in business importance, and is located about courant with the events of the day, the half-way between St. John and St. Stephen, the present terminus of the road. The the waters rush over a precipice nearly mill, a building situated in what is known the blood of men and of young children. Nearer one of the centres on the Shore 60 feet high is one of the chief scenic at- as "The Gulley." It covers an area of Lake Utopia. The beauty and advantages | feature of the rocky sides of the cataract | the most convenient and best located struc-

Six miles beyond Musquash lies Lepreau, out 100 yards before deep water is reached. & Co. Their efforts to build up a good which in the days when lumber was king The bottom is perfect. On the shores the business have been eminently successful had what was by all odds the finest beach is so hard that it would make an and at the present time they can point with which they maimed and slew the peaceful considerable pride to the substantial results | dwellers in the land. of their industry and perseverance.

> The firm is composed of three gentlemen, viz: A. R. Tayte, Joseph Meeting and Nicholas Meeting. Every men is a practical worker and understands his business, as the saying goes, from A to Z. Perhaps to this fact as much as any other do they owe their unqualified success.

Five years ago the business started with only two workmen beside themselves. Today they give regular and constant employment to 40 hands. When this fact is associated with another, that all of their workmen are natives of the place, those who read this will appreciate just how great an advantage such a business is to the flourishing community of St. George. It was only a short time ago that local papers and correspondents made such fav-of this favored spot have been sounded far is the wonderful correspondence of the tures in the business. It is here that the and wide, and many of those seeking quiet and recreation in the summer months have found them there. Long ago before the forest was broken, and even before this province received its present name. large grants of land in this section were given to the soldier settlers of her Majesty. The Crown knew nothing of the country, neither arrived to take up their grants they find their way to the town, while at low in the middle of a great lake some miles long and wide. They bestowed the name Utopia upon the sheet of water, signifying "no place." At this latter day the word Utopia has a far different significance, meaning "ideal perfection." The last is even better than the first, for surely no country comes nearer to the dream of the tourist than that about Lake Utopia.

LINTON MILLS, NEAR BONNY RIVER

The sportsman and the artist can both find their heart's desire here, for the lake abounds with splendid gamey trout, and the banks and country about are more beautiful than pen can picture. One of the convulsion of nature rent the rocks work can be understood. apart and formed the present fall and

Dyspepticure is certain in its effect.

St. George Basin shows the wonderful rise and fall of the tide in the Bav of did the settlers, and when the latter Funday. At high water small steamers tide the flats are bare of water.

Did space permit a hundred beautiful spots along the Shore Line might be described in this article. From the views presented herewith and the inadequate description some idea can be gained of the advantages of the untried summer retreats in Charlottee County. Easy of access, they yet present all the tourist is looking for. They are the summer paradise of the near future. The evils resulting from habitual costiveness are projections and niches which cannot fail to cutting and polishing is done, and when it impress a sightseer with the idea that at is known that the firm can utilize 100 horse some time in the earth's history some power, its capacity to do heavy and much What speaks loudest for the character of their work, and their prices is the fact that they are always seeking to extend their premises to accommodate the trade they

Their quarry is located two miles above the town in close connection with the railway. Eight men are always employed here getting out stone for their own work. To return to the works of Messrs. Tayte, Meeting & Co.; they have lately put in a lot of new machinery, and even with this addition which enables them to execute orders much more promptly than ever before, they know that more machinery will be required in the near future.

There can be no possible reason, therefore, to doubt their assertion that they can quote hard bottom prices to the wholesale and retail trade.

Mr. Joseph Meeting is the competent designer of the firm and has always done first class work.

many and serious; but the use of harsh, drastic purgatives is quite as dangerous. In Ayer's Pills, however, the patient has a mild but effective aperient, superior to all others, especially for family use.