THE TAYLOR SAFE VERSUS BURGLARS AND FIRES.

Their Exhibit in the Building one of the Sights—Beauty of Workmanship—Where Bankers get Their Safes when They Want Security.

There are few exhibits in the building more attractive than that of Messrs. J. & J. Taylor, safe makers, Toronto. Their space at the end of the main hall of the new building is neatly enclosed and well presented to the throngs that gather and watch with eager curiosity, the enemies of burglars and fire.

A lady of sharp features and rustic simplicity mistook the polished decorations of the interior of the burglar proof safe, and inquired innocently of the jovial Mr. Robbins: "Are them freezers. I want to buy a freezer. How much are they?"

"About $400, madam."

"Oh, dear! And will they keep things safe, and nice and cool?"

"Oh, yes; they will keep anything cool very cool—that is put into them."

"Well, well. I must bring my husband to look at them."

An open catalogue on one of the safes showed PROGRESS a list of all the important banks or Canada in which Messrs. Taylor have their safes. Bankers have come to realize that theirs is the only reliable Canadian safe. Merchants and others can refer to them for its general excellence.

The exhibit is handsome throughout but the wide open door of the jewelers, fire and burglar proof safe with its highly polished fittings attracts the attention of everybody who passes and they listen to Mr. Robbins lucid explanation with much attention.

Burglars have found out that some safes are easily opened by the very simple device of closing the entire crack about the door with putty, and then by using an air pump insert some liquid explosive which will blow the door off. To overcome this simple trick, the Messrs. Taylor have made the door of this safe press against a number of layers of rubber, which make it impossible for any substance to be injected. The door is pressed tightly against this rubber packing by means of an eccentric lever pressure, and a peculiar hinge, which, instead of being at the side of the door, extends to the centre. When the eccentric lever pressure is applied the door is pressed firmly against the rubber packing, and the safe is burglarproof. In addition this safe has the patent enlarged lock spindle door handle, which prevents it from being driven in or pulled out.

Besides the burglar proof safe the exhibit includes three other fire proof safes. In fact the exhibit is so large that the directors hesitated before placing it all in one place in the building. They have consequently located it in two places both of them prominent—but not too prominent for such an exhibit which would do credit to any space in the buildings.

The peculiarity of the Taylor fire proof safe is that the outside is made entirely in one piece securely riveted and bound in angle iron, the peculiar shape of which admits of tonguing and grooving. The new tongue and groove door with non-conducting flange is the latest of the improvements. It was adopted by Taylors after severe practical test and adopted to meet such fires as those in Chicago and St. John. The weakest part of all safes is the door, the difficulty being to prevent the heat from passing through between the door frame and the jambs.

The door is constructed with two tongues and two grooves within the walls of which is inserted a non-conducting material which completely breaks the metallic connection between the outside and the inside of the safe, and so effectually shuts out the heat, no matter how intense or prolonged. The perfect exclusion of the air is another strong point in favor of this safe, the door of which can be closed strongly at all times without injury, the air acting as a sure buffer.

The phrase "ornamental as well as useful," can aptly be applied to the Taylor safe. It would be an ornament to any office. The front is hand painted and any scene the buyer fancies will be reproduced if he forwards the photograph.

Among those in this city who have recently placed their orders with Mr. Robbins for the Taylor safe are Mr. Smalley, the jeweller; Mr. A. L. Law and B. G. Taylor, the well-known insurance agent. Mr. Taylor's safe is being exhibited, and is well worth looking up. The painting upon it is exquisite, and the finish and polish to the inside doors, which are made of Canada ash, is something wonderful.

Taken in all, Messrs. Taylor do great credit to themselves, to the exhibition, and to Canadian manufacturers by their exhibit.

We've heard of a woman who said she'd walk five miles to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription if she couldn't get it without. That woman had tried it. And it's a medicine which makes itself felt in toning up the system and correcting irregularities as soon as its use is begun. Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken, you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come. But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results—you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll give you money back for you.

How many women are there who'd rather have the money than health? And "Favorite Prescription" produces health. Wonder is that there's a woman willing to suffer when there's a guarantee remedy in the nearest drug store.

WHAT THEY WEIGH.

The Avoidpools of Some of the Prominent Visitors to the Exhibition.

A Howe scale on the main floor in charge of that Knight of the road, T. E. Perkins is kept at work pretty steadily, especially as there is no nickel in the slot or other charge for learning one's weight. The heaviest man to come, so far, has been Dr. Smith, of North End, who tips the beam at 266 pounds.

Chief Clark has called on W. H. Thorne's exhibit, and seems to think that the Howe scale, with its standard for measuring heights, is just what is needed in every well regulated police office. It is very important that there should be a description of the leading physical characteristics of men suspected of indictable offences. The chief stepped on the scale himself, and the balance trembled at 201½ pounds. His correct weight is probably an even 200, but he was in full uniform, and bullion ornaments, with the revolver and handcuffs in his pockets, made up the difference. Then the standard was adjusted and his height was registered at 5 ft. 10½ inches.

Detective Ring is short, but he is a good deal stouter than some people would think, to look at him. He weighs 174½ pounds. Sergeant Covey (accent on the last syllable) tips the beam at 177 pounds, a weight sufficient to enable him to move with dignity, if not celerity.

Sergeant Watson has been a good many years on the police force, but has not lost much flesh on the strength of it. His weight now is 233.

Richard Dinn has the very respectable weight of 253 pounds. J. R. Woodburn has been an alderman and is a confectioner who is not afraid to eat his own candy. These facts may account for his very respectable weight of 240½ pounds.

About as heavy a man for his height as has yet come to the front is William M. McLaughlin, who has the record of 204 pounds.

When Albert C. Smith, M. P. P., was hustling around in the local election campaign, last January, one would have supposed that he moved about 180 pounds at every step. The figure is just 179½.

When the exhibition is over, Treasurer James Reynolds, freed from carking care, will probably weigh more than 200, but at present 195 is the figure. He did not have the cash receipts in his pockets at the time. J. B. Barnaby beat all records on Monday, by showing a clear 280½.

Some of the other records are:

Table listing names and weights: Rev. J. M. Davenport, 181; James F. Robertson, 212½; A. L. Slipp, 221½; C. T. White, Apple River, 231½; Keith Barber, 200; Thomas Millar, North End, 221½; Policema G. R. Baxter, 258½; G. S. Turner, M. P. P., 181½; James Kennedy, base-ballist, 157; James Brown, Newcastle, 218; W. C. McRobbie, 160½; Yardmaster Irvine, 181; Conductor Sproule, 225; Hugh Andrews, electrician, 245; R. C. Thorne, 161; Con. Geo. McCully, Truro, 166; J. J. McGaffigan, 175; George Murray, 156½; Rev. Mr. Pickles, 184; Geo. C. Needham, 180; Conductor Millican, 213½; N. I. Cluff, Woodstock, 205½; Hiram White, 201½; Conductor Geo. Trueman, 190; Rev. Mr. Daniel, 136; C. T. Hillson, 248; Policeman Ross, 178½.

The heaviest lady weighed 209½, but it would be very easy to beat this record.

Connected with the scale is a standard which gives one's height to the fraction of an inch, and is strongly suggestive of a similar apparatus used in United States police stations. Mr. Perkins has been kept pretty busy by people who are anxious to know just how big they are.

In the list given above, 25 pounds has been deducted from the weight of one St. John man who secreted a can of white lead of that weight under his coat.

Why They Chased the Cat. Two boys were overheard in conversation on Elliott Row the other morning, discussing the question of ways and means.

"Have you got a cent, Johnny?" said one.

"No, I haven't, Jimmy," replied the other.

"Let's get one then."

"How are you going to get it?"

"Oh, we'll chase the cat, and she will give us a cent to let it alone."

Who the humane "she" was did not transpire.

That Dog Had An Experience. A large and enterprising black dog, owned by "Hughey" Andrews, of the Calkin Electric Light Company, tried to jump through the big fly wheel while it was spinning around under full steam, Friday afternoon. He did not get through, but was caught and carried around, held against the rim by centrifugal force. Mr. Andrews loves his dog, and hastened to have the engine slowed, when the canine jumped out, put his tail between his legs and started for home, much disgusted but little injured by his experience.

ADVERTISE IN PROGRESS.

By All Odds

The most generally useful medicine is Ayer's Pills. As a remedy for the various diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels, these Pills have no equal. Their sugar-coating causes them not only to be easy and pleasant to take, but preserves their medicinal integrity in all climates and for any reasonable length of time. The best family medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpassed for the use of travelers, soldiers, sailors, campers, and pioneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remedies have failed, prove effective. "In the summer of 1864 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medicine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but persuaded my nurse to get me some of Dr. Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and the best family medicine, Ayer's Pills, more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. C. Luce, Late Lieut. 50th Regt. Mass. Vol. Infantry. "Ayer's Pills are

Ayer's Pills
