

WHO WILL BE PRESENT.

THE LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CENTURIES.

The Different Booths Where They Will be Located, and the Characters Represented in Each—Tableaux and Nursery Rhymes on the Stage.

During the last few days a great transformation has been going on in the Lansdowne rink, and to-day a good idea can be formed as to what the centuries exhibition will be like, as far as the positions, sizes and appearances of the booths are concerned. But not only the carpenters have been busy, for others were at work decorating the rink while the rougher work was going on, and the rafters are one sea of small flags, lanterns, and other decorations. The exhibition promises to surpass all the former attempts of the ladies, who have thought out and carried through such entertainments as the exhibition of nations, kermesse, etc.; and although the attractions already decided upon are numerous, and all bear the stamp of originality, they are still adding to the programme, and will not say it is complete until the last moment.

A great feature, however, will be a procession of all those who take part in the exhibition in costume at 8 o'clock every evening. A large stage has been erected at the end of the rink, and during the evenings tableaux will be presented, in which the characters in the different booths will take part. A night will be given to each century.

There will be six centuries represented in the exhibition. The 12th and 13th centuries will be represented in booths to the right on entering the rink, and further along are the 16th and 18th century booths. To the right at the far end of the rink is the stage. In making the circuit one next comes to the booths occupied by the 19th and 17th centuries, and the rest of that section is given up to a large refreshment room.

The following is a list of the characters to be represented in the different booths and the names of those who will take part. As the ladies do not want to interfere with any speculation there may be as to the identification of the different characters, the names are given separately:

Characters in the 12th and 13th Centuries. Beatrice, Eleanor of Aquitaine, Berengaria, Maid Marion, Jewess, Matilda of Tuscany, Saracen Maid, Saladin, Thomas a Becket, Knight of the Lion, Robin Hood, Richard 1st, Little John, Malcolm of Scotland, William Wallace, A Palmer, Court Fool, Dante, French King.

Miss Harrison, Miss M. Snider,
Miss Trix DeVeber, Miss Ethel Beer,
Miss Taffie Robertson, Mr. Lee,
Mr. J. C. Robertson, Mr. Mowatt,
Mr. Short, Mr. F. Hart,
Mr. F. Daniel, Mr. W. Robinson,
Mr. R. J. Gilbert, Mr. H. Smith,
Mr. A. Baxter, Mr. W. B. Esson,
Mr. F. Kinnear, Mr. S. Thornton,
Mr. M. Olive, Mr. Harold Robinson,
Mr. Arthur Thornton.

This booth will be under the direction of Mrs. Mowatt, Mrs. Douglas Hazen, and Mrs. Lee.

The refreshment department will be in charge of a committee composed of the following ladies: Mrs. McLellan, president; Mrs. Gilbert Pugsley, Mrs. William Pugsley, Mrs. C. H. Fairweather, Mrs. W. F. Butt, Mrs. J. V. Ellis, Mrs. Watson Allan, Mrs. W. A. Stewart.

Assistants.—Miss Tuck, Miss Cruikshank, Miss Turner, Miss DeForrest, Miss McGregor, Miss Butt, Miss Ellis, Miss McLaughlin, Miss Puddington, Miss Hall, Miss Betts, Miss Skinner, and Miss Tapley.

On Wednesday and Saturday afternoons there will be matinees especially for ladies and children, at which a series of nursery rhyme entertainments will be given on the stage. It is said that this will be one of the best features of the exhibition, and will be under the direction of Mrs. Richard Rowe, assisted by Miss Rowe, Miss Coster and Miss Underhill.

The following is a list of those who will take part in these entertainments:

Miss Maude B. Rowe, Mr. Charles F. B. Rowe,
Miss Lina A. M. Rowe, Master Austin C. Stead,
Miss Grace Scovill, Master Kent Scovill,
Miss Bessie Matthew, Master Frank Hill,
Miss Lily Brook, Master H. Matthew,
Miss Grace O. Ring, Master Robin Matthew,
Miss Minnie Turner, Master Charles Matthew,
Miss Ethel F. O. Rowe, Master Charles Gandy,

Miss Hattie Sands, Master Edgar A. Rowe,
Miss Mabel Sands, Master R. H. W. Rowe,
Miss Annie Brook, Master Fred Alston,
Miss M. Louise Rowe, Master H. Sheraton,
Miss Ada Ring, Master Charles Turner,
Miss Maude Stead, Miss G. Louise Dickson,
Miss Bertie Turner, Miss Minnie Hall,
Miss Avis Hall.

Mr. Keltie Jones, Mr. H. Cooper and Mr. Harvey will be the cashiers of the exhibition. Arrangements are being made to have excursion rates from all places in the provinces along the line of the I. C. R. and C. P. R. during the week. This will enable people living outside of St. John to see the exhibition.

MR. CROCKETT MAY BE REMOVED And Dr. Inch of Sackville Appointed—A Step to Be Condemned.

There is considerable speculation again about the attitude of the government to Chief Superintendent Crockett. PROGRESS noted some months ago the efforts of certain partisans who were bent upon his removal from office, but such an outburst of indignation followed from both friends and opponents of the administration that the matter was dropped. But not for good. Progress fears, for the indications at present say that people or no people the chief has got to go. Scripture is reversed, and the sins of the children are to be visited upon the father.

Progress goes to press at noon Friday, but while it is being printed the teachers of St. John city will meet and protest against the proposed move. And that will be no party protest. It will be the voice of Mr. Crockett's own department, and no stronger objection than this can be presented to the government.

The amusing part of it all is that by this contemplated step, President Inch of the Mount Allison institutions is booked for the vacancy. He will then by virtue of his office be president of the senate of the University, and over President Harrison who has not in times past—especially at the teachers institute in Moncton—been as cordial and fraternal as he might be to the Methodist institutions.

If the government removes the present superintendent of education for no reason except the partisanship of his family over which he has no control it will surely lay itself open to the condemnation of all honest and impartial men.

EVENTS OF CITY LIFE.

MR. PUGSLEY'S AND THE PUBLIC INTERESTS

Are Sure to Conflict—Mr. Bockus Sends An Explanatory Letter—The Evangelical Alliance Was Right About the Coach Load and the Dance.

Hon. William Pugsley is having a busy session this year. He appears to be getting his knife into this city and county in great shape. The gerrymander bill is one of his offsprings, and it looks as though it might live. The health of the parent will probably be permanently affected, however.

Mr. Pugsley has been too busy to give the license bill any attention this week, and so far it has not been presented again. But it is not dead, they tell PROGRESS. Despite all the persuasiveness of Mr. Pugsley, that the bill is not special legislation, the plain fact remains that his hotel in this city is without a license, and that the new law—if it gets that far—will enable it to get one.

There are some other things that Mr. Pugsley is interested in, and as usual his interests are not those of the people. The corporation sent up two bills, one to regulate the electric light poles in the city, and the other to compel the street railway to pave between their tracks.

These companies are very nearly alike, and Mr. Pugsley is interested in them. One of the above bills has been thrown out by the corporations committee, and the other is likely to meet the same fate. Truly this is a model legislator!

Mr. R. M. Bockus sends PROGRESS the following note which is printed with pleasure:

TO THE EDITOR OF PROGRESS.—In your last edition you greatly surprised me by using my name in an article upon the Pugsley hotel, and in reference to the application made in my name for a license. How, from the very brief interview had with me, it was possible for your reporter to so misunderstand me I am at a loss to conjecture. I certainly could not have said I knew nothing of the matter, nor that my name was used without my consent, as one would infer from your article. I signed the application for a license on behalf of a company which proposed to lease the hotel. I did not know when your reporter saw me, whether the license had been granted or not, for I had been ill and absent from the city, nor did I know any of the more recent developments in regard to the hotel license for when I saw your writer, I had just returned to town and had not been near the office of Mr. Pugsley.

Now, Mr. Editor, as your writer has caused considerable comment, far more than so humble an individual as I am is worthy of, and as it is calculated to do me an injury with my employer and others, I trust you will do me the justice to publish this.

R. M. BOCKUS.

THE ALLIANCE WAS RIGHT.

A Coach Load Did Go To and Fro to the Dance.

The members of the evangelical alliance at the meeting this week, showed that they were fully aware of all that took place at the Sheffield street dance on Easter Monday night. But as they were not present, they were placed at a disadvantage in dealing with the matter. The chief of police, however, attended the ball, and of course his word could not be disputed. He did not see any people there except those who lived in the vicinity. But there were other people present besides the chief, and they saw a great deal more than he did. If anybody told some of them that they lived on Sheffield street the police would probably have to be called upon and they would have more trouble in stopping the row than they did in breaking up the dance. The evangelical alliance was right. A coach did drive up to the door of the dance hall, and it held as many young men as could possibly get into it. The coach returned late in the evening, and brought the party up town. But all did not go in coaches. Some people from other parts of the city walked down to the south end, saw the dance and went out again. They say that, compared with other balls of the same kind, it was very tame. Those who went in the coach, however, are said to have had a remarkably good time, such as it was.

Women Want To Be School Trustees.

The latest thing in the direction of woman's rights in St. John, is the petition that is in circulation praying the government to appoint two of the fair sex upon the boards of school trustees. The move has the support and signature of such good citizens as Mr. Frank Hatheway. There isn't much doubt that most any live energetic woman would be preferable to many of the present board members, but it is quite doubtful if their move gets much beyond the beginning.

Fitted up in Style.

A great change was noticeable at Ungar's laundry on Waterloo street, this week. Mr. Ungar has had part of the lower floor transformed into a large and nicely fitted up office, and has succeeded in making it more than usually attractive.

THE NEWSPAPERS AND THEIR CO'S.

The "Telegraph" is Following the Suit of the "Sun."

Some of the daily newspapers have been flourishing in a more or less interesting way before the public late. The Telegraph has had a little ball in motion since early last fall, but it has not moved as rapidly as it was thought it would. The Sun followed suit by making the acquaintance of the sheriff, and the Gazette has concluded to shift its burdens and dividends upon a joint stock company.

Progress explained the Sun's move last week. Most people will agree with its conclusion that the move was not a wise one from any point of view. The history of the Telegraph deal is longer and more complicated. Soon after Mrs. Elder's death, the necessity of closing the estate was apparent, and there was more fact than fancy in the story that the paper was for sale. It was for sale and was sold though the names of the purchasers were kept tolerably secret until a few days ago, when the legal record made the announcement that Mr. Hugh H. McLean, partner of Mr. C. W. Weldon, and Major Tucker, brother-in-law of the same gentleman, were owners of the property at $40,000.

That figure includes the building on the corner of Canterbury and Church streets, the plant, good-will and the book debts of the paper as well as the lease of the ground, which has six or seven years to run and calls for an annual rental of $400 and taxes.

The job printing department is included in the transfer, but with one government out of power, and but a bite from the local house there isn't as much profit in this portion of the establishment as there might be.

Another fact, not without significance, is the amending of the charter which was secured from the legislature some time ago. They might take a hint from the Sun's idea, and give bondholders a lien before any others, thus avoiding damages in libel suits. The new company include such gentlemen as W. F. Todd, of St. Stephen, Thos. McAvity of this city, Hon. Senator McLellan and Mr. J. W. Y. Smith—truly a political company. That some of the paper's largest conservative advertisers have recognized this fact is quite evident from glancing at its pages. When the new company is formed and gets to work, they will probably be some changes, but if all the rumors are true, the leading spirits who recline at their ease at present around the building, will think an earthquake has struck it.

Take Down the Wrong Bottle.

A North End widow who sold liquor without a license was very much alarmed a short time ago, by a slight mistake she made in serving a juvenile customer. The little fellow had been sent for a bottle of beer, by some older people in a neighboring house, but when they drank some of it, the effect was very different from that usually made by ginger beer. In fact the bottle contained strong whiskey, and after drinking considerable of it, two young men in the house got quite dizzy, and in this condition paid the widow a visit. She had already discovered her mistake, and visions of a $20 fine made her very uneasy. And when her customers put in an appearance, she did everything in her power to induce them to say nothing about the matter. She treated them to the best her small store afforded, and explained that it was safer to keep the liquor in ginger beer bottles, than in the usual kind, hence her mistake.

Youthful and Foolish Pugnists.

A very choice party of young and fearless spirits gathered in a clerical barn a few evenings ago to settle some imaginary dispute a la Sullivan-Kilrain. The principals were on hand, trembling with excitement and apprehension, while their seconds made themselves very busy with the preliminaries. The spectators were few in number, but appreciative. The fourth round had barely been finished when a principal of one of the city schools appeared on the scene with a policeman. When they appeared the ring and the mill disappeared. They made a good deal of noise, but they escaped. The current rumor now says that one of the principals "funkt" and gave the secret away, hoping to avoid the meeting.

"A Golden Dream"—The New Story.

If Geo. Manville Fenn's new story "A Golden Dream," the first installment of which appears on the sixteenth page, was not above the average in thrilling interest it would not find a place in PROGRESS crowded columns. But it is worth reading—there is excitement in every paragraph.

Another Young Men's Paper.

The Y. M. C. association is thinking of reviving the monthly paper formerly connected with the organization. A committee is looking into the feasibility of the scheme. If it is revived the paper will probably be illustrated and improved in many ways.

AND THE FICKLE FORREST FOLLOWS SUIT.

The Anti-Learyites are in the Majority—Mr. Knodell Did Not Canvass and was Defeated—Mr. Bell Treats the Victors (in Prince to a Supper—Mr. Kelly Around.

The people have spoken and the power of the Leary ring is broken. The majority of the council is anti-Leary, and the Mayor will follow suit next Tuesday.

It was a great day for the people, especially in Victoria ward, the home and haunt of Boulevards Busby and Fickle Forrest, who are both reaping the rewards and emoluments of misrepresenting their constituents.

PROGRESS has told the story of how Busby succeeded in being elected last year, and has again and again urged the people to show what they thought not only of his civic conduct, but also of that of his colleague, Ald. Forrest. The vote tells the tale. Law, 190; Seaton, 182; Forrest, 105; Busby, 58! It was truly a great day for the people.

The disappearance of apathetic indifference to the result in Victoria ward is one of the most encouraging signs of the times. It shows plainly that there is a limit beyond which aldermen cannot go. When Mr. Forrest coolly turned from his supporters who sent him to represent them against the Leary scheme, and voted in favor of it, he sealed his future career as a civic politician. Mr. Busby's day has, on the contrary, been coming for a long time. He escaped last year by a fluke, but this year the people were bound that by no act of theirs would he again have a chance to enter the council.

If Mr. Harris Allan had been wide awake he could have seen from the start that he had no show in Wellington ward. With no other candidate in the field, the hustlers rallied around Dr. White, who thus only ran 20 votes behind Mr. Shaw. There was a good laugh when the result was made known. No person seemed to be at all anxious about it at any time. The boys were paying for their oyster suppers and did it cheerfully. The doctor will no doubt find time to attend to his aldermanic duties.

D. Russel Jack made a good fight in Queens, but he made a false start and never recovered from it. If, from the day he announced himself he had also stated his position on the Leary scheme, his election was tolerably certain, but he did not, and came in nearly 40 votes behind the second man, Mr. Allen. Mr. McLaughlin surprised himself and his friends by leading the poll.

But it was in Prince that the surprise party was held. It was a two-sided contest with the Boss Kelly thrown in. No man knew how the vote stood. Any one was liable to win with such a combination of tickets. McKelvey came to the front through the energy of his workers, one of whom by the way was that political hustler Bob Wilkins. Wilkins supported White in Wellington and McKelvey in Prince—anti-Leary and Leary. It is more a matter of friendship than principle sometimes with every hustler. Nickerson was handled by Andy Hunter who added another feather to his plume by electing him.

The benefits of canvassing were well illustrated in this contest. Knodell did not ask for a vote and surprised everybody by turning up fourth. Contrary to Mr. Bell's expectations he was not on the winning team. He was so sure of election that according to an ancient custom he ordered a supper at the "Stanley" to celebrate the affair. The supper was on time and Mr. Bell feasted the victors and a number of friends. It was a good way to take defeat.

John Babington Macaulay and George Anthony did not succeed in making sufficient impression upon the prompt taxpayers of Brooks to get a majority of the votes. They ran away behind. Mr. Baxter may now reflect upon the folly of increasing the valuation of his property to aldermanic figures and paying taxes upon the same purely upon speculation. Mr. Davis has not had enough of elections to suit his free and untrammelled spirit and his card is out for mayor. He ran in favor of the Leary dock in Brooks—he is against the whole scheme now. Mr. Davis must be an old pupil of ex-Ald. Forrest.

It was a battle royal between Enoch Colwell and W. D. Baskin. The former ran a fine election, and was only ten votes behind the winner.

MR. CONNOR AND MR. COLWELL.

How the Latter Was "Induced" to Retire From the Contest.

The "true inwardness" of the deal in Dufferin ward is nuts for the so-called ward politicians of the north end. "Anti-Learyism" was a trump card against the present incumbents, and Chas. H. Colwell saw how it could be played with advantage to himself. Colwell is a teamster and owns a few horses. Last year he did not get as much work on the roads from the corporation as he thought he should. About a week before nomination day, he began to put on style, and donned a "boiled shirt and cuffs" even at his work, teeming, to the wonder of his neighbors who commenced to enquire what was up. He watched anxiously to see if any candidates would come out, and when the name of Robert Jones was mentioned, report says, Mr. Colwell was in and out Jones' store a score of times each day, until he found out that Jones had backed down. Thursday night he announced to a few of his friends that he would be a candidate, and on Friday his card appeared in the Globe. He also went so far as to get his ballots printed. There was every chance that he would give Likely a hard fight, and this Alderman Kelly did not want. The latter also wanted to go into Prince ward and work, and of course if Colwell "stood," Kelly would have to remain in Dufferin. Saturday morning there was considerable hustling, and rumor has it that Alderman Kelly asked a "friend" to go over to Dufferin and offer Charles $25 to pay his expenses, and also to promise him all the road work if he would "back down." The friend would not do it, so another diplomat had to be found, and he was found in the shape of Ald. Connor. A better one could hardly be found for the work. Charlie was seen and asked to take some refreshments. They did not "break a bottle of wine," as Ald. Connor is a Son of Temperance. The liquid was stronger than ginger beer, however, for it made Colwell good natured. The "diplomat" explained to Colwell, it is said, how he should get the road work in future, that Messrs. Smith and Martin would be seen about it, that everything would be alright, and of course he was sorry Charlie did not get the work last summer, and with persuasive language he soon convinced Charlie over the lemons and "ginger ale" that he would have a soft snap henceforth, and that next year Kelly would take him on the ticket. Colwell, who likes a dollar better than civic honors, gulped down what the "envoy extraordinary" said. Result—he did not send in his nomination paper.

Naturally, he had to give some explanation to his immediate friends why he withdrew, and to one "confidential" he said, "Alderman C. and I had a few drinks, and we settled it. I'll get $4 a day for my horses on the road, and I think more of that than to be elected to the council." To others he gave as an excuse that he was too late in coming out. Kelly and Likely won, and Charlie is going to get the work—perhaps.

Mr. Segge and School Buildings.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the Madras school, after PROGRESS appeared last Saturday, and the result has been so much activity on the part of those concerned that the new building was ready for use Thursday, and the old one was in a fair way to be removed. Contractor Segge, however, dipped into literature, and nearly succeeded in getting himself into trouble, for his literary effort either did come up to the standard or else told too much about the way in which the school board conducts its business. Special pains were taken to see that he did not again make an effort in this direction. If he did he might have told just how green the wood was that was used in the work, and how much it has shrunk and opened, within the last few weeks. He might also have given some of his former experiences with work of the same kind, and told just how long the Indian town school conveniences were in working order during the winter. Mr. Segge has a great deal of valuable information about school contracts which might prove very interesting reading, if he could get the permission of the trustees to use it.

Pictorial Amherst Coming on Finely.

The pictorial edition of Amherst proposed by PROGRESS two weeks ago is making good strides toward a happy end. The merchants of the enterprising town have known PROGRESS for some time, and are giving it every encouragement in its attempt to illustrate Amherst. Our canvassing representative has not only succeeded in obtaining many excellent and comprehensive views of the place, but also many attractive announcements of business houses, who are not slow to realize the benefits of appearing as representative firms of a progressive town to the very large number of PROGRESS readers. They can do so at little expense, and very many of them have done so. We also hope to print a number of photos of the leading citizens, which will give the edition an additional interest, not only for the people of Amherst, but to outsiders as well. The ship railway will, without much doubt, be a feature of the issue, which will be rushed forward as rapidly as possible.

Will Be Popular No Doubt.

The sea bathing health and pleasure resort proposed by Mr. Tree is to be located on that delightful spot known as Duck Cove on Mr. D. R. Jack's property. A portion of the ground above the beach, including the grove have been secured for the tents and pleasure grounds.
