ROOKWOOD POTTERY OF CINCINNATI.

THE ROOKWOOD POTTERY was established at Cincinnati in 1880 by Mrs Maria Longworth Storer, whose father, Joseph Longworth, was the founder of the Art School and a chief patron of the Art Museum in the same city. The artistic impulse which came from the ceramic display of Japan at the Centennial Exhibition of 1876, and the production still bears the impress of that influence. For a time a school for pottery painting formed part of the scheme, and from the beginning the commercial side of the enterprise has been subordinate to the artistic. We have just received a choice assortment, C. FLOOD & SONS, 31 and 33 KING STREET.

MARRIED.

CARTER-HAMLYN.—At St. George's church, West End, on the sixth inst., by the Rev. Wm. Sampson, rector, Frank B. Carter, of Kingston, Kings Co., to Frances A., eldest daughter of Capt. Wm. Hamlyn, of Lancaster Heights, St. John.

A very pretty wedding took place in St. George's church on Tuesday morning, the principals being Miss Francis Hamlyn, eldest daughter of Capt. Hamlyn and Mr. Frank B. Carter, of Halifax. Despite the early hour in which the ceremony took place, the church was well filled with friends of the bride and groom. The floral decorations were many and pretty, the work of thoughtful friends of the bride. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of Mr. W. L. Waring, her father being in New York with his ship, and looked lovely in a gray traveling suit with hat to match, immediately after the ceremony which was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Sampson, the happy couple left for Halifax. West End extends congratulations and best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Carter's future happiness.

Mr. J. Court is on a pleasure trip to New York. On Monday evening Miss Ella Vanwart entertained a number of her young friends at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Vanwart, Main street. As the dancing season practically opened to a number present the evening proved a most enjoyable one after the summer's quietude, while those who were not given to dancing found various other sources of amusement. An elaborate supper was served and the kind attention of the genial host and hostess made everyone feel at home. Those invited were Misses Esterbrook (Gagetown), M. Shaw, E. Smith, M. Peck, M. Hayford, E. Shaw, M. Nase, L. Courtney, L. Root, M. Smith, N. Pidgeon, B. Waring, M. Carle, H. Cowan, M. Sprague, A. Shaw, M. Secord, N. Cowan, F. Smith, L. Simpson, J. Carpenter, B. Patten, H. Roberts, A. Cowan, H. Simpson, M. Boyd, B. Forbes, B. Stevenson, H. Purdy, F. Taylor, L. Flewelling, J. Hivari, Miss Fowler, Miss Colwell (Boston), Miss Vanwart, and Messrs. H. Smith, R. Cowan, F. Hilyard, J. Chesley, F. Miles, F. Courtney, J. Watson, D. Pidgeon, M. Cleary, R. Stebb, G. Cleveland, Dr. Maher, A. Courtney, E. Pidgeon, F. Chesley, J. Carle, E. Reid, F. Pidgeon, F. The residence of Mr. John Stewart, Wall street, was the scene of an interesting event Wednesday morning at 6 a. m., when his eldest daughter Christina was united in the bonds of matrimony to Walter Henry of Salisbury, N. B. Owing to the early hour of the ceremony only the immediate relatives of the couple were present. They left on the City of Montreal for a trip through Nova Scotia before taking up their residence at Salisbury. The presents were both numerous and costly, testifying to the high esteem in which the bride was held. Among them might be mentioned a handsome easy chair by the officers and teachers of the North End branch of St. David's Sunday school, of which the bride was a teacher and held the office of treasurer also a magnificent oak book case by the members of Athena circle C. L. S. C. of which she was also a member for three years and by whom she will be greatly missed as an earnest and faithful worker in the Chautauquian movement. The couple carry with them the best wishes of a large circle of friends for their future welfare.
