

IN MUSICAL CIRCLES.

"It never rains but it pours." Here we are with no less than three musical treats before us at the time I am writing. I won't have any chance of noticing the Redpath concert company until next week. But just now I am looking forward with a great deal of pleasure, to hearing them. The Bijou opera company, which will be singing here next week, will no doubt do a good business. I think it is quite two years since we have been visited by an opera troupe of any description. Erminie, La Mascotee, and The Princess of Frebigonele will be given in the course of the week. Miss Randall, the soprano, is very well spoken of, I believe.

The Oratorio society is contemplating the production of Stainer's Daughter of Jairus within the next fortnight, I think. It will probably be sung in one of the churches. The society will be assisted by the Philharmonic club, Mrs. W. S. Carter, Rev. J. M. Davenport and others. This will probably be Mr. Davenport's last appearance in any thing of the kind in St. John.

After this concert the society will rest which

After this concert the society will very likely break up for the summer months, and give the Elijah and Lay of the Bell some time in the autumn. I am afraid the Neptune Rowing club concert is postponed indefinitely. Too bad, for the club always manage to give such a good entertainment.

Mr. George Wilson of Wolverhampton, Eng., is the guest of Father Davenport. Mr. Wilson will probably have the Mission church organ after the first of next month.

The St. James church people have been advertising for some time for an organist, but I think they may persuade Mr. Ewing to stay on for some time

The anthem "Zadock the Priest." and the special chants went very well. Mr. Ford played a very effective postlude "God Save the Queen," arranged by Rink.

The Handel festival is soon to begin at the Crystal The Handel festival is soon to begin at the Crystal palace, London. The choir consists of some 750 sopranos, 792 altos, 698 tenors, and 790 bassos, a total of over 3,000 singers. The band numbers 560 executants, made up of 114 first violins, 106 seconds, 65 violas, 72 violoncellos, 61 double basses, 13 flutes, 9 clarionets, 14 oboes, 12 bassoons, 10 horns, 7 trumpets and cornets, 9 trombones, 3 tubas, 3 kettledrums, 1 grossecaisse, and a great organ in the skilful hands of A. J. Eyre, organist, to accompany. Mrs. W. A. Ewing returned from Boston last week, after making a very pleasant visit.

I believe Miss Chaffee, violinist' and Miss Marie Denley of the St. John school of music, left for Boston this week, where they will spend their holidays.

TALK OF THE THEATRE.

There is lots going on in the way of musement this summer, and with three theatres, nobody should have any trouble in deciding how to spend an evening. Charlotte street still continues to be the popular amusement resort. The crowd seems to have got into the habit of walking in that direction in the evening, and the Institute attractions are not likely to be as successful as they probably would, if there was no place else to go. The St. Andrews rink has been fitted up in good style, something like it was when the McDowell company played a long summer engagement there two years ago. It makes a nice, cool place to spend the evening, which is a great contrast to the close, hot air of the Institute at all seasons. The Redpath company opened there this week, and Monday the New York bijou opera company will begin a season, with Adelaide Randall at the head of the troupe. The opening piece will be Erminie, an opera full of catchy airs, and one that has made a grest hit. The managers intend to make the season as memorable as that of the McDowell company, and fine stage setting will be a feature. Mr. Gill, whose work as a scenic artist is familiar to all theatre goers, has been busy at the St. Andrews rink this week, and the audiences will probably see some stage pictures that they never saw

SPORTS OF THE SEASON.

The most interesting event in the way of sport this week was the lacrosse game between the Unions and Wanderers. Even those who were formerly not interested in the game have been talking about it, and the general conclusion seems to be that the St. John clubs are not "in it" with the Wanderers. It is seldom that such a club of athletes is found on a field at one time. Their endurance is wonderful, and when the fight for the third goal lasted over a Finally they challenged a team from the half hour, the Unions had enough to do to act on the defensive.

It is in cases of this kind that training shows itself. The Wanderers have every opportunity to keep in good trim all the time, and are all round athletes, while the Unions although perhaps well up in the fine points of the game, have not the chance to prepare themselves for a couple of hours of running, jumping, scrambling, and goodness knows what not-and they lose their wind before the game is well

Some of the Unions are inclined to be superstitious, and are attributing their defeat-jocularly of course-to an amusing incident that occurred just before the game started. McLeod was late in arriving, and changed his clothes for a lacrosse costume in a hurry. When on the field it was discovered that his shirt was inside out, and he started off to change it again when some one shouted, "Don't do it; it's bad luck." He did not heed the warning, however, and played the rest of the game with the right side of the shirt to the public. That is why the Unions lost!

started we may expect to see the grand stand shaking as of yore. And the league lost by a score of 24 to 7. is a certainty. Four good clubs are ready to go into it, and if the interest is increasing at present, a series with the four clubs should boom things in good shape. The Lansdownes, which is the latest club to come to the front, will be in charge of Bob Stewart, of the old Lansdownes. He was a very good pitcher two or three years ago. and has probably improved with time, and no one in the old amateur league knew more tricks, or made more daring and successful plays than he did. Billy Nash, another good player, will also be on the will not have as good opportunities to practice as their opponents; but I understand that the Shamrocks will help them out and give them a chance to get in some practice with the association team on their grounds. I don't know what arrangements will be made in the way of dividing gate re-ceipts with the two clubs that are without grounds. The players in these clubs, however, will probably make all the money, if there is any made. The Shamrock nine is playing for the "fun of the thing," and everything goes into the association; but it is quite probable that the Lansdownes and Thistles will get very little more out of it when the expenses and rent of grounds are taken out of the receipts. In the Shamrock-Y. M. C. A. series the home clubs get one-third of the receipts for the use of the grounds, and the other two-thirds are divided between the clubs. It is probable that an arrangement something like this will be made in regard to the league clubs.

The Thistles are getting in lots of practice, have had their uniforms overhauled, and will open the season with neat new caps, something after the style of those worn by the old St. Johns. They play two games with the Shamrocks on Dominion day, and expect to make them hustle. In the morning game O'Niel and Riley will be the battery for the Thistles, and in the afternoon McGlinchy and Mills do the

The Shamrocks and Y. M. C. A. will probably have decided upon how to spend the fourth of July before this appears, but just at present they seem to be in great demand and in doubts what to do. The Calais people want the Shamrocks to help them celebrate the holiday, and in fact arrangements are nearly completed. But I am told that the St. Stephen enthusiasts have come to the conclusion that the Y. M. C. A.'s would be too strong for their nine to make a game interesting, and want both the Y. M. C. A.'s and Shamrocks to go down and astonish the people. I do both the Y. M. C. A.'s and Shamrocks to go down and astonish the people. I do not know whether this arrangement will be carried out, but when the committees control of the exciting cause being some form of expense. Under McHugh's attention to the general laws of health. careful training I am told that he was acquiring wonderful speed, and would have made the fastest of them hustle.

The Y. M. C. A.'s go to Annapolis on Dominion day, but they will not have Frank White to captain the team. The managers think they have got a good one in young Mitchell who played in last Saturday's game. He is a good batter, and played centre field well. Beside the ball nine the Y. M. C. A.'s will take Bain, Lawton, Milligan and Roderick to represent them in the sports.

Talking about Annapolis naturally makes one think of Digby, and in this connection I heard an amusing incident the other day. It seems that Digby has a base ball team that can "do up" anything in that parti-cular part of Nova Scotia, and had been defeating clubs from the surrounding towns and villages, until it became monotonous Monticello, and defeated them. Some Digby people felt so good over this victory that they thought their club invincible, and one man was willing to bet $100 to $20 that the hands on the Monticello could not get a team to beat them. The Monticello people thought they could. On the

With the met the Digby club, the Thistles battery astonished them. They met defeat, and could do nothing but admire the victors.

The Digby people wanted McGlinchey to stay over for a couple of weeks and coach the team, but he decided to return to

The Shamrocks and Y. M. C. A.'s meet again today, and the former will make another effort to win. The clubs are playing better ball every game, and although the Shamrocks lost last Saturday, a glance at the score will show that the "uncertainties" of base ball had something to do with it.

There was a great game at Loch Lomond, Wednesday. The druggists took all there was in base ball out of it, and with The base ball enthusiasts are beginning two experienced base ball managers like to feel better every day. The interest in Messrs. The horse race here brought a number of New Brunswickers, and E. LeRoi Willis, who has a host offriends here, rode the winner of the maiden purse, Jubilee purse, Riding Grand cup and citizens' purse. Mr. Peter Clinch did some great work in his finishes, but the pony Twinkle was beaten by the grey mare Mignonette, and by C. W. Jack of this city. The latter is the fastest pony in the provinces, and there are few of her inches in America that can defeat her. Halifax will have a running and trotting meeting combined exhibition week, and look for a large list of entries.

The ball game Monday was the best ever seen here, the score being 3 to 2 in favor of the Mutuals. The playing was sharp, the visitors put much more vim in their work, and there was much excitement. There were so many brilliant plays that it would have been a strange crowd that could not have got warmed up over such work. Several times the Mutuals had one on third, and Graham retired the three succeeding batsmen, while Downey retired the Socials in order with only one man to reach Sullivan at centre made the catch of the game: Sullivan at centre made the catch of the game: he was playing deep centre, when White batted to the right of Sullivan, and apparently for a hit that would net him three bases, but Sulivan started in the direction of the ball, and after running some yards, caught the ball with one hand, and was at the time running hard. Fitzgerald, Sullivan and O'Brien all made fine running catches, and Graham, Power and O'Brien, some beautiful stops.

Headache one of the Diseases that Has Baffled the Doctors.

We are often asked for a cure for headache. A certain wise physician classes headaches among the ailments which have baffled his profession. At a medical meeting a member said, "Did any of you ever he replied, "Oh, you only relieved it. I can do that. But have you ever cured it?"

No one could answer yes. The shops contain nostrums enough, but did any one ever find himself more than temporarily relieved by them? Nature, unaided, sometimes effects a permanent cure by the changes which the system undergoes in the process of time. Persons who have been subject to headache about the age of 50. This is, perhaps, a result of the shrinkage of the brain and the hardening of the tissues. which begins at about that period. Changes in one's condition or habits, or in climate, may sometimes effect a cure by removing the disturbing cause.

The causes of headache are many. Some grave headaches are due to cerebral disease-meningitis, tumor, abcess, softening of the brain. In these cases there, will be other symptoms pointing to the cause. Other causes are overfulness of the bloodvessels, caused by the condition of the heart; a plethoric condition of the body; mental excitements. Such cases are marked by a flushed face, glittering eyes a beating in the ears and giddiness on Famous Wearers of Bangs.

Cleopatra wore the cow's-tail red hat banged round her face and ears. Old mother eve is pictured with loose tresses playing about her brow and temples. Salome, the Carmencita of biblical days, wore a bang; so did Magdalen, the beautiful, Queen Bess and the beaux and beauties that Van Dyke painted.

Louisa, the lovely queen of Prussia pinned her tresses with a star and let them fly again windward about her cheeks; the fascinating Mme. Roland, whose dark, serious, changing eyes no artist could paint, pulled her shock of brown hair within an inch of her eyebrows and bound it with a fillet; Mme. de Stael, the religious, skeptic, sloven, scholar, wit and queen of the salons frequented by such men as Talleyrand, Schiller, Mirabeau, Voltaire, Rousseau, De Lafayette, Napoleon and Louis XIV., openly confessed that, although she might not wash her face once in a week, her front hair had to be looked after every day, and she wore a headdress of beaded crape, with a frill of little spiral curls running across her forehead from ear to ear restoration, its elephant sleeves, Tam O'Shanter and barrel sized muffs, the frill of loose curls was still popular, and every woman of fashion under the second empire colored her hair a parrot or copper red, hoisted it up with an enormous chignon, and, led by Eugenie in her hooped-skirted court, trimmed their pretty little foreheads with spit-curls and beau-catchers.

The Homely But Useful Girl.

The "useful" girl is not noticeable in any way. Everybody makes use of her, and everybody likes her. She has no enemies and no lovers. Women like her very much, and men speak highly of her when she is brought to their attention in some way; but they never think about her voluntarily. They appreciate her highly she helps them out of a corner, and thank her cordially, and then forget her until they need her again. She is not apt to marry, for men do not care for useful girls before marriage. She can sew, she can get dinner if need be, amuse children, assist in getting up entertainments for other people to participate in, and she is an excellent nurse, and reads aloud well, and sings a little—enough to rock a child asleep or to help out a chorus. An Enterprising Moncton Firm.

A well-known business man said to Progress a few days ago, "I have more business than I can attend to, why should I advertise?" It is of no use to argue further in such a case—the merchant who can get more good business than he can attend to without the use of printers' ink would soon be able to retire by the judicious use of it. Mr. E. C. Cole of Moncton is quite evidently not like the author of the above quoted remark. He has a good ! business, but he is going to increase it by advertising-hence his generous announcement elsewhere in this issue. Naturally, he patronizes Progress as the most widely read paper in the provinces. His traveller already covers the ground as far north as Campbellton, including every place of any importance on the lines of railway. Trade east and west of Moncton has also flowed in his direction, and the residents of Westmorland, Kent and Albert go to Cole's clothing store as regularly as they go to Moncton. Not only is it known as the centre for custom goods, but for children's and a general stock of ready-made clothing it cannot be excelled.

A Valuable Addition.
