

8 SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

(CONTINUED FROM FIFTH PAGE.)

Mrs. Howe Allan has friends visiting her. Mr. Edward Taylor, son of J. K. Taylor left this week for the west, where he will make his home.

St. John—North End.

Miss Nettie Harrison left Thursday for St. Stephen, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Grimmer.

Mrs. Thorne and Miss Josephine Horncastle left on Sunday evening in company with Mr. and Mrs. Ross, for Winnipeg.

Mr. Harry McLean is home from Bridgetown, N. S., where he has been fishing the past week.

Miss Peters is the guest this week of Mrs. James Smith.

Miss Annie Olmstead and Miss Warr of Calais are visiting here this week.

Mr. Ed. Machum has engaged the McStay cottage at St. Andrews for the summer.

Mrs. Jas. R. Brown still remains quite ill.

A party consisting of Miss Knight, Miss A. Farmer, Miss M. Ferris, Miss M. Peck and Miss Stevens went to Westfield Saturday evening and remained over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Hea and Mr. R. Farmer were the chaperons.

Mr. Walter Holly, who has been in Westfield the past fortnight, returned home today. I hear he is building a cottage, and rumor has it he will not occupy it alone.

Last Thursday Miss Teresa Doherty was married at St. Peter's church, by the Rev. A. Wyman, to Mr. Frank Hickey, of Amherst. They left for Boston, and on their return will reside in Amherst.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goddard left this morning for Halifax, where they will be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Gibson, of Woodstock, is the guest of Mrs. Harrison, of High street.

Miss Kate Roberts leaves England for home today. I am told that one of our lady school teachers leaves for England next month, where she will be married, the fortunate gentleman being unable to come to business connections, to come to this side of the water.

Mr. James Murray and Miss O'Grady came to the conclusion Wednesday that man was not made to live alone, and after a quiet ceremony at the cathedral they started for Boston as Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

Rev. T. McFadden is the guest of his mother, Mrs. P. McGoldrick.

FREDERICTON.

[Progress is for sale in Fredericton at the bookstore of W. T. H. Fenety and by James H. Hawthorne.]

JUNE 24.—Owing to the heavy rain of yesterday and today, the firemen were obliged to postpone their festival until tomorrow evening. The object is to raise funds to assist them in honorably representing the city in the big firemen's procession and sports at Moncton, July 1st.

Mr. Fred Nicholson, the popular clerk of the Queen hotel, has joined the grand army of Benedictines. He has taken for his bride Miss Hattie Belyea, daughter of Mr. Lewis A. Belyea, of Gibson. The ceremony was performed on Thursday, by the Rev. Mr. Parkinson, of St. Mary's. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson left by boat for St. John, en route for Boston and New York, followed by the good wishes of the many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barry returned on Thursday from their bridal trip. Mrs. Barry is receiving her friends this evening at the Barker house.

Mr. John Black had a small impromptu party last Thursday evening, called a "veranda party." Dancing, music, and ice cream were the pleasures of the evening. About 30 of Mrs. Black's young friends enjoyed this very pleasant little diversion.

Mrs. Blair and her family will take up their residence at Bay Shore this evening.

The "Y's" have arranged for a reception to be given in honor of Miss Tilley and Miss Scott of Ontario in the temperance hall on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ross of Winnipeg, who have been visiting friends in this city and St. John, left on the C.P.R. Sunday night for their home.

Miss Colter of Fredericton, accompanied them.

Miss Agnes Burn of Halifax is expected here on Friday to visit her friend, Miss Mabel Gregory.

Mrs. Luke Stewart and Miss Knox of St. John are here, the guests of Mrs. Julius Inches, St. John street.

Rev. A. W. McLeod, of Thorburn, N.S., occupied the pulpit at St. Paul's church on Sunday. He was the guest of Mr. H. Pitts during his stay in the city.

Rev. Mr. Allison, of St. Martins, will officiate next Sunday.

Dr. Henry V. S., has taken unto himself a fair bride today, Miss Ida Campbell, daughter of Mr. John A. Campbell, of Kingsclear. The bride looked lovely in white silk, long train; she was attended by her sister. The bride and bridesmaid each carried beautiful bouquets. The guests numbered about 100. Mr. and Mrs. Henry will come down to his residence on Brunswick street, where they will begin housekeeping.

Miss Florrie E. Randolph is visiting her friend, Miss Grace Day, at Sheffield.

Dr. Austin and Mrs. DeBolt returned from Germany and England, where they have been spending the last year, on Friday, and are visiting Mrs. DeBolt's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Day, at Upper Sheffield. Mrs. DeBolt is studying vocal music during her stay in Germany.

Mr. N. A. Cliff has arrived from Florida.

Mrs. Geo. Burton, of St. John, and her sister Mrs. Burton, of Washington, and niece, Mrs. McMichael, of Toronto, are visiting Fredericton for a few weeks. They are at Miss Allister, Waterloo road.

Mr. W. H. Robinson, of the bank of Nova Scotia, St. John, is home spending his vacation.

Mr. Wm. Bailey is home from Boston, spending his holidays, from the dental college.

Mrs. Steadman of this city, was elected president of the W. C. T. U. of Canada, which closed its session in St. John yesterday.

Mr. L. W. Johnston and Miss Johnston were in St. John last week attending the W. C. T. U. convention, also Mrs. Geo. Hatt and Mrs. A. F. Randolph.

Mr. Geo. Botsford, clerk of the legislative council, after a lengthy illness, died at his residence, Brunswick street, this afternoon.

Miss Maggie A. Howie, daughter of James R. Howie, of this city, died yesterday morning at her father's residence of consumption, after a long illness. She was 25 years old, and for a number of years a member of St. Paul's choir, and had a large circle of friends who will regret her early death. Within the past four years Mr. and Mrs. Howie have been called upon to mourn the death of four daughters and one son. They have the sympathy of the community. The funeral will take place at 2.30 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McDonald and Mr. Thomas Stanger will leave Fredericton early next month for a trip to Scotland.

Mr. J. L. McEtrick of the Massachusetts house of representatives, has been visiting this city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jennings. Mr. McEtrick is a nephew of Mrs. Jennings.

Mrs. Tom Morrison of New York has gone to St. John to visit friends.

Miss Cunningham has returned to her home in St. John.

Rev. Mr. Brewer of Charlottetown, P.E.I., spent Sunday with his friends here on his way to St. Stephen to attend the conference.

The young ladies of the baptist church intend having a milk make social in the temperance hall tomorrow evening.

Messrs. Herbert and Leonard Tilley of St. John are visiting their friends in Fredericton.

MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the book stores of W. W. Black and W. H. Murray, Main street.]

JUNE 24.—Moncton society doings read like a tale of woe just now, for all that the correspondent has to record is an unbroken series of departures, the number ten seeming to almost jostle each other in their efforts to see who will get out of town first. And yet, surely they are making a mistake, for if our own city ever looks well it is in June, when the trees are all in leaf, and the gardens gay with flowers, when the days are warm and the nights cool, and the frogs sing in the marshes and puddles by night, while your nearest neighbor's canary makes things lively for you by day. However, I suppose it is well that we don't all think alike, and prefer our own comfortable homes to the heat and glare of Shellac or Point du Chene, for it would be bad for the summer hotels.

Mrs. George W. Daniel has selected the beautiful village of Sussex as a summer resort, and departed with her two little boys last Friday, to the great regret of those among her friends who are not going out of town themselves this summer, and who will greatly miss Mrs. Daniel's bright society.

Mrs. J. L. Church left us some time ago, with her children, to spend the summer in Dorchester, and I understand that Mrs. R. W. Hewson intends leaving next week for the same place.

Mrs. H. A. Whitney will spend the summer at Point du Chene, for the benefit of the sea bathing.

Mrs. J. L. Harris is at Boston visiting her sister, Mrs. E. A. Record.

Mrs. George McSweeney returned last week from a visit to her former home at Summerside, P. E. I.

Mrs. William Barnes is spending a few days with friends in Dorchester.

Mrs. William Robertson returned on Thursday from a fortnight's visit to Sidney, C. B.

Miss Annie Cook is visiting her friend in Halifax.

Mrs. C. J. Butcher left town on Monday to spend a few weeks at her home in Newcastle.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Ross left town last Wednesday for Truro to attend the funeral of Dr. Ross, uncle of the Rev. Ebenezer Ross, of Dalhousie college.

Mr. C. D. Thomson returned last week from St. Albans, Vermont, whither she had gone to be present at the wedding of her brother, Mr. Eben E. MacLeod, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, of Boston, who was married on the 15th to Miss Bailey, daughter of Judge Bailey of Vermont.

Speaking of weddings reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

Speaking of marriages reminds me that these joyous occasions are growing to be of such everyday occurrence in Moncton that one feels almost tempted to embark upon the troubled sea oneself did not a warning voice from the lean and hungry depths of the pocket book cry out in clarion tones that time honored "advice to those about to marry—Don't!"

But such mundane considerations do not seem to trouble our young folks, probably not being literary people, most of them have no idea of what real poverty means. The last to enter the silent bonds was Miss Marion Weir, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Weir, who was married last Wednesday evening to Mr. Wm. Crockett, conductor on the western division of the L. C. R. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father on Foundry street, and was performed by the Rev. J. M. Robinson.

THE ECLIPSE.

WE HAVE A SPLENDID LINE OF THE CELEBRATED "ECLIPSE" HOSE.

THEY ARE GIVING THE GREATEST SATISFACTION.

Ladies and Children—all sizes; warranted "FAST," and will not "STAIN."

GOSAMERS, SUNSHADES, GLOVES,

IN GREAT VARIETY.

Our English and French Dress Goods, for midsummer wear, are selling rapidly; these goods are very fine, and equal to anything heretofore offered to the ladies of this city.

WELSH, HUNTER & HAMILTON, 97-KING STREET.-97

MILLTOWN. [Progress is for sale in Milltown at the post office.]

JUNE 24.—Miss Maggie Graham, of Nova Scotia, is in town, the guest of her uncle, Mr. W. H. Graham.

Rev. Allen Keene, of New Haven, Conn., preached in the congregational church on Sunday, having been engaged by the people of that denomination to attend to the people during the summer months.

Mrs. John Burton, of St. Andrews, has been visiting St. Stephen friends.

Miss Anderson spent last Sunday with her friend, Miss Gordon Jones, St. Stephen.

Miss Bixby spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Helen O'Brien, St. Andrews.

Mr. J. Grady and Mr. Percy Hanson, of St. Andrews, were among the visitors to St. Stephen on Sunday.

Mr. Matthews, divinity student, who is visiting Rev. J. C. Barrie, occupied the pulpit of St. Stephen Methodist church on Sunday morning. He gave an excellent sermon, which was well received, with rapid attention by all who had the pleasure of hearing him.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Todd, of St. Pauls, are the guests of Mr. C. F. Iodd.

Rev. R. W. Weddell, of St. Stephen, preached in Milltown, Me., last Sunday morning.

Miss Maggie Borton, of St. Andrews, is the guest of Miss Fannie Little, Calais, Me.

Mr. Albert Thompson, of the St. Croix Courier staff, has gone to St. Andrews, where he will work in the Bureau office during the summer.

A number of our K. of P. joined with their St. Stephen brethren on Sunday in decorating their deceased comrades graves.