Washburn, Sessions of New York, which takes place at St. John's church on Wednesday evening next, at 6.30 o'clock. After the ceremony a reception will be held at their residence, Princess street. This promises to be an unusually brilliant affair, and Miss Murray being a great favorite, her young friends are looking forward to it with much interest. Miss Murray will be attended by five bridesmaids, Miss Murray and Miss Woods, New York, Miss Josie Troop, Miss Grace McMillan, and her sister, Miss Madeline Murray.

Miss Ada Dever, who has been for the past year visiting relatives in England, was, I hear, presented at the queen's last drawing room. Miss Dever (who is an acknowledged beauty) must have looked very lovely in a magnificent court dress composed of white crepe de chene, trimmed with pearl fringe, corslet of pearl embroidery with girle to match. Train of rich brocade, lined with satin, the whole being trimmed with bunches of white roses. On dit that a gentleman across the water has fallen a victim to Miss Dever's charms. The last number of the Lady's Pictorial gives an engraving and graphic description of Miss Dever's presentation gown.

There is rarely a week passes without my having to make mention that death has been busy among us. The early death of Mr. Arthur M. Magee was a shock to his many friends in this city, and although in failing health for some time it was not thought his end was so near. For his young wife now twice a widow and his widowed mother much sympathy is felt. He leaves one little daughter, by his first wife, who was a daughter of the late Mrs. S. P. Osgood of this city.

An aged lady has also passed away this week. I refer to Miss Jane Boyd, who was a sister to the late Dr. John Boyd of this city, and aunt of Mr. Wm. M. Jarvis.

Mr. Joshua Clawson, of the bank of New Brunswick, has the sympathy of the community in the loss of his wife, whose death occurred on Tuesday last at her residence, King street, east. Her death is rendered doubly sad from the fact she leaves five little children.

The long talked of bazaar, in aid of the Hospital Nurses' Home, is fixed for next week, and all interested in it are very busy in their different departments, and there are, I understand, a great many. As well as the fancy, refreshment, dolls and flower tables, there will be an art room and a booth in which several of the most noted and well-known characters in Dickens' works will be represented, tableaux in which many society ladies and gentlemen will take prominent parts.

Mrs. G. S. Keator gave a very pleasant afternoon at home yesterday to a number of her lady friends. Miss Mellow Vroom is visiting Mrs. Lynch at Digby.

Mr. Babbit, of the Bank of Nova Scotia branch in Fredericton, spent his vacation in this city, and had hardly reached home when he was notified to return and fill a vacation vacancy in the St. John office. I fancy the order was a surprise and a pleasant one to Mr. Babbit.

Mrs. C. H. Clarke of St. Stephen and her sister, Mrs. Mellick of Cambridge, Mass., are visiting here, and are the guests of Mrs. Hatfield, Germain street.

On Tuesday morning Mr. W. L. Harding, son of Mr. George Harding, and Miss Minnie Coy, only daughter of Mrs. Holly Coy, were married very quietly in Trinity church, at halfpast six, by Rev. Canon Hygstock.

The bride was gowned in a very pretty grey suit, and was unattended. Only the immediate relatives and friends were present, and as soon as the ceremony was over, Mr. Harding and bride drove to the I. C. R. station and took the train for a trip to Washington, Philadelphia and other cities. On their return they will reside with Mrs. Coy. Mr. and Mrs. Harding have a numerous circle of friends at the West End, who wish them every possible happiness in their wedded life.

Mrs. W. A. Reed and family left this week for St. Stephens, where they will spend a short time.

Mr. Sampson has returned from a rice plantation in the West Indies.

The many West End friends of Mrs. A. Magee extend their sympathy to her, in the sudden death of her husband, which took place at their summer residence in Rothesay last Saturday.

Mrs. Edward Hickson and children left this week for her husband's home, after the usual congratulations. A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. E. J. Scammell, King street, on Thursday evening, when Miss Minnie Coy and Mr. Charles Leitch were made one.

The bride looked very pretty in a white brocade silk, en train, and the customary veil. She was unattended. Rev. Mr. Shore performed the very impressive ceremony before a few intimate friends of the bride and groom. The house was beautifully decorated with potted and cut flowers. After the usual congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Leitch led the way to the supper room, where a beautiful repast had been prepared. About ten o'clock the bridal party drove to their new home on Celebration street, amid a shower of rice and old shoes; the wedding journey being postponed until fall. The presents were very handsome. Among the guests invited were: Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Scammell, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Scammell, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Knight, Miss Knight, Mrs. Mrs. and Miss Wilton, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beatey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fowler, the Misses Blair, Dr. Mrs. and Miss White, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen, Mr. and Mrs. Le. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Tufts, Mr. Tufts, Jr., the Misses Fritz, and Mr. J. E. Cowan.

I hear we are to have two more weddings on King street, but they will not take place until the leaves begin to fall.

Mrs. J. Harry Leonard had a family tea party on Monday.

Mrs. Edward Hickson, Sr., had visitors with her last week.

Mrs. Chas. Brown's children are confined to the house with measles; also Mrs. James Hamm's children, it seems to be quite prevalent among the little ones.
