St. John—South End.

The evening "at home" given by Dr. Bayard and Mrs. E. Bayard took place on Wednesday with enormous success. A large number of the medical fraternity and their families were present, besides hosts of their St. John friends. Mrs. Bayard was assisted in the duties of hostess by the Misses Bayard. Everything that taste and outlay could accomplish was done to insure the success of the gathering, which was in every way one of the brightest of this season.

The ladies were dressed in full evening costume, and some of the gowns worn were very beautiful. Perhaps no residence in this city is better fitted for entertaining than that of Dr. Bayard's, and although there were some hundreds of guests present there was no overcrowding.

As well as the spacious drawing rooms, reception-room and dining room, the doctor's offices were thrown open. These rooms, together with the large halls, gave plenty of room for moving about.

Great taste was displayed in the decorations, both of the house and supper table. The latter was filled with all the luxuries of the season, while coffee, ices, soups, etc., were handed round during the evening. Ferns and cut flowers were plentifully used in decoration, the mantles being banked and fireplaces filled with them. Music was furnished throughout the evening by members of Harrison's orchestra.

Dr. and Mrs. Walker gave an elegant little lunch to some of the visiting physicians at their residence, Princess street on Wednesday, when a very enjoyable time was spent.

Dr. Bruce entertained a number of the doctors at lunch at the Union club on Wednesday. Altogether the M. D.'s seem to have spent a very pleasant week in St. John.

Miss Sarah Britain arrived from New York this week to pay a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Britain, Queen street.
