Granville street Knight & Co, -Maplewood, the scene of many a brilliant gathering, was en fete on Tuesday evening last, as the carriages rolled up the wide avenue with their freight of beautiful women and gallant men, who came to do honor to the invitation of their gracious hosts of the XIX. club-a number of young men of the city who last year banded together and gave a dance at this same romantic Maplewood, which proving so delightful, a second fete of the same nature was decided upon this year, which came off with great eclat on the evening mentioned above. But this year everything was carried out on a much grander scale. The night was perfect, the spacious grounds were rendered fairylike, being beautifully illuminated with Chinese lanterns, colored lights, torches, etc. During the earlier part of the evening the young harvest moon added its silvery beams to the already bright scene. Within doors it looked beautiful, the decorations were very pretty, the doors and windows being artistically draped with flags, and vines and flowers were tastefully arranged in the different rooms. A large marquee draped with flags and decorated with Chinese lanterns was next the dancing hall, and proved a delightful retreat between the dances. The Amerino band was present, and Street, always so popular upon these occasions, did the waiting in his usual good style. Altogether, the Maplewood dance is numbered among the most successful of its

The Lorne club held a reception on Friday evening last which was much enjoyed. The club and grounds were brilliantly illuminated, the surrounding steamers, vessels, yachts, and boats lighted up to do honor to the festive occasion; the effect from the water was very fine. The Leicestership band played during the evening. Altogether shire band played during the evening. Altogether the effect was fairylike and beautiful.

Miss Dora Clarkson returned last week from England, where she has been for more than a year, visiting friends. All are glad to welcome back a young lady who is one of society's greatest

Last week the weather was in very bad humor. Picnickers, particularly, had a very hard time of it. They either started on one of those dull atternoons, thinking the clerk of the weather might cheer up and allow them to enjoy a pleasant evening returning which as is usual ended in disappointment, obliging them to find their way home as best they could through banks of densest fog, or else on the appointed day the pelting rain tabooed all thoughts of picnicking, at least for that especial day. Miss Storey and several other young ladies had gotten up a picnic for last Thursday which the unpleasant weather put a stop to. Deciding not to postpone to the following, day which perchange, might prove weather put a stop to. Deciding not to postpone to the following day which, perchance, might prove quite as unpleasant, they decided to comprise matters by resolving the picnic into a dance which was carried out very successfully on Thursday evening.

Mr. Dick Moren left on Monday last for St. John, where he was married to Miss Hazen of that city. Before leaving in the evening, train he was city. Before leaving in the evening train, he was given a grand "send off" by his brother bachelors at Hillside Hall, who assembled and presented Mr. Moren with a handsome piece of silver. The presentation was followed by a supper, Mr. Almon Ritchie giving "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne" in his usual capital style.

While the fine weather continues picnics will, no doubt, be the order of the day. Everybody was, of course, delighted to have such a delightful day as Wednesday last, but none more so than those who were happy in having an invitation to Mrs. Wm. Bauld's picnic which was held at Macnab's island. The guests went off in boats from the yacht club at 4 p. m., where they spend the afternoon, and after a sumptuous tea all returned to Mrs. Bauld's large residence, where dancing became the order of the evening. Among the guests were Miss Edna King, the Misses Lithgow, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bauld, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bauld, Miss Sutcliff, the Misses Moren, Miss Wilson, the Misses White, Miss Cornelius, Miss Chisholm, Mrs. Pearson, Mr. Cornish, Mr. Harley, Mr. Bonner, Mr. Furnace, Mr. Chipman, Mr. Lyde, Mr. Cowie, Mr. Lithgow, Dr. and Mrs. Cogswell, Miss Lithgow, Miss Grace Hunter. Mr. Wallace McDonald, son of the chief justice, was married on Tuesday evening last to Miss Minnetta Shannon. The ceremony was quiet, being performed at the residence of the bride's father, Judge Shannon, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being invited. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Jas. McDonald, and Mr. Ritchie, and the bridesmaid was little Miss Shannon, daughter of the bride's brother. Immediately after the ceremony the happy pair left by the 10.30 p. m. train to Boston and Niagara. Mr. G. Crawford of St. John is at the Queen

DARTMOUTH.

SEPT. 9 .- Dartmouth has been unusually dull for some time past-no dances and few entertainments of any kind. I héard a lady not long since bewailing the dearth of young men in Dartmouth, and no wonder, for there is certainly a most deplorable lack; of course girls are in the majority everywhere but in the far west, though in no place I am sure, to such an extent as in Dartmouth. Instead of "Go west young man," it should be, go west young woman. However, our girls though numerous, are none the less fastidious, and I doubt if the average Westerner backed by a dozen gold mines (I think that is the commodity they are always supposed to possess) would be acceptable. Of course there are western men and western men, but we are under the impression that the ones who advertise for helpmeets, or have to come east to seek them, are not generally the creme de la creme.

But to return to Dartmouth. A young girl there is supposed to enjoy herself as much with a youth of sixteen, a decrepid bachelor or even a married man as with an eligible partner, and is thought quite too nnreasonable if she occasionally emits a sigh and expresses a wish for a better arrangement; but it certainly does give more zest to a party when there are a number of gentlemen approaching in some degree to one's own age; at least that was my experience when I was young enough to "trip the light fantastic."

This scarcity of gentlemen is the chief reason that dances are so rare in Dartmouth. It is not that our girls cannot dance, as they do most things well, or that the Dartmouth ladies are not hospitable. Mr. T. Cutler left on Monday last for a trip to the western coast in the interest of the Nova Scotia sugar refinery, of which he is manager. Miss Fannie Parker has returned from Antigonish, where she has been on a visit to Mrs. Gregory.

Rev. Arthur and Mrs. Chute returned on Monday to their home in Chicago, where Mr. Chute is pastor of a flourishing bap tist church. While in Dartmouth they were the guests of Mrs. Hunt.
Dartmouth churches must have had scant congregations on Sunday night, judging from the number to be seen in St. Paul's, where a special service was held in commemoration of the 141st anniversary of the consecration of that church. The lord bishop of Huron was the preacher, and any who went to hear him must have felt amply repaid, for though the sermon occupied three-quarters of an hour it was too engrossing to make one conscious of its length. The episcopalians have reason to be proud of such a man as Bishop Baldwin.

It was a pity the trip to Bedford, undertaken with such good intentions by the chaperon, proved fruitless; however she must remember that Rome was not built in a day, and the experiment repeated may be more successful.

The Dartmouth lawn tennis club has invited the members of St. George's club to their grounds on Saturday next. This is only reciprocity, as a most enjoyable afternoon was spent at St. George's club a fortnight ago by the members of the other. What a place is the tennts ground for flirtations! I think the tea members often enjoy watching the progress of Cupid's game even more than that of tennis. seems to me the enamored swain might hold the hand of his divinity at home and while at tennis go hand of his divinity at home and while at tennis go in for the game only. One stalwart form is missing from the ranks this year; it is said that an affaire du coeur rather than professional business has taken him over the "big pond."

The storm on Monday night was severely felt here much damage being done to the wharves, etc. The washing away of the R. R. bridge across the narrows connect he looked upon as an unmixed evil, for rows, cannot be looked upon as an unmixed evil, for had it not occurred now it is likely there would have been a loss of life at some time. I have heard it repeatedly remarked that the wood of which it was built could not withstand the ravages of the insects that bore it, for more than four or five years, and that time has about elapsed; the bridge cost a goodly sum and I doubt if after all the "boodling" we have been reading about, there can be much spare money in the treasury to rebuild it. Some of the employees on the Dartmouth branch will feel that their field of usefulness is gone in more ways than one, for besides providing for the safe landing of the bodies in Dartmouth, great efforts were made at the same time to insure the safe conduct of souls into paradise when dissolution should

It was somewhat depressing when setting out on a journey to be treated to a dissertation on the uncertainty of life and was almost sure to make the most frivolous traveller somewhat serious if until only the drawbridge was passed. It was no doubt meant kindly and may have borne fruit.

figured as one of the principals in an interesting event this morning, when he was united in mar-riage to Miss Emma Marsters, daughter of Mr. C. A. Marsters. The ceremony was quietly observed in the presence of a few of the immediate friends and relatives of the bride at her own home. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Mainwaring. The bride, attired in a handsome travelling toilette of navy blue camel's cloth, with jewel trimmings, entered the room about ten a. m. on the arm of her father, attended by three little maids: her two nieces, the Misses Alice and Daisie Publicover, and Miss France Bennet, of Halifax. The little girls looked very charming in dainty costumes of pale, blue cashmere, with trimmings of white silk, white lockery bets, with white plumes, the gifts of the leghorn hats, with white plumes, the gifts of the bride.
