Oct. 21 .- The scene at St. Ann's church last evening on the occasion of Miss Sadie Wetmore's wedding, was simply disgraceful. Fully an hour before the time appointed for the marriage the sidewalks was thronged with people, and the doors having been kept closed until the last minute, when they were opened the crushing and pushing was appalling, dozens of strong young men pushing their way through regardless of women and children. The scene was a perfect pandemonium, women screaming, children crying, men shouting and laughing, while those in the front of the crowd were literally carried into the church by those in the rear. The noise and confusion inside of the church reminded one more of a rabel crowd at a political minded one more of a rabel crowd at a political meeting than a gathering in a place of worship. I should think this disgraceful scene would forcibly show the mistake of keeping the doors of a church closed until the last minute when a wedding is to take place. Had the people been able to go into the church in small parties during that hour all this trouble would have been saved. The bridal party had great dificulty in making their way through had great difficulty in making their way through the crowd to the altar. The bride came in on the arm of her father Mr. H. G. C. Wetmore, provincial librarian, followed by her bridesmaid, Miss Blanch

Owing to some mistake on the part of the coach-man, the groom, Mr. T. Amos Wilson, formerly of St. John but now a resident of this city, and his sup-port, Mr. R. A. Cropley, were some minutes late, causing a very embarrassing interval for the bride. To overcome this in a measure the choir continued singing "The voice that breathed o'er Eden" until singing "The voice that breathed o'er Eden" until their arrival. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Poterts. The bride looked exceedingly well in a very handsome pearl grey silk, plainly but prettily made, gloves and slippers to match. She wore grey ostrich tips in her hair and carried an exquisite bouquet of cream roses and smilax, tied with cream ribbon. The bridesmaid was robed in a lovely cignamon brown Benrietts dress trimmed lovely cinnamon brown Henrietta dress, trimmed with darker brown silk, gloves to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink roses tied with pink riba beautiful bouquet of pluk roses the with pluk roses bon. The guests only included the two families; and directly after the ceremony the bridal party drove to Mr. Wilson's residence, King street, the future home of the happy couple, where a delicious supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson did not take any wedding trip, but ouigtly settied down in their home. quietly settied down in their home.

SACKVILLE.

Oct. 21.-The members of our society seem to be going off like "hot cakes" just now. Some are taking advantage of the low excursion rates to visit friends and relatives in Boston and New York-a number of our beaux and benedicts are off for the 'shooting," and the summer visitors are seeking "fields and pastures new." If we go to call on our dearest friend, the announcement comes like a thunder-clap that she has "folded her tent and Arablike stolen silently away in the night !" What a blank and desolate feeling steals over us at such times as these! We are filled with such pleasant anticipations, and the transition is so sudden that we cannot realize all it means at first. If we enter her room, it seems filled with the invisible presence of one who was but lately its sunshine. We look around; there is her favorite seat, the flowers she around; there is her favorite seat, the flowers she placed there with such loving thought for the plea-sure of others, even the book she was reading, with the leaf turned down when leaving off. What asso-ciations the sight of these mute reminders call up! They seem to have voices, telling of her who has gone! Our glance falls on her photo. Yes, it is indeed the well remembered features, but oh! how we realize how poor a substitute a "sun shadow" is we realize how poor a substitute a "sun shadow" is for the living presence of a loved and absent one! The affectionate welcome, the sympathetic listening to all we have to tell, the winning ways, all are gone! Then the yearning and pathos of the oft quoted lines comes home to us with wonderful was seen in town on Friday. The monthly reception at the Ladies academy on Saturday evening was largely attended, and even more enjoyable than usual. On entering the recepion room, the guests were hospitably welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Borden and the preceptress Mrs. Archibald. After promenading through the halls and greeting friends in the drawing room, all adjourned to conservatory hall for the musical part of the reception. A varied programme was beauti-fully rendered, by the musical staff of Mount Allison, and very much enjoyed by the large audience present. The hall was brilliantly illuminated by the electric light, and the platform decor. ated with potted plants, fancy tables and chairs, making an effective picture. The increased attendance of the professors, teachers, and students, as well as invited guests at these moonlight receptions show that the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Borden, aided by the teachers, (resident at the Ladies academy) to make them informally enjoyable is appreciated by all. The young ladies on this occasion were beautifully and becomingly dressed in costumes of many different hues, and looked most charming. Most of those present at the reception remained for the entertainment given later, by the Maritime Young Men's Christian Association, now holding its annual convention in Sackville. Interesting addresses were given by several of the delegates, and a number of hymns were finely sung by the audience, ably accompanied by Miss Vroom on the piano.

MONCTON.

[PROGRESS is for sale in Moncton at the book stores of W. W. Black and W. H. Murray, Main street.]

Oct. 21 .- Great excitement was caused amongst all the various grades of Moncton society on Sunday morning by the apparently trivial fact that the large official flag of the I. C. R. was floating over the general offices! I say the "official flag," advisedly, because if that flag is not in office I don't know who is, and its appearance invariably denotes that something is going on in official circles. Consequently the excitement ran very high on Sunday. It began amongst the vere de vere's who gazed at it languidly, and it slowly filtered down through the upper and lower middle classes until it finally died out among the working classes who didn't care much what it was there for so long as it did not portend a visit from the august Mr. Schrieber, and a consequent reduction of wages in the railway shops. Human nature revels in the dreadful, I am afraid, so we tried at first to persuade ourselves that it was half mast, but the hope proved fallacious, and as neither Prince George or Lord Stanley are anywhere near Moncton this autumn, we had to content ourselves with something less and arrive at the conclusion that the minister of railways was making a tour of inspection, which conclusion proved correct, and our accustomed calm was re-stored until we ascertained that the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, acting minister of railways makenzie Bowell, acting minister of railways, was accom-panied on his tour of inspection by Mr. Schrieber himself, when some of us ceased to be so calm. The official party remained in Moncton until Tuesday evening.

Matters are decidedly looking up in social circles. The West End Whist club has, like the Phœnix of old, risen from its ashes, and taken a new lease of life. So has the delightful Bread and Butter club, which has been so popular for the last two winters; and, under the magic hands of Miss Harris and the Misses McKean, its bids fair to be more popular than ever. Of the East End Whist club I have heard nothing; but, perhaps, it will speak for itself heard nothing; but, perhaps, it will speak for itself in the near future. Weddings and anniversaries of weddings are of weekly occurrence now. The last wedding was that of Miss Menna Coleman, daughter of Mr. Cole-man of the I. C. R. shops, to Mr. Charles B. Clarke, of the I. C. R. The wedding took place at the bride's home, on Dominion street, the ceremony being performed by Mr. Deinstadt. The bride looked charming, as all brides's should, and wore a costume of dark grey sating, with bonquet of cream costume of dark grey satine, with bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Geldart, of Riviere du Loup, and Miss Hicks of St. John, wore costumes du Loup, and Miss Hicks of St. John, wore costumes of grey cashmere, and carried bouquets of pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. D. J. Clarke, of Cumberland county, N. S., brother of the groom. There were nearly 100 guests present, and after sup-per was over, dancing became the order of the even-ing until a late hour. The wedding presents, were, as the phrase goes, "both numerous and valuable." The latest anniversary wedding, which has been celebrated, was that of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cole, whose friends surprised them with a crystal wedding on Monday evening, which was the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. The surprise was well planned and genuine, the The surprise was well planned and genuine, the company consisting off some 30 hilarious young people, who came bearing pretty and useful gifts, and who evidently came with the full intention of enjoying themselves to the uttermost, which they at nce proceeded to do, with great success. They intend residing in England in future, and will sail intend residing in England in future, and will sail places to sell PROGRESS. One of our boys sells over $10 worth of PROGRESS every Saturday morning. Others sell $8, $6, $4, and down to $1 worth, and even less than that, but they all make money. The more papers they sell, of course the more money made. We do not care if you only order two copies at the start-the next week you can order more if you want them, and the next week more. To show you just how easy it is to get customers for PROGRESS, we will tell you this story: A little boy in Kingston, Kent county, sent to us asking if he could get some PROGRESS to sell. His father helped him along, by sending a note saying he would be responsible for what papers his boy received. We sent him five copies the first week, before the next week had passed we received a postal card from the boy asking for thirteen copies, and the next week he sent for eighteen copies. He has only been selling the paper three weeks, and his list of customers has grown rapidly. He makes 24 cents every week selling those 18 papers--not much for a man, but a good deal to a boy. PROGRESS wants just such boys in very many towns and villages in the maritime provinces. We want them in such places as Marysville, Canterbury, Harvey, Centreville, Buctouche, Hillsborough, Chipman, Yarmouth, Kentville, Bridgewater, Lunenburg, Wolfville, and a score of other places that cannot be mentioned here. Send us a letter or a postal, and don't forget to ask your father or some responsible person to send his name as a reference. Remember that you do not require any money to start. If you are the right kind of a boy you will pay us at the end of the month, and that will satisfy us.

A quiet wedding took place last evening at Nash-waaksis, when Mr. John V. Johnston, adjutant of the 71st battalion was united in marriage to Mrs. Thompson; the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Eatough of Trinity church, St. John, the bride being a sister of Mrs. Eatough and a niece of Mrs. Chas. Medley.

On Monday evening last Major Buchan entertained ten of his gentlemen friends at a whist party at the barracks. I understand it was a most enjoyable affair.

Surprise parties seem to be the order of the day at present. Mrs. Hilyard was the prime mover in getting up one of these pleasant surprises for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beckwith at their pleasant residence last evening. Owing to the very disagreeable evening only a small number of those invited were able to get there; but a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present. A delicious supper was provided by the guests. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hilyard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckwith, Capt. and Mrs. Hemming, Mrs. Charles Beckwith, Capt. and Mrs. Hemming, Mrs. Robertson, Boston, Miss Ida Allen, Miss Burnside, Major Buchan, Mr. Mott, Mr. Schoffield, Mr. Sharp, Mr. F. Among these were two beautiful pillows, one from the husband with the word wife in purple letters in the centre; the other from the brother, Dr. Frank Brown, and his wife; a beautiful wreath of from Mrs. A. G. Beckwith; a wreath of roses and wheat from Miss Holly, St. John; a wreath of roses from Miss Annie Carman; beautiful bouquets from Bessie Jack (who is in St. Andrews) and Miss McDonald, the latter having painted the name and date of death in gold letters on white satin ribbon with which the bouquet was tied. These are only a few of the offerings. The remains were interred at Forest Hill cemetery, where services were said by Canon Roberts and Rev. Mr. Parkinson. Would not a debating society prove an original amusement for our young people, as well as their elders in society, the coming winter? Such yexatious questions as what is society, who are, and who not, the leaders and members of it; also what properly constitutes society news, might be, perhaps, forever settled. These questions just now seem to be the leading topics of conversation for those people who are never suited, but want the earth and all n it modelled after their own plan.

Oct. 21.-There is a dubious sweetness about an autumn day in which the rain falls with a mild but exceeding firm persistency. More than half of our days in this month have been of that style, so I think the least said, soonest mended. One could utilize Longfellow's "Rainy day" with much more appropriateness, or, had one no pity for hoary age and relentless usage, "The melancholy days have come!" But I move that we consider that an accepted fact, and give the hard worked couplet a needed rest. Que pensey vous? At any rate, they from 4 to 7 o'clock. It was the occasion of her little have come, and with them a most unique and effective species of cold, which many of our residents have been enjoying. A cold is worse than the tooth ache. I think one suffers intensely, and never obtains any sympathy, which is trying, and the effects upon one's speaking countenance is not pretty, to say the least. Dr. J. F. Teed and Messrs. Lane and B. B. Teed have all been laid up, and many others I

We Dorchesterites enjoyed a genuine treat last week in the court house, when Mr. Struthers, of Toronto, gave his exhibition of stereoscopic views. There was a series of pictures illustrating the life of Christ, which were fine in themselves, and I hardly cared for the explanations and moral reflections of the exhibitor. I don't know why it jars upon one to hear sacred subjects talked about and commented upon in a place of this sort, but the fact remains. The views illustrating "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," were particularly good, and as the audience sang the hymn, at the request of the exhibitor, the effect of it all in the quiet, darkened room was very quaint and solemn. The house was crowded, and I think everyone appreciated the affair. The last performance of any sort here—before this one—was Zig-Zag, and I believe it drew a seven-dollar house ! exclusively masculine in texture. The daily papers had warned the public. One cannot understand the raison d'etre of that sort of show. It cannot possibly pay expenses under any circumstances, and its aim i not the improvement of the public, I should imagine

The sole and solitary event in society circles was a small drive whist party on Monday evening, given by Mrs. P. A. Landry in honor of Mrs. Benedict, of Moncton. Mrs. Landry's parties are always de-lightful, and this was no exception to the rule. Mrs. M. G. Teed won the ladies first prize, a very pretty pair of candlesticks, but I forget who bore away the honors among the gentlemen.

Miss McCarthy, Mrs. Landry's sister, is spending the autumn here. Mrs. C. B. Record, of Moncton, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. R. Emmerson.

Mrs. Hewson's many friends will rejoice to hear that she is recovering from the low fever to which she has been a victim. There is a great deal of it in Moncton I believe, and we are very fortunate to escape. This wet, warm weather is most conducive to the cultivation of microbes I fancy. How times have changed since everything in the way of illness was piously ascribed to "Providence," and supposed to be a particular visitation. Now we turn our attention to the cellar and the back yard, and don't blame Providence for ills which are entirely
