July, 29 .- At an early hour this afternoon a large number of ladies with a fair sprinkling of the sterner sex, could be seen hurrying to the cathedral to witness the marriage ceremony of one of Fredericton's society belles. At a few minutes to two o'clock Mr. Frederic D. Widder, of the bank of Montreal, London, Ont., supported by Mr. A. R. Wetmore, jr., C. E., took his place before the altar; a few minutes after the bride, Miss Laura M. Wetmore, entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. W. Wetmore, and followed by her maid of honor, Miss Jennie Winslow. The bride looked particularly handsome in her bridal costume of white falle de Français, long train, trimmed with chiffon, tulle veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet of cream roses. Miss Winslow was attired in cream bengaline, hat of pink roses, and carried an exquisite bouquet of pink roses tied with pink ribbon. The ceremony was performed by Rev F. Alexander, and owing to the continued illness of the bride's father, she was given away by her brother, Mr. J. W. Wetmore. The choir sang the usual wedding hymns, and Prof. Bristowe played the wedding march as the bridal party left the church. Owing to Judge Wetmore's ill health the wedding was very quiet, only a few of the nearest relatives and friends being invited. The guests present were: Mrs. Wetmore, Dr. and Mrs. Holden, Miss Holden, St John, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Winslow, Judge and Mrs. Fraser, Miss Wetmore, Mrs. Millidge, St. John. JULY 29 .- My "weekly record of current events" has narrowed down to a sort of chronicle of arrivals and departures. Of course I might devote my talents to a description of the different kinds of preserves the first families are making, and the number of pots made by each person; but though this would be full of interest to housekeepers, it would scarcely satisfy the general public. I fancy there must have been a great harvest of preserves this season, since sugar is down-24 pounds for a dollar in some shops-and all other conditions seem

I believe we have only had one picnic since I lsst wrote, or two at the most, one of which took place today, but as it is only a public one, and a Sunday School picnic, too, I suppose it scarcely counts in the way of dissipation, but nevertheless it will mean a day of pleasure for the children of the methodist Sunday school. Point de Chene is the spot chosen, in order to give the little ones a day at the seaside. Yesterday morning a gay party of young people left town in the commercial house tally-ho coach for Shediac where they were to take a schooner and spend the day mackerel fishing. There is a driving party en route for Nickerson's The marriage of Miss Minnie Winslow, daughter of Mr. John C. Winslow, and Mr. J. Alfred Robert, of Montreal, which was solemnized in St. Luke's church on Wednesday evening of last week, was a most brilliant affair, and by far the prettiest wedding seen in Woodstock for many years. The church was filled to overflowing with the guests, acquaintances and well wishers of the bride, who was not only one of Woodstock's fairest belles, but a general favorite as well, so from far and near came they all to do her homage. At a quarter to seven the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and followed by her four maids, Miss Pauline Winslow, sister of the bride, Miss Carrie Winslow, cousin of the bride, (Fredericton) Miss Fairy Brayley, (Montreal) and Miss Lottie Sjostedt, the little niece of the bride who was maid of honor. As they came up the aisle the choir sang that beautiful marriage hymn, "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," the congregation joining in with great heartiness till the echoes rang with the joyous anthem. The bridegroom, attended by Major Dibblee, awaited them at the chancel. Canon Neales read the service and it seemed even more solemn and beautiful than usual, for the windows cast a mystic radiance over the wedding group at the altar, as if to convey a blessing from The bride looked lovely in an elegant gown of palest tint of yellow bengaline with square train, trimmed with chiffon and orange blossoms, long veil of tulle reaching to edge of the train.

Each carried a basket of white flowers, and they made as pretty a group of maidens as ever attended a fair bride.

The church was prettily decorated with flowers and the ends of the pews held a wreath of marguerites. The ushers were Dr. Rankin, Mr. Charles Bostwick, St. John, and Mr. Arthur Garden. The vicinity of the church was crowded with those who could not get room inside, and as the wedding march pealed forth everybody drew near to catch a glimpse of the bridal party. If there is any truth in the old adage, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on," happy indeed will be the future of this bride, on," happy indeed will be the future of this bride, for the day was perfect and the evening was balmy and cool. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Robert, the bridesmaids, ushers and a few immediate friends of the family returned to the house and had refreshments, after which the happy couple left for the train. A large number attended them to the station. The usual shower of rice and slippers was not omitted, and as the train moved out of the station hearty cheers were given for the bride. The Life of Sir John A. Macdonald

THE fame of Sir John A. Macdonald is so great and unique in Canada that many biographies of him are sure to be published. For the most part these will be what are vulgarly called "fakes," intended will be what are vulgarly called "fakes," intended only as catchpennies, and necessarily defective because their authors have not had access to the original sources of information. The work was approaching completion when the distinguished Statesman died, and Col. Macpherson is now at work upon the final chapters. This will, of course, be the biography, and the only one having the direct approval of the family. It is to be published in two handsomely bound volumes by the Earle Publishing House, of St. John, N. B., being printed on superior paper and profusely and artistically illustrated. No paper and profusely and artistically illustrated. Canadian, of whatever political party, should consider his library complete without this work, which cannot fail to be an interesting synopsis of the recent history of the Dominion.

JULY 29 .- The dance given last Thursday by Mrs. Sargeant, in honor of her guests, was a decided success. Their lovely country residence, with its spacious grounds, is most suitable for a summer party. Chinese lanterns, many hued, swayed to and fro among the trees, and the large dancing tent, erected at one side of the lawn, decorated with bunting and evergreens, looked most inviting. It is scarcely necessary to say what a kind host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. Sargeant are, and I need hardly add that their guests thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Many of the dresses worn were very pretty, but I can only enumerate a few stored to Perfect Health. Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, ntense palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that

Sarsapait had Suffering Hood's cured his dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before 8 Years the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla
