Can you realize that August is quickly flying from us. Just take up the calendar and count how many days remain. Let us see. My letter reaches you on Saturday; well, then, only eight days more and summer will be virtually over and gone, as quickly and suddenly as pass away other incidents in this life of ours which have been long lookforwarded to and awaited with as much patience as is our short season of summer. September usually in Nova Scotia a delightful month, brings its short days and cool evenings, every day bringing us nearer that season when, with the poet, we must bid adieu to

Lines of white in a sullen sea, Shadows rising on you and me; The swallows making them ready to fly, Wheeling out in a windy sky-Goodbye, summer! goodbye, goodbye."

Heigho! such is life. Let us look at all phases of life like good philosophers. If the nights in autumn have been robbed somewhat of the warm breath of summer, let us not forget that they possess other advantages. They are admirably suited to dancing, and this is, of course, the reason why September and October have always been very gay in society. Most people like to give a dance before the fleet leaves for the Bermudas, and these events usually come off in the autumn. This year we are anticipating an unusually brilliant season. The "exhibition" is to be held here in October, during which time there will be, it is to be hoped, considerable pleasure and excitement; and then, perhaps, for in this direction we do not like to anticipate, having so often met with disappointment, there may be something on at the Academy worth hearing; for the last six weeks there has been nothing on the boards, with the exception of a third or fourth rate opera company. This has been a decidedly dull week both in society and out of it. Sir John Ross gave a dance at Belvue on Thursday last which was much enjoyed. The night was intensely warm for dancing, ut in the spacious ballroom of Belvue the heat was scarcely felt. The magnificent grounds were beautifully illuminated and the conservatories gleamed with lamps and Chinese lanterns. For some time the moon's pale light lent additional charms to the fairy-like scene, but she had gone to rest several hours before the carriages rolled away.

On Saturday the Leicestershire band gave an afternoon concert in the public gardens. A large number were present among whom were many strangers, mostly Americans. A large assemblage of the fashionable element were collected on the lawns and in the spacious grounds at "Belvue" to view the tennis tournament. During the afternoon ices, tea and other refreshments were served.

On this same afternoon there was also a pichic: Birch cove gotten up by a number of young ladies and gentlemen chaperoned by Mrs. Pierson. This pleasant affair was what is known as a basket picnic, that is to say, the ladies provide the luncheon afternoon tea or whatever you like to call it, which they put in baskets and the gentlemen carry the they put in baskets and the gentlemen carry the baskets and assist in spreading the contents under the sylvan shades in the spot selected by the fair dames. Among those present were: Mrs. Pierson, Miss Corneleies, Miss Wilson, the Misses Bauld, Miss White, Miss Duncanson, Miss Creed, Miss Edna Ring, Mr. Cornish, Mr. S. Cornish, Mr. Harley, Mr. Bonnor, Mr. Furness.

A very pleasant little picnic took place at Cow Bay on Friday of last week; the party started in one of Green's large drags from Dartmouth. Everything conspired to render the day exceptionally pleasant, and a very happy but very tired party returned to the city by the 10 p. m. boat. Among those present were Mrs. Congdon, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wallace, Miss McKay, Miss Lluck, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. O'Brian,

Miss Mabel Payne gave a large dance on Wednesday evening. The young people tripped the light fantastic until the small hours of the grey dawn. A delicious supper was served during the evening. Altogether the dance was voted a thorough success by all who were fortunate enough to have been present. Following are the names of several who were among those invited: Miss King, Miss White, Miss Wilson, Miss Keefe, Miss Murphy, Miss Romans, Miss Chisholm, Mr. Furness, Miss Bauld, Miss Lithgow, Miss E. King, Mr. Ward, Mr. J. Bauld, Mr. Neal, Mr. Harley, Mr. Johnstone, Miss Duncanson, Miss Stimpson. A bazaar and afternoon tea was held on Thursday at Elmwood, the residence of the Rev. N. Richardson, in aid of the Church of England mission. Most of the Dutch Village residents assisted, and particularly a number of young ladies, who, coquettishly arrayed in pretty summer costumes, presided over the several booths and succeeded in scoring quite a tidy little sum towards the aid of the mission. Among those who assisted were Miss Doull, Miss Lear, Miss K. Keefe, Miss Murphy, Miss A.

YARMOUTH.

[Progress is for sale in Yarmouth at the stores of E. I. Vickery and Harris & Horsfall.] Aug. 19 .- The streets of our town from Tuesday until Saturday, presented an unusually gay appearance. Strings of flags crossed the main thoroughfare at different points. And the gold bedecked, crimsomed sashed, plumed hatted oddfellows, with the light colored summer costumes of the ladies, made a variegated picture of color most pleasing to the eye. There was a grand parade by 400 oddfellows on Wednesday, accompanied by three brass bands. At noon the corner stone of the new hall was laid, and from 2 p. m. until 6 o'clock, a reception and banquet was given by the Yarmouth lodge to the visiting brethren at the skating rink. The American patriarchs left by steamer at 7.30. Thursday the grand lodge held its annual session, and on Friday, excursion by land and sea to the most beautiful spots in the country, were in order. Saturday saw the remainder of the gay uniforms disappear from our streets, and the oddfellows' reunion of '91 had ended. The visitors all spoke in the highest terms of the hospitality of our people.

I had intended giving you a full account of the oratorio of Naaman, given by the Philharmonic society in Providence church on Thursday evening, but I supposed it would be an old story by the time your next edition appeared. Suffice to say the concert was in every way a periect success. The audience was large and fashionable and appeared to thoroughly appreciate the efforts of the singers, though the rather strained idea that applause in a church is not proper, limited the expressions of ap- to the good old-fashioned hay-wagon, going to the proval by hand clapping. The rapt attention of the east or going to the west; the latter road is more hearers however during the performance, proved often preferred, as it leads to those beautiful resorts how well they were entertained. The solos were taken by Mrs. W. S. Carter, of your city, Mrs. A. W. Masters, formerly of St. John, but whom we now claim as a Yarmouthian, Mrs. W. C. McKinnon, Miss Annie Kelley, Miss Potter, Mr. D. C. Gillis of Halifax, Messrs. W.H. Dane, W. E. Perry, Angustus Cann, all of whom rendered their parts Augustus Cann, all of whom rendered their parts in a highly creditable manner, their cultivated voices showing great excellence. The chorus singing was grand in the extreme, the more than fifty voices rising, swelling and dying away in perfect unison and blending together in sweetest harmony, gave evidence of thorough training. Too much praise cannot be given to the accompanists, Mrs. T. V. B. Bingay, Miss Fannie Cann, pianists, Mr. Allison, organist, their playing being one of the features of the evening. As a trio for organ and pianos, the two marches in "Naaman" will long be remembered by the lovers of good music who were privileged to hear them Thursday evening. In giving to the people of our town this musical treat the Philharmonic society deserve thanks, and Mr. J. B. Hopley, the gratitude of all for to his unremitting care and strenuous exertions is due the success of the undertaking, and he has proved him-self a musical artist of no small ability, and a first class conductor. I feel I am echoing the sentiments

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Murray. For quickly organizing an impromptu dance, the young gentlemen of Yarmouth are celebrated, and they never used their talents in that direction to better advantage, than when on Thursday morning of last week, Mr. Arthur Stonen an, Mr. Fred Ryerson and Mr. Barney Crosby sent out invitations for an informal dance at Kıllam's hall, for Friday evening, in honor of the many visitors in town. About 100 ladies and gentlemen were present. At nine o'clock dancing began and was kept up until 2 a.m. At midnight, light refreshments were passed around. The affair though so hurriedly arranged, was most enjoyable, and the strangers present expressed themselves as charmed with the beauty, and dancing of our young ladies. As the party was an informal one, full dress was not the order of the evening, but all the young ladies were most charmingly yet simply dressed, and the gentlemen for the most part wore the regulation "clawhammer." ### WOLFVILLE.

Aug. 19 .- The topic of greatest interest during the past week was the marriage of Miss Lillian J., daughter of Mr. S. P. Benjamin, to the Rev. Wm. M. Smallman, pastor of the baptist church, Dartmouth. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. A. Higgins, at the bride's home, on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, the bride's sister, Miss May Benjamin, and the groom's brother, acting as bridesmaid and groomsman. As the wedding was such a quiet one, there were no invited guests outside the immediate family, so very many of the friends and well-wishers of the popular bride assembled at the depot to congratulate her and bid

The beautiful new memorial window, manufactured in London, Eng., arrived safely and was placed during the past week in the chancel of St. John's church. It represents the adoration of the risen Saviour by His disciples upon earth, and bears the words: "Allelulia! Allelulia! He is not here. for He is risen as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay." At the bottom of the window is the inscription: "To the glory of God and in loving memory of John Storrs, rural dean, and for 38 years rector of Cornwallis and Horton, who died 1881; also of Melanie, his wife, who died 1877. Dedicated by their children." A memorial service was held Sunday afternoon, when the rector, Rev, Canon Brock, D. D., gave a very interesting address in reference to the window. Unfortunately the weather was so wet and disagreeable as to prevent many of the friends of the late Mr. Storrs from Kentville and Cornwallis getting here.

Aug. 19.—It has not been my happy privilege to record a marriage for several weeks, and I was almost in despair that Amherst would lose its reputation as a marriageable town when, io, a happy event took place in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening at half past eight, which has restored my confidence. The principals were Miss Fannie Black and Mr. Doull, Rev. Mr. Strothard officiating. Only the immediate friends of the happy pair, which included the bride's Sunday school class, were admitted to the church. Mr. and Mrs. Doull drove immediately to their own home, a pretty cottage on Girard Avenue. The air is full of rumors of other marriages to take place before Jack Frost makes his appearance, and among them it is said is a widower from the neighboring republic,

WINDSOR, N. S.

Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Fenety of Linden hall, Fredericton, Miss Fenety, Mr. W. T. H. Fenety, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Carter of St. John spent a few days with Prof. Roberts this week. Dr. Hammond, who has just taken his degree of Ph.D. at Leipsic, Germany, is the guest of Prof. Roberts. Mr. Hammond was a professor in Kings college, Windsor, a few years ago.

Mrs. Wm. O'Brien is staying at the Dufferin hotel, St. John. Mrs. Aubrey Blanchard has gone to Halifax.

The presbyterian Sunday school picnic yesterday was patronized by those of ripe years as well as the children. Five cars full went to Birch cove. Many of the people who had no children to look after went into Halifax and enjoyed the gardens and other lions. The residents of Halifax have now left the gardens pretty much to the individual sway of the nursemaid and baby carriage. Since the tennis courts have been removed, the gardens have ceased to be fashionable. I verily believe that if it became the fashion to break stones at Rockhead, there would the crowd rush, the privileged ones bearing hammers of cunning work manship, and those per hammers of cunning workmanship, and those not fashionable enough to take an active hand in the fashionable enough to take an active hand in the work, looking on in envy. When I become a leader of fashion, I am going to introduce something of the sort, and see if everyone won't want to do it.

Mrs. H. W. Dimock went to Clementsport vesterday to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Withycombe.

Mr. Davison, of the Dominion Cotton Co., is spending a few days in Halifax.

Mrs. and Miss Young, wife and daughter of the American Consul, Dr. É. Young, were in town last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitcaithly, of Halifax, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell on Sunday.

Next week the grounds of the Athletic Club, Windsor, will be the scene of an entirely novel performance for Windsor. The team of lady—save the mark !- baseball players who are making a tour of the provinces will play a team of Windsor young men. I can think of a few people in Windsor who will not contribute to the coffers of these enterprising young females by the sum of the entrance fee to the grounds. I think the prophesied time has come now for men to take a back seat and stay at home and see to household matters. What place have they in a baseball field when women have charge? Let all who may hanker for this reversing of time honored customs ponder the words of the bard of Avon: "A woman impudent and mannish grown, is not more loathed than an effeminate man in time of action."
