FREDERICTON.

[Progress is for sale in Fredericton at the book store of W. T. H. Fenby and by James H. Haw-thorne.]

JAN. 20.—The most interesting social event of the past week was the dance given by Mrs. G. Fred Fisher at her beautiful home on York street, in honor of their guest, Miss Rosa Dwyer, previous to her departure to her home in Georgia. When the guests arrived they were told that it was to be a leap year dance, which caused much merriment among the young ladies, especially at the sight of one or two of the gentlemen who came late, and were deemed to be "wall flowers" for part of the evening.

A most delicious supper was served at twelve o'clock. Each young lady escorted a gentleman to the supper room, and there waited on them. There were many laughs when one or two of the young ladies attempted to carve the turkey, and had to ask assistance of one or two of their gentlemen friends. The music by Miss Annie Barclay, the perfect. Refreshments were served throughout the evening. Among those invited were: Miss Chas. Beckwith, Miss Akley, Miss Rose Street, the Misses Babbitt, Miss Logan, the Misses Bailey, Miss Beckwith, Miss Sterling, Miss George, Miss Allen, Miss Burnside, the Misses Seely, Miss Glazier and Miss Ruel. Messrs. Bliss, Bristow, Berton, Glazier, Winslow, Schofield, Bailey, Aitken, Mitchell, C. Hall (St. John), Stead, McCullough, Yonston, Ruel, Walker, Thorne, Fisher and Dr. Bridges (Oranston). Some very pretty dresses were worn. Mrs. Fisher received her guests in a handsome black silk, trimmed with white fur. Miss Fisher wore a dress of pale blue heretica cloth and silk.

Miss Minna Fisher, lavender silk.

Miss Dwyer, pale mauve erge de chine.

Mrs. Chas. Beckwith, red tulle with ribbon trimmings.

Miss Glazier, black silk and pink.

Miss Street, cream erge de chine.

Miss Bailey, black velvet skirt with lavender silk waist, low in back, hand bouquet of white carnations tied with lavender ribbon.

Miss Laurette Bailey, cream chalice skirt, buttoned yellow silk waist.

Miss Seely, black and white plaid silk.

Miss Mona Seely, blue and brown plaid silk, trimmed with lace.

Miss Babbitt, pale blue waist, black skirt.

Miss Bessie Babbitt, white silk, bouquet of deep red roses.

Miss Sterling, chalice skirt, apple green silk waist.

Jones, Mr. McMurray, Mr. Simpson, Mr. W. Graham, Mr. P. Curry, Mr. S. Reid.

This morning the marriage took place in Christ church of Mr. E. Norman Dimock and Miss Evangeline Locke. There were very few present partly owing to the weather and the early hour perhaps, but principally to the excellent work in which the immediate friends of the bride and groom managed to come just when the wedding was to be. Many people knew it was to be "sometime soon," but very few knew just when. After the ceremony the happy couple left by the morning train for Yarmouth to take the steamer for Boston. On their return they will reside in the house on Park street which many people have been thinking was for a different couple altogether.

Mr. Rufus Curry and Mr. J. W. Curry are visiting Montreal and Upper Canada.

Dr. Allen Haley is visiting New York.

January is so called from Janus, a Roman deity supposed to be the gate-keeper of Heaven. He was always figured with two faces, one looking back and the other forward. One face is old and wrinkled, emblematic of time past, the other round and smooth, the type of time present and future. The German-speaking countries formerly called January Lauw-maand or "Frosty month," the old Saxons called it Wullmonath, because wolves were very troublesome at that time on account of scarcity of food. With the introduction of christianity into Britain came a change of the name of January, which for 300 hundred years thereafter was called "Elter Youla, meaning "after Christmas." With the opening of the tenth century the Saxon name for January was again changed, the new name being Fornmonath or "first month." In the French republican calendar it was called Nivose.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives good bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, M.D. SAVAGE, MD.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PIERRE MOSHER, 30 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

HALIFAX NOTES.

JAN. 21.—The last Orpheus concert was a disappointment. The "Tannhauser March" is always beautiful, and was fairly played; but the orchestra is young and must be hardly judged. The song from Lucretia Borgia, too much cannot be said. The latter is not a woman's song, but Miss Homer has shown us that a woman can sing it. The next number is best passed in silence. Mr. Huelsi's "Garden of Sleep" wanted cultivation, and the accompaniment was hard and wooden enough to ruin the effect of a very sweet voice. The orchestra, which must be pardoned on that account, was not so much as the latter.

The cradle song was mildly pretty, but better sung than any other chorus, deserving its encore. Miss Homer's third song was not effective. Coldly sung, it was coldly received; and it was not especially well chosen. The last number on the programme was weak and not too successful.

Halifax people must blame themselves for the falling off in the standard of music sung by the club. Mr. Porter gave us good things which we never appreciated; now he gives us chiefly trash which we encore. But the musically fastidious are sad.
