The entertainments given by the Dorcus club on Thursday evening last, in the city hall was a great success. The object was a good one, so the people turned out in full force and the hall was filled. The programme was a very good and lengthy one as most all of our West End talent took part. The band rendered several selections during the evening. The following ladies and gentlemen assisted: The Misses Beatteay, Smith, Robertson, Wells, Estey, Wilmot, Tippetts, Hatfield, Sinclair, Mullin, Colwell, Mrs. Belyea and Mrs. Peters, Messrs. The entertainment given in the St. Luke's Sunday school-room was of a most novel character and proved a decided success. The "National flag drill," under the leadership of two such popular and able lieutenants as Miss Cassie Tapley and Miss Carrie Holly, could not but be a success. Never did they, at the head of their battalions, lead their armies to a more decisive victory than that which they acquired last evening. The different nations were represented as follows: England, Miss Foster Scotland, Miss P. Tapley; Ireland, Miss F. Smith; France, Miss M. Shaw; Germany, Miss J. Hilyard; Austria, Miss Betts; Italy, Miss LeMont; U. S. Navy, Miss McKeil; U. S. Army, Miss B. Dale; Spain, Miss M. Nase. The young ladies of St. Dale; Spain, Miss M. Nase. The young ladies of St. Lukes feel themselves under deep obligations to Mr. H. Cooper for the indefatigable zeal which he displayed in commanding the drill, and to Mr. Kilpatrick for the kind way way in which he strove to leave nothing undone. The "Chronothanstoletron" (which means "jawbreaker"), introduced for the first time in Canada, was a great success, and all the young ladies who took part did themselves great credit. WOODSTOCK.

[Progress is for sale in Woodstock at Everett's Bookstore. 1 APRIL 20 .- On Easter Monday took place the principal social event of the season, the grand ball of the Woodstock Hose company and the wide, smooth floor of the Opera house was the delight of a hundred dancing couples. A large number of invitations had been issued, so the afternoon trains brought scores of visitors from neighboring towns. Under the direction of Chief Dibblee the hideous walls and unsightly posts of the old rink were hidden by the bright bunting, flags and evergreens, and even the screaming announcements on the beams overhead, of pianos, watches and drain pipes for sale, were smothered in a profusion of flags and bunting that formed a low canopy sparkling with electric lights overhead of the dancers.

If our great and only Opera House may not be beautiful and may excite a smile from the occasional dramatic company that plays there, whenever sional dramatic company that plays there, whenever it is not being used as a skating rink, and if, indeed, it be true that the decoration of such an interior is beset with difficulties that are scarcely to be found anywhere else, then it is not too much to say that no small part of the credit for the suc-cess of the firemen's ball was due to the complete transformation that was effected.

In one corner, next the stage, buried in evergreens and roses stood an ancient hand fire engine from which was led a twisted line of hose from post to post around the entire room to another relic of other days an old hose-cart. The Houlton band occupied the stage and at a quarter past nine to the strains of a grand march the ball was opened by the ex-mayor and Mrs. Dibblee, tollowed by sixty couples, marching slowly down the wide steps from the stage, under the arch of ladders and lanterns, and as the fire-bells rang out the alarm the column moved across the broad floor to the farther end, where alternate couples wheeled in wide circles to the right and to the left, thus begining a series of symmetrical manuevers that was extremely pleasing to look upon and that ended with the intricate maze of the spiral wheel the figure which is the opening exercise of the great gymnazium, but is quite new to us here. As the dancers stood, at its termination, ranged in one great circle around the room, the first number upon the programme was executed—the Sicilian circle. There were eighteen numbers, and at the half-way point an excellent supper was served at the Exchange hotel. The faultless dress coat of the society folk found a rival in the handsome dress uniform of our firemen, and from the spectators point of view there was lent for that reason, much of the charm of the military ball. Among the gentlemen no one

W. Lorimer and W. Magee. Dancing which was kept up till a late hour was the chief amusement of the evening, though a few preferred a quiet game of the evening, though a few preferred a quiet game of cards. A delicious supper was served at half past eleven, with such a host and hostess it is needless to say that all enjoyed a delightful evening.

Mrs. W. B. Morris is home from St. John.

Masters Percy and Ewen Forster are at home for their Easter holidays.

Mr. Vernon Ciark is at home The entertainment given by the Musical society on Monday evening was pronounced by all who heard it to be a great success. A selection by the orchestra opened the programme. Next came a solo by Miss Gertie Stickney, with a chorus by solo by Miss Gertie Stickney, with a chorus by other members of the society. The six tableaux that followed were very pretty, but hardly enough time was given to see them in. Mrs. Wm. Bustin's solo, "The Ferryman," was very sweetly sung, as was also "Love's Old Sweet Song," by Miss Marian Morris. Mr. W. B. Morris sang a comic song in his amusing style and was repeatedly encored. "Cinderella," the chief feature of the evening, then came on. All of the characters were well sustained, Cinderella's part was done to perfection by Mrs. Walter Magee, and the acting of fection by Mrs. Walter Magee, and the acting of Mrs. H. Lamb and Miss Carmichael as the sister was excellent. Great credit is due to Miss T. R. Wren as stage manageress, and Mr. Harold Stickey, musical director. The music in All Saints church on Easter Sunday was unusually good, the anthem in the morning was "Christ, Our Passover," and in the evening, "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead," having in it solos by Miss Algar and Mr. Morris, and a duet by Miss Algar and Miss Magee. The church was prettily decorated with flowers.

[PROGRESS is for sale at Parrsboro Bookstore.] APRIL 20 .- A concert was given here last evening by amateurs from Springhill together with the Springhill band. The special train bringing them and a large number of other people from Spring-hill arrived about eight o'clock. The Parrsboro band met them at the station and the throng following the two bands from the station to the Rink hill made quite a stir. Rev. F. Du Vernet, of Toronto, has been spending a day or two at the rectory. He assisted in the services on Easter day. St. George's church was prettily decorated with plants and moss. Mr. Aubrey Upham's cornet made a good addition to the music. On Saturday evening Mrs. Gibbons was presented by some of the members of the congregation with a handsome chair and a large easel as a token of their appreciation of her services Mrs. A. E. McLeod and Miss Hattie Eaton went to Amherst on Saturday to visit friends.

KENTVILLE.

APRIL 20 .- St. James's church was very prettily decorated for the Easter festival, potted plants predominating, with calla lillies in abundance. These with the usual white hangings and Easter mottoes gave a most pleasing effect. The nave itself was decorated much more than usual, many of the garlands made of the green vines which where used at X mas being again employed.

Miss Seely, of St. John, who is attending the Church school at Windsor, spent Easter with Mrs. Wm. Harris. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Stewart on account of the death of their only son, little Herman Douglas, who died last Wednesday after an illness of only a few hours. The interment took place on Good Friday, Rev. Canon Brock officients
